For The Year Ended 31 March 2023

The trustees who are also directors of the charity for the purposes of the Companies Act 2006, present their report with the financial statements of the charity for the year ended 31 March 2023. The trustees have adopted the provisions of Accounting and Reporting by Charities: Statement of Recommended Practice applicable to charities preparing their accounts in accordance with the Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (FRS 102) (effective 1 January 2019).

OBJECTIVES AND ACTIVITIES

Objectives and aims

The purpose of the charitable company is the selection, acquisition and documentation of the moving image culture and history of the East and West Midlands for public benefit and education.

Throughout 2022/23, MACE delivered its role as strategic lead organisation for screen heritage in the East and West Midlands regions. Key objectives achieved in the year include: selecting and preparing hundreds of items digitised from at-risk videotapes to be made publicly available at libraries across the UK as a result of the British Film Institute-led 'Heritage 22' screen heritage partnership project; working in partnership to deliver screen heritage activities to communities across the Midlands, notably through a number of regionally-based events of national significance including the Birmingham Commonwealth Games, the Unboxed festival, the Queen's Jubilee and Coventry City of Culture year; and securing funding from the BFI's new Screen Heritage Resilience programme to support the archive to build plans to achieve greater sustainability during the period 2023-2026.

Public benefit

In shaping our objectives for the year and planning our activities, the Trustees have considered the Charity Commissions guidance on public benefit, in particular, the Trustees consider how specific projects will contribute to their objectives.

The Archive contributes to the public benefit by creating, maintaining and making available a collection of moving image materials (film, tape and digital) to further understanding of the culture and heritage of the East and West Midlands. The collection is publicly available but is particularly used in educational contexts.

Strategic Aims

- Deliver strategic leadership for screen heritage across the Midlands' regions.
Sustain and develop a unique, significant and representative regional screen heritage collection.
- Drive and enhance access to reach existing, new and diverse audiences.
- Celebrate and promote diversity across our work and collections.

ACHIEVEMENT AND PERFORMANCE

Charitable activities

Introduction

The archive performed strongly during 2022/23, exceeding its targets for collecting, preservation and access activity. The upward trend in audience engagement online was maintained and the archive supported more than 100 audience-facing activities across the Midlands' regions. Activities included collaborations with partners celebrating major national events taking place in our region and a range of community and educational projects throughout the East and West Midlands.

With the continued support of our partners, the archive successfully delivered its role as the strategic lead organisation for screen heritage in the Midlands. We are hugely thankful to the university, to the British Film Institute and to our funders, partners and donors for their highly valued support throughout the year. Looking ahead the archive is focused on building its sustainability as it moves into a period of transition when its agreement with the University of Lincoln ceases in 2024. Accordingly, MACE secured funding from the BFI in the final quarter of 2022/23 to undertake resilience activities including a programme of fundraising, a major collections review and options appraisal to safeguard collections.

Collection matters

During 2022/23, monitoring of conditions in the storage vault showed that the facility continued to perform well. Collecting activities remained strong with 2522 items collected and the core collection occupying approximately 85% of the available space.

A major focus during the year was the selection and preparation of items digitally preserved from at-risk videotapes for inclusion on the publicly accessible BFI Replay platform in libraries across the UK as part of the BFI's Heritage 22 project. By 2023, some 600+ items from MACE will be included in the initiative. MACE's own programme of preservation across the year also resulted in 1500 items and 178 hours of content digitised and digitally preserved. This work continued to benefit from the increased digital capacity and improved infrastructure implemented in the 2020/21 period as a result of support from NLHF.

The agreement with ITV for the arrangements relating to the collections of regional independent television held at MACE continues.

Accessibility

Virtual

There are now 68,705 titles included in the online catalogue, of which 8,250+ have an accompanying film extract and are available to view freely online. 955 new catalogue entries were produced during the period. In addition, there are over 100 films or compilations from the collection available to view on MACE's Vimeo channel.

In terms of public engagement with MACE's collections online, there was a continued upward trend: engagement via the website grew by approx. 5% and was approximately 30% higher than pre-pandemic levels.

In addition to 8,250+ film extracts available on MACE's website, the archive continues to supply 650+ free to view titles on the BFI's VoD BFI Player and it also added 200+ titles to the new BFI Replay platform hosted by UK public libraries across the country.

MACE typically delivers screen heritage outreach, access and screening activities, collaborating with other heritage, film cultural and creative industries sector partners in the Midlands and beyond. The mix of in-venue and online activity continued throughout 2022/23 and MACE supported over 100 activities across both Midlands regions by the end of year.

Education

The archive continued to support student and research engagement at its host university during the year, with the Director convening archive internship modules and supporting other teaching with the collections.

The archive contributes to educational activities aimed at the wider film, cultural and heritage sectors. In 2022/23, the Director acted as Chair of Film Archives UK, the network for public film archives in UK. MACE collaborated with IntoFilm to support film-based workshops for school children related to the Birmingham Commonwealth Games. Additionally, MACE supports educational opportunities through volunteering and for people across the region and UK. MACE is a partner of the Midlands4Cities AHRC consortium and, separately, co-supervised a Collaborative Doctoral Award candidate with University of Warwick.

