Summary of the main achievements of the charity during the year

We have a total of 5 regular volunteers and 3 who can join us sometimes.

As always painting has been a major part of the volunteers' workload. In April scaffold was erected round the funnel, which was then given 5 coats of paint. This took much longer than anticipated, due to unsettled weather and rain.

We were able to completely paint the hull; the first time it has been painted for several years. A difficult task which can only be carried out at low water. We were pleased with the condition of the hull; we did not have to make any temporary

A monthly task for the volunteers has been to manually turn the main engine over. However, since 2020 we have been unable to do so. To find out whether this is an issue aft of the coupling on the shaft or lies with the main engine, the volunteers have separated the two parts of the coupling to enable us to see where the problem lies. The volunteers are to be lauded for their tenacity and care to carry this out with no damage to the coupling bolts. Fortunately the main engine is able to turn freely when disconnected from the shaft. Our small team of volunteers have all got a deep commitment to the tug and the Trust.

Open Days and Events

We had 10 open days scheduled for 2024. As always attendance at them was dependent on weather conditions; our greatest number being 349 visitors on the August Last Sunday of the Month open day.

Nearly £1,500.00 was raised from these events.

As part of our plans for the Heritage Open Days and celebrating the 80th anniversary of D-Day, we made a Normandy Landings exhibition in the aft cabin. Over September 14th and 15th six talks were given to a maximum of six people in a group, followed by a guided tour of Brent. This was very well supported.

We ran two quizzes, in February and October, raising an astounding £1012.00 and £1084.00.

This summer we decided we would hold our afternoon event, centred on well-being, for the volunteers, offering an opportunity to sit on Brent and enjoy tea and cake in peaceful surroundings. This was held on the afternoon of the Maldon Regatta. Conditions were ideal; a warm breeze and sunny. We ran a children's day and had the Brent open to the public in the morning. At 2.00pm we closed to the public. Volunteers and Friends came on board, from 2.30 to 5.00pm, enabling them to see the sailing vessels taking part in the regatta coming up the river.

Project NM-23-00885

The Steering Group has been working full out with much to report on our work in conjunction with the lottery grant.

We are looking at the three aspects of the project.

Restoration of the Brent to working order.

The provision of a lighter barge to give community and exhibition space.

The construction of a purpose built jetty with access to the navigable channel.

For buildings, renovation can follow 50 years of neglect; but not so for a vessel. The future of our vessel, as with many others, is insecure and one of our tasks is to look at the ways and means of securing a long term future. We have made visits to other projects, with similar constraints to see how they function so we may find ways to map out our plans for Brent. One interesting visit was to the David Parr house in Cambridge. The house is small and because of the precious and unique nature of the interior, only six visitors are allowed inside at any one time. Thus there is a similarity to the Brent whereby we are limited to six visitors to the engine room. The David Parr house have found a solution with the purchase of the next door property. This provides space for visitor activities, functions and a shop. It works very successfully and for us we hope that the provision of a lighter barge would serve the same purpose.

We looked at other stand-alone maritime projects and found few examples which were able to function as self-funded.

Only larger passenger carrying vessels were able to break even. Steam Tug Mayflower is the smallest of the tugs in preservation, at 63ft length. She is fortunate to be part of the Bristol MShed collection supported by Bristol City Council.

The next smallest are the TID Tugs. Maximum number of passengers could not be more than 12. None of the smaller tugs can pay their way through use as a passenger vessel with this small number of passengers.

It is hoped that activities on the lighter will fund the upkeep of the tug. The Canal and River Trust have a non-engined Barge, Sabrina 5, based at Gloucester Docks, used for fundraising activities as well as providing a hub for the Community. Take the Current are looking into this aspect of the project.

Plans for the Jetty are slowly moving forward. The Memorandum of understanding has been verbally agreed with the council; we are just waiting for their signature.

Following the end of the Resilience project in January 2026, we will be preparing a bid for further funding which we hope will be for Brent's full restoration. This is dependent on the findings of the Feasibility Study being undertaken by our Consultants, Take the Current.

Meetings and Liaison with others

We continue our close involvement with the Maldon and Heybridge Heritage Harbour Association and attend the monthly committee meetings. The committee members work together for the promotion of our heritage. It is of great value to be part of this organisation, which is hoping soon to be granted CIO status.

Similarly to be part of the Maldon Heritage Group allows us to work together with a wider group of heritage sites, including museums and historic buildings under Trust ownership. With these two groups we are working to be part of Maldon History week, VE day celebrations, Ufest, Heritage Open Days and Maldon Regatta
Maritime Heritage Trust.

Publicity

We were approached by a journalist and writer, Nicola Lisle who wrote an article for Towpath Talk as well as the Vintage Spirit. Although I have seen the articles, I haven't yet purchased the magazines.

As always a popular subject for photographers, on 5th March Brent featured on the Anglia weather forecast programme.

Conclusion

2024 was a good year for Brent, for which we have to thank the Trustees, our Project Co-ordinator and the Volunteers, without whom we could not progress.

The project is growing and the workload is steadily increasing year by year. In 2025 we will be seeking more people to join our team.

The project team are working full out as are the volunteers, who always end the year with work left to do. That said, all our team are extremely supportive and work beyond the call of duty to ensure that the Brent is well maintained and her future rosy
