Additional governance issues (Optional information)

You may choose to include additional information, where relevant, about:

- policies and procedures adopted for the induction and training of trustees;
- the charity's organisational structure and any wider network with which the charity works;
- relationship with any related parties;
- trustees' consideration of major risks and the system and procedures to manage them.

The trustees time is given on a purely voluntary basis and they have received no money for their time.

Section C Objectives and activities

Summary of the objects of the charity set out in its governing document

The promotion and delivery of community classes, courses and workshops across Greater Manchester using qualified teachers, coaches and instructors of Weihai Lishi Quanfa. Seeking grants and funds to supplement donations received from participants in order to provide a safe, quality learning environment for effective practice.

Summary of the main activities undertaken for the public benefit in relation to these objects (include within this section the statutory declaration that trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit)

Manchester Taoist Centre trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit when devising all activities. In line with the objective of the charity, Manchester Taoist Centre has promoted and delivered community classes, workshops and classes where the traditional Chinese performing arts of Lishi were taught for public benefit.

This year has been a very successful year. More so than the charity was hoping for.

Recruitment has been higher than expected, and retention has improved markedly.

A small number of new classes have been opened, with two new instructors being active for the first time.

Online classes have continued to be popular, and have been established as a robust alternative to normal delivery.

Manchester Taoist Centre has continued to seek grants and funds to supplement donations received from participants in order to provide a safe and quality learning environment for effective practice.

Manchester Taoist Centre has continued to invest in, develop, and improve strategies for attracting interest and participation in classes and courses run by the charity, using social media, email and banners outside venues.

Manchester Taoist Centre is extremely grateful to the volunteers who give their time and expertise free of charge.

Additional details of objectives and activities (Optional information)

You may choose to include further statements, where relevant, about:

- policy on grantmaking;
- policy programme related investment;
- contribution made by volunteers.

Summary of the main achievements of the charity during the year

Manchester Taoist Centre has gratefully received donations from the public.

New venues were added to the existing offer.

New relationships with new venues were established.

Marketing activities were improved and increased to help grow classes, courses and workshops, and to establish new classes.

Successes have been shared on social media and via email to raise the profile of the charity and to encourage people to the classes.

Online classes continued to be popular for beneficiaries, and some even preferred this way of training and learning to live classes.

This year has seen an increase in the scale and volume of activities, and an increase in participant numbers, and the charity hopes to continue this progress in the coming year..

Manchester Taoist Centre does not charge a membership fee. We do not want to exclude people from joining classes and benefiting from its activities. Manchester Taoist Centre encourages those people who can afford to make donations depending on the value they place on the work of the charity. In this way, we raised funds through the classes, workshops and courses run by Manchester Taoist Centre. The charity is grateful for the support of all its donors, and will also seek alternative funding streams from grant awarding bodies. All volunteers give their time for free and do not gain financially from the work they do.

Section E

Respective responsibilities of trustees and examiner

The charity's trustees are responsible for the preparation of the accounts. The charity's trustees consider that an audit is not required for this year under section 144 of the Charities Act 2011 (the Charities Act) and that an independent examination is needed.

It is my responsibility to:

- examine the accounts under section 145 of the Charities Act,
- to follow the procedures laid down in the general Directions given by the Charity Commission (under section 145(5)(b) of the Charities Act, and
- to state whether particular matters have come to my attention.

Basis of independent
examiner's statement

My examination was carried out in accordance with general Directions given by the Charity Commission. An examination includes a review of the accounting records kept by the charity and a comparison of the accounts presented with those records. It also includes consideration of any unusual items or disclosures in the accounts, and seeking explanations from the trustees concerning any such matters. The procedures undertaken do not provide all the evidence that would be required in an audit, and consequently no opinion is given as to whether the accounts present a 'true and fair' view and the report is limited to those matters set out in the statement below.

Independent
examiner's statement

In connection with my examination, no matter has come to my attention

1. which gives me reasonable cause to believe that in, any material respect, the requirements:

- to keep accounting records in accordance with section 130 of the Charities Act; and
- to prepare accounts which accord with the accounting records and comply with the accounting requirements of the Charities Act have not been met; or

2. to which, in my opinion, attention should be drawn in order to enable a proper understanding of the accounts to be reached.
