Structure, Governance and Maintenance

Constituted as a CIO set up in 2021 and managed by trustees listed above who are all volunteers.

Objectives and Activities.

CIO constitution objectives are:

- To improve animal welfare for the public benefit by providing free education on issues relating to resistance bacteria, hand hygiene and infection control
- To advance education for veterinary practices in good hygiene for the public benefits
- The charity is totally reliant on volunteers with no paid staff.

Achievement and performance

A new board has been appointed to facilitate and develop free education for vets and pet owners, such as leaflets in vet waiting rooms and digital campaigns on safe use of antibiotic and infection control. All education is related to antimicrobial resistance and the prevention of the spread of diseases between humans and animals.

Incoming And outgoing resources.

Incoming and outgoing resources from 1st May 2024 – 30th April 2025

- Owing to the low level of donations the charity received income of £2,725.00
- Expenditure totalled £2,10.00
- Mainly on website management and hosting leaving a balance of £715.27

Reserves

The charity does not believe it necessary to maintain anything apart from a small team of volunteers and currently there are no long-term projects that can't be funded by targeted sponsorship. All future projects will be underpinned by grant and sponsorship support.

Risks

Cash flow is always a risk as the charity relies on support from sponsors and receives little in donations.

Public Benefit

The trustees consider the activities listed comply with the charity commissions guidance on providing public health.

Plans for the future

The educational material for vets and the public are being developed to be more user friendly and up to date with research. In line with the charity new branding. We will continue to work with collaborators such as Royal College of Veterinary surgeons who recommend our resources to vets, and federation of European vets who share our information globally. The new education material allows veterinary professionals to improve hygiene in practice and helps public understand about antimicrobial resistance and preventing the spread of diseases between humans and animals. These leaflets and online materials will be promoted to our target audiences on a regular basis, and our volunteers will respond to inquiries through our website.

The annual report was approved by the trustees on 28th February 2026 and is signed on behalf
