The charity is managed and operated by volunteers. All the trustees are (or have been) patients in the South Kesteven area and have read and understood Guidance Note CC3A 'Charity trustee: what's involved'. None receive any remuneration, payment or benefit from the charity. The trustees receive requests to purchase medical equipment from medical practitioners in the South Kesteven area. They consider each request on its merits, considering the basic proposition in light of the objectives of the trust and its impact on patients. They are mindful of the equipment's affordability and the trust's financial resources. The trust has no overheads. The trust does not borrow money nor does it enter into any credit agreement. The major risk to the charity is its continuing ability to raise funds. It mitigates this risk by ensuring it has sufficient funds prior to committing to purchase any equipment.

The trust raises monies and purchases medical equipment to be used for the benefit of patients in the South Kesteven area. The trustees continually review the usage of equipment.

The trustees have had regard for the guidance note from the Charity Commission and confirm that the charity's activities are in their opinion for the public benefit.

Summary of the main achievements of the charity during the year

The year ending 31 December 2022 saw a resumption of our fundraising activities, notably from our Grand Draw which raised over £4,000, a record!

We were fortunate to benefit from many generous donations and bequests. We acquired and provided the following items of medical equipment:

- Opticlar VisionMax Loupes & Light headband
- Microlife Home Blood Pressure monitors (60)
- 3 Section plinth (2)
- Dosette robot and Mini de-blisterer
- Adult and child pulse oximeters (12)
- Anapulse 300 Handheld Pulse Oximeter (2)
- Cardioscan 24hr Holter Digital ECG Recorder & Software (2)

The microscopic ear cleaning service was formally launched in May 2022 and provides a 'dry' ear cleaning service using the microscope. This 'dry' service is a safer and more convenient alternative to the traditional irrigation cleaning which had been suspended due to the risk of water born infection.

The Home blood pressure monitors continue to be used extensively in treating and diagnosing hypertension. In 2018, we purchased 176 Home monitors and 6 Office monitors. An additional 60 Home monitors were purchased in February 2022. During 2022, these monitors identified a further 5 patients with previously undiagnosed atrial fibrillation making a total of 102 patients (identified since 2018) now being treated who have a significantly reduced risk of an ischaemic stroke.

The emergency equipment (specifically the LifePak), purchased in 2019 with support from the Margaret Brown Trust, continues to be used in the South Kesteven area, reducing potential hospital admissions by providing high-level ECG reports. We have also supplied and equipped two emergency trolleys. Whilst GP surgeries are not an emergency service they are often viewed by patients as a place of safety. The challenge of access to secondary care has led to patients who traditionally may have sought help in A&E attending the surgery. Delays in ambulance wait times have meant that poorly patients may have to stay at the surgery for longer whilst they wait for an ambulance. This means that ensuring a reasonable supply of emergency equipment, especially paediatric equipment, has become a priority.