FINANCIAL REVIEW

Financial position

Part of MACE's annual income is derived from grant funding and a baseline level of funding awarded by the British Film Institute, which is subject to annual review, has been awarded for the period 2023-2026. The BFI is MACE's primary funder and lead body for film. As previously reported, the BFI, from whom MACE has received regular grant funding as one of their partnership bodies, was cut in the spending review of November 2015. As a result, BFI discontinued the distribution of grant-in-aid to its partnership organisations, transferring a standstill sum into a Lottery Regional Archives Investment Fund award for which MACE made a successful bid. During 2016/17, the BFI announced a continuation of this fund alongside the launch of its five-year 2022 Strategy covering the period 2017-2022. MACE was awarded funding in 2017/18 for the period 2017-2020. During 2019/20, BFI introduced changes with respect to the financial support it provides to regional public film archives in England and it discontinued the RAIF award in March 2020. For the period 2020-2023, MACE was awarded funding from the BFI's competitive Audience Fund programme. To cover the period from 2023-2026, MACE has been awarded funding through BFI's new Screen Heritage Resilience programme.

Other grant income is less predictable and annual income fluctuates according to the varying availability of traditional sources of project-based funding and the levels of funding grants awarded. During 2023-2026, MACE plans to apply for funding from the BFI's new Screen Heritage Project fund on an annual basis. This additional funding for 2023-2024 has already been secured.

MACE continued to receive significant support from the University of Lincoln with donations received again during the current year. However, the agreement with the University of Lincoln will cease in 2024. As a result, MACE received support from BFI through its Resilience fund (as above) focused on building the sustainability of the archive including undertaking an options appraisal to explore future partnerships and the relocation of the archive in 2024. MACE has also secured additional funding from the National Lottery Heritage Fund to support the archive through this transitional period until March 2025.

Income generation continues to assume a significant role in the strategy for the long-term sustainability of the archive. At the year end, income generation totalled £455,411 (2022: £408,060). A balanced budget has been prepared for 2023/24.

FINANCIAL REVIEW

Reserves policy

It is the policy of MACE to maintain unrestricted funds, which are the unrestricted general reserves of the Charity. The reserves will be reviewed annually. The charity will endeavour to maintain reserves at a level that would enable it to fulfil contractual and statutory obligations, carry out its mission to safeguard collections, mitigate shortfalls in income and meet unforeseen costs. The level of free reserves as at 31 March 2023 amount to £280,471 (2022: £190,004) which is considered adequate to cover the above requirements.

Going concern

At a minimum, the Board of Trustees review the financial position of the company quarterly and on an annual basis. As above, MACE's agreement with the University of Lincoln will cease in 2024. As a result, MACE has secured funding from the NLHF and BFI to support its relocation and operations and to build its sustainability during a transitional period until March 2025 and 2026 respectively. Part of MACE's annual income is derived from grant funding awarded by the British Film Institute. The nature of this funding stream changed in 2023 as BFI introduced its new 10-year strategy. MACE secured an increased level of funding for the period 2023-2026. It additionally secured project funding from BFI and resilience funding from NLHF in 2023. MACE also continues to generate income from sales and licensing. While the latter does fluctuate, regular financial checks mean that levels of expenditure would be reduced to enable MACE to continue to operate were the level of income to fall significantly. MACE is not aware of any material uncertainties that may cast significant doubt about the ability of the company to continue as a going concern.

For The Year Ended 31 March 2023

1. ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Basis of preparing the financial statements

The financial statements of the charitable company, which is a public benefit entity under FRS 102, have been prepared in accordance with the Charities SORP (FRS 102) 'Accounting and Reporting by Charities: Statement of Recommended Practice applicable to charities preparing their accounts in accordance with the Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (FRS 102) (effective 1 January 2019)', Financial Reporting Standard 102 'The Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland' and the Companies Act 2006. The financial statements have been prepared under the historical cost convention.

Income

Income:

All income is recognised in the Statement of Financial Activities once the charity has entitlement to the funds, it is probable that the income will be received and the amount can be measured reliably.

Grants:

Income from grants, is recognised when the charity has entitlement to the funds, any performance conditions attached to the grants have been met, it is probable that the income will be received and the amount can be measured reliably and is not deferred.

Donated services and facilities:

Donated professional services and donated facilities are recognised as income when the charity has control over the item, any conditions associated with the donated item have been met, the receipt of economic benefit from the use by the charity of the item is probable and that economic benefit can be measured reliably.

On receipt, donated professional services and donated facilities are recognised on the basis of the value of the gift to the charity which is the amount the charity would have been willing to pay to obtain services or facilities of equivalent economic benefit on the open market; a corresponding amount is then recognised in expenditure in the period of receipt.

Volunteers:

We benefit from time given by a number of volunteers across the different services that we offer. In accordance with the Charities SORP (FRS 102) as we are able to value the use of volunteers the time offered by volunteers is recognised within the financial statements.

Expenditure

Liabilities are recognised as expenditure as soon as there is a legal or constructive obligation committing the charity to that expenditure, it is probable that a transfer of economic benefits will be required in settlement and the amount of the obligation can be measured reliably. Expenditure is accounted for on an accruals basis and has been classified under headings that aggregate all cost related to the category. Where costs cannot be directly attributed to particular headings they have been allocated to activities on a basis consistent with the use of resources.

Tangible fixed assets

Depreciation is provided at the following annual rates in order to write off each asset over its estimated useful life.
