Institute of Community Safety

Report of the Trustees for the year ended 31 December 2022

The trustees who are also directors of the charity for the purposes of the Companies Act 2006, present their report with the financial statements of the charity for the year ended 31 December 2022. The trustees have adopted the provisions of Accounting and Reporting by Charities: Statement of Recommended Practice applicable to charities preparing their accounts in accordance with the Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (FRS 102) (effective 1 January 2019).

OBJECTIVES AND ACTIVITIES

Objectives and aims.

The objects of the Charity are as follows:

To promote for the public benefit the protection of people and property by the promotion of community safety in the United Kingdom and elsewhere through strategic and social crime prevention methods. The Charity promotes good practice within criminal justice systems to reduce crime and disorder, victimisation and the fear of crime.

How our activities deliver Public Benefit:

We promote good practice and advance the education of the public in all aspects of strategic and social crime prevention through our network, publications, website, and regional seminars. training courses and consultancy.

Significant activities

2022 saw no significant change in the remit of the ICS, which came formally into being following the Extraordinary General Meeting in June 2015.

The development aspirations of the organisation took a severe impact due to the Covid-19 pandemic, and the resultant knock-on impacts for our principal service sector (local government) of service restrictions, severely restricted our ability to deliver on our traditional face-to-face training and conferencing aims for 2021 and this continued in 2022.

Whilst outlets for our services were severely restricted, we re-focused our efforts in response to the pandemic's impacts with these main objectives for the year:

- Consolidate the new ICS website
- Develop the training programmes offered by the ICS
- Ensure continued academic accreditation of the existing and new training programmes on offer within the new format
- Developing other partnerships
- Manage a European ERASMUS+ funded project, the contract for which ICS successfully bid for
- Source other funding sources

ACHIEVEMENT AND PERFORMANCE

Having maintained the internet Domain (at the personal expense of the Chair) the remaining Board members have continued to contribute to the website, incorporating relevant news in the community safety field, and detailing the training offer provided by the organisation.

The Chair and Vice Chair completed successful discussions with EduQual during the year and through a successful centre renewal the ICS was able to maintain the offer of academically accredited training in the areas of Basic Crime Prevention & Problem Solving, Crime Prevention Through Environmental Design and Counter-Terrorism & Security. Completion of all three courses result in a Diploma in Crime Prevention & Counter Terrorism via EduQual and the Scottish Certification Authority.

We continued to run the following project which maintained our income:

- LeaderSEEDS an ERASMUS+ project aimed at developing a digital leadership development programme addressed to chief executives and senior managers of Third Sector Organisations enhancing their capacity by developing digital learning tools. Aligning with ICS objectives in the areas of young people's development and diversion from crime, the objective of the programme is to enable the target group to access a new training model designed to provide them with the knowledge and skills to develop professional leadership and digital transformation competences. These in turn support entrepreneurship and business development skills that they can turn to their benefit and the benefit of the economy.

FINANCIAL REVIEW

The income from the commissioned projects ensured the ICS had working capital to continue the organisation and further 'consultancy' style projects will be sought for the future as a new funding stream. Our current balance also includes committed income owed to co-partners on the LEADERSeeds project which will be paid to them on successful completion of milestones.

The ban on board expenses for attending board meetings was maintained throughout the 2022 year. Contributions from Trustees for services have also helped in reducing outgoings.

In 2020 the ICS sought a more beneficial business banking service provider and approached Metro Bank to open a business account in order to reduce ongoing banking charges. The ICS Board took the decision to move the remaining funds of the organisation into a holding account pending the opening of the new business account. That holding account was that of a company held by the Chair and Vice-Chair, Blue Hero Services Ltd. The ICS funds were held for a longer period than intended due to an inordinate delay in opening the new business account, making some transactions from the holding account necessary.

That account is now closed and all the ICS funds are now held in the new ICS dedicated business bank account at Metro Bank and all transactions fully accounted for in the accounts.

STRUCTURE, GOVERNANCE AND MANAGEMENT

Governing document

The charity is controlled by its governing document, a deed of trust, and constitutes a limited company, limited by guarantee, as defined by the Companies Act 2006

Recruitment and appointment of new trustees

A maximum of eighteen persons may act as Trustees, of whom twelve may be elected at the AGM and up to six (of whom three must be members of the charity) may be co-opted. The Trustees of the charity are also directors of the company.

