SOUTH WEST COMMUNITY CHAPLAINCY LIMITED

TRUSTEES' REPORT FOR THE YEAR ENDED 31 MARCH 2021

The Trustees present their report and the financial statements of the Charity for year ended 31 March 2021.

Principal Objects of the Charity

The Charity's principal objects are:

For the benefit of the public to promote the rehabilitation and resettlement of, and to relieve financial hardship, distress, suffering and sickness amongst, offenders, persons subject to community orders, and their families and dependents, either alone or in co-operation with any other body, authority or persons, in particular but not exclusively by the provision of support, information, advocacy and pastoral care.

Administration of Charity

The Charity is administered and managed by a board of Trustees.

Regulation of Charity

The Charity is regulated by a constitution dated 25th February 2009.

Trustees' Responsibilities

Charity law requires the Trustees to prepare financial statements for each financial year which give a true and fair view of the state of the affairs of the Charity and of its financial activities for that year. In preparing these the Trustees are required to:

- select suitable accounting policies and apply them consistently;
- make judgements and estimates that are reasonable and prudent;
- state whether applicable accounting standards and statements of recommended practice have been followed, subject to any departures disclosed in the financial statements
- prepare the financial statements on the going concern basis unless it is inappropriate to presume that the charity will continue in operation.

The Trustees are responsible for keeping proper accounting records which disclose with reasonable accuracy at any time the financial position of the Charity and to enable them to ensure that the financial statements comply with the Charities Act 1993. They are also responsible for safeguarding the assets of the Charity and hence for taking reasonable steps for the prevention and detection of fraud and other irregularities.

Review of the Year

Client Work

During the year to 31st March 2021, SWCC supported 141 people who had received a custodial or community sentence.

Of the new clients referred to us during the year (i.e., those not reported on in previous years), we have been able to track 42 over a period greater than 6 months after leaving custody and of these, 35 are known to have not re-offended or returned to custody. We worked with a further 30 who continued to engage well (and not reoffend) but had not yet been out of prison for as long as 6 months by the year end.

Overall, over 82% of clients have made significant and identifiable progress at some level. The outcomes we have seen demonstrate remarkable resilience on the part of many clients during this past twelve-month period, given the increased challenges and difficulties that Covid-19 has presented, especially the isolation and lack of meaningful activity opportunities.

Of course, the year will be remembered as one in which we all entered into uncharted territory, and like all charities we had to quickly adapt to the restrictions introduced to combat the pandemic. Maintaining contact with clients continued to be difficult throughout, but we feel that we have been able to achieve an appropriate mix of face-to-face, virtual and telephone interaction, looking at the needs and circumstances of each client on a case-by-case basis, carefully and dynamically assessing the risks, and responding accordingly.

Access to prisons stopped completely in March 2020 and with a few exceptions we have not been able to visit throughout the whole of the year, although we were able to start working more closely with HMP Leyhill (Cat D) in Gloucestershire, and have worked with more people being released from there. Most new referrals however, have come via the National Probation Service, which has compensated for the lower rate of referrals from prisons. In general, we have been working with individuals for longer and the overall rate of engagement has increased. Although it has been more difficult to connect people into social networks or volunteering placements through lockdown, the impact we have measured paints a very positive picture.

People

In August we were delighted to welcome Alli to the staff team as Supporter and Volunteer Co-ordinator (S&VC), a new post we have aspired to for some time. This appointment gives us the ability to support and care for our volunteers more effectively, especially considering the increased isolation that many of our volunteers have faced. Due to the life changes, health challenges and other pressures that the pandemic has brought, a number of our volunteers understandably came to a decision to stand down from mentoring, which brought about a reduction in our volunteer team by about a third. However, thanks to generous support from funders we were able to make immense strides in developing and improving our training provision in three areas. Our core induction training has been adapted to be delivered online. Since last Autumn we have been able to recruit, train and induct 10 new volunteers and this is an ongoing piece of work.

Secondly, in response to emerging need we have developed a series of short evening interactive seminars, to be rolled out throughout 2021, which will significantly extend our training provision, and also enable our volunteers to feel more connected. Furthermore, we are developing in partnership with the Community Chaplaincy Association, an additional specialist training programme about working with people with sexual offending convictions. Once fully trialled and tested, this will be available to member Community Chaplaincy projects across the country.

Statutory Partnerships

The Extended Community Mentoring (ECM) scheme that we provide for the National Probation Service is now well embedded, and has proved to be a very fruitful partnership. At the time of writing, the mechanisms for commissioning are changing substantially, with the reunification of the Probation Service. In anticipation of this, we applied and were successful in registering on the Ministry of Justice's Dynamic Framework, in readiness. The new commissioning model will undoubtedly take time to bed down and we wait to see how we fit into the new arrangements. In the meantime, ECM referrals continue to come thick and fast!

Also, we have been working with the Office of the Police and Crime Commissioner, to develop a proposal for a prototype project, working with referrals from the Police Public Protection Unit (PPU), for offenders not subject to statutory supervision by the Probation Service. We hope that it might be possible to formalise arrangements within the next few months.

Conclusion

Overall, given the unforeseen difficulties that the last twelve months or so has presented, we feel very grateful that the charity has been able to continue its work, and support many more individuals to work through the challenges of making a fresh start after a custodial or community sentence. Thanks to the wonderful grants we have received from a number of trusts, the income we have received from the NPS Extended Community Mentoring scheme, and donations from individuals and faith communities, we are grateful to have been able to balance the books for the financial year with a comfortable margin, as revealed in these accounts. Our sincere thanks to all who have contributed to provide a sound financial foundation, and to all who have given of their time to mentor clients, or to help in other ways. We are immensely grateful.

Independent examiner's report to the Trustees of South West Community Chaplaincy Limited

I report on the accounts of the company for the year ended 31 March 2021, which are set out on pages 1 to 10.

Respective responsibilities of trustees and examiner.

The trustees (who are also the directors of the company for the purposes of company law) are responsible for the preparation of the accounts. The trustees consider that an audit is not required for this year under section 144 of the Charities Act 2011 (the 2011 Act) and that an independent examination is needed. Having satisfied myself that the charity is not subject to audit under company law and is eligible for independent examination, it is my responsibility to:

- examine the accounts under section 145 of the 2011 Act;
- to follow the procedures laid down in the general Directions given by the Charity Commission under section 145(5)(b) of the 2011 Act; and
- to state whether particular matters have come to my attention.

Basis of independent examiner's report

My examination was carried out in accordance with the general Directions given by the Charity Commission. An examination includes a review of the accounting records kept by the charity and a comparison of the accounts presented with those records. It also includes consideration of any unusual items or disclosures in the accounts, and seeking explanations from you as trustees concerning any such matters. The procedures undertaken do not provide all the evidence that would be required in an audit and consequently no opinion is given as to whether the accounts present a 'true and fair view' and the report is limited to those matters set out in the statement below.

Independent examiner's statement

In connection with my examination, no matter has come to my attention:

- 1) which gives me reasonable cause to believe that in any material respect the requirements:
 - to keep accounting records in accordance with section 386 of the Companies Act 2006; and
 - to prepare accounts which accord with the accounting records, comply with the accounting requirements of section 396 of the Companies Act 2006 and with the methods and principles of the Statement of Recommended Practice: Accounting and Reporting by Charities have not been met; or
- 2) to which, in my opinion, attention should be drawn in order to enable a proper understanding of the accounts to be reached.