When recruiting new members to the board, existing trustees must be clear in their own minds about ICS's purpose and aims. They also need to understand their broader duties and responsibilities as trustees, to ensure both that they are acting in the best interests of the ICS, and that they are able to explain to new trustees what is required of them.

Trustees need to ensure that they, rather than staff, retain overall responsibility and control of the trustee recruitment, selection, and induction process. Existing trustees have a clear role to play in overseeing the effective management of an open and efficient process. This applies whether trustees themselves select new colleagues, or whether other arrangements apply (for example, election or nomination by a membership).

An assessment of the skills present, or "skills audit", of the existing trustees is a best practice way to identify gaps. This assessment should include consideration of what skills are required by the board to perform effectively, and whether there are any gaps and knowledge that is not currently available in the existing board to ensure that the ICS can perform at its highest level.

ICS realise that recruitment difficulties could be reduced by a combination of better assessment and audit of skills needs, coupled with more open and inclusive methods of search, including advertising and networking. However, the hiatus in operations created by the pandemic and consequent ongoing impact recovering from the pandemic has made attracting new Trustees extremely difficult.

Trustees must ensure that they are aware of the legal rules on eligibility to serve as a trustee, bearing in mind that it is a criminal offence to serve as a trustee if disqualified from doing so.

The Charity Commission believe that diversity is an important factor for accountability and public confidence and they urge charities to seek greater diversity across their trustee boards.

The Charity Commission welcomes the growing emphasis of some charities on diversity in recruitment of trustees and urges this as a further reason for charities to seek to rely less on traditional methods of recruitment and more on methods which are inclusive and transparent.

ICS have in place arrangements for identifying and managing conflicts of interest and ensure that their trustees are aware of these arrangements.

It is good practice to ensure that potential new trustees consider the question of possible conflicts of interest before there is commitment on either side. This is particularly important where personal interests may be significant enough to make it difficult for the individual concerned to make a full and rounded contribution to the board's discussions and decisions.

Documents to be sent to prospective trustees:

- Roles and responsibilities of a trustee
- Memorandum and Articles of Association
- Person specification
- Declaration of service

Organisational structure

The Board of Directors are those members who are responsible for the general control and management of the administration of the Company. The day to day running of the Charity is now also the responsibility of the Board as the organisation's financial situation makes the employment of staff impossible.

Notes to the Accounts for the year ended 31 December 2022

1 Accounting policies

Basis of preparation

The accounts have been prepared under the historical cost convention and in accordance with FRS 102, The Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (as applied to small entities by section 1A of the standard).

Intangible fixed assets

Intangible fixed assets are measured at cost less accumulative amortisation and any accumulative impairment losses.

Tangible fixed assets

Tangible fixed assets are measured at cost less accumulative depreciation and any accumulative impairment losses. Depreciation is provided on all tangible fixed assets, other than freehold land, at rates calculated to write off the cost, less estimated residual value, of each asset evenly over its expected useful life, as follows:

Plant and machinery	over 4 years
Fixtures, fittings, tools and equipment	over 4 years

Debtors

Short term debtors are measured at transaction price (which is usually the invoice price), less any impairment losses for bad and doubtful debts. Loans and other financial assets are initially recognised at transaction price including any transaction costs and subsequently measured at amortised cost determined using the effective interest method, less any impairment losses for bad and doubtful debts.

Creditors

Short term creditors are measured at transaction price (which is usually the invoice price). Loans and other financial liabilities are initially recognised at transaction price net of any transaction costs and subsequently measured at amortised cost determined using the effective interest method.

I have completed my examination. I confirm that no material matters have come to my attention in connection with the examination (other than that disclosed below *) which gives me cause to believe that in, any material respect:

- the accounting records were not kept in accordance with section 130
of the Charities Act; or
- the accounts did not accord with the accounting records; or
- the accounts did not comply with the applicable requirements
concerning the form and content of accounts set out in the Charities (Accounts and Reports) Regulations 2008 other than any requirement that the accounts give a 'true and fair' view which is not a matter considered as part of an independent examination.

I have no concerns and have come across no other matters in connection with the examination to which attention should be drawn in this report in order to enable a proper understanding of the accounts to be reached.
