The Naya Qadam Trust

Structure, Governance and Management

Governing Document

The Naya Qadam Trust is constituted as an incorporated charity registered with the charity commission in September 2011 under charity number 1143900. It is governed by a memorandum last updated in 2013.

Organisational Structure

The charity trustees are responsible for the management and decision making of the charity. The time of the trustees is given freely, they receive no remuneration or other financial benefits.

Due to the scale of the charity, no sub-committees are required by the charity, day-to-day management of the charity is handled by the founder and the trustees.

Recruitment and Appointment of trustees

No additional trustees have been appointed since the founding of the charity. In the event of appointment of new trustees, this would be determined by the existing trustees of the charity.

Trustee recruitment would be dependant of increased demand, in which case potential trustees would be selected from those who have extensively volunteered in our work and show an interest in our charitable aims on a longer-term scale. They would be given the opportunity to observe meetings of other trustees and then apply if willing, to ensure compatibility and competence in the role.

Induction and Training of Trustees

Newly appointed trustees are given a copy of the amended 2011 Charities Act and the memorandum governing The Naya Qadam Trust, to ensure they are educated in the responsibilities and expectations of the role. They are then given increased responsibility in the planning of Limb Fitting Camps and the communication with groups involved in the country the camp is hosted, they are expected to present their work to the other trustees once this has been completed.

Objectives and Aims

Our Aims

The aims of the charity are as follows:

- The production of low-cost prostheses provided to patient free of charge and created using sustainable local materials.
- The training of orthopaedic skills to healthcare workers in the areas visited and the prosthesis production methods to trainee technicians in the community.
- Provisions of clean water and other healthcare essentials to remote communities otherwise unable to access them, including natural disaster relief.

Our Objectives

With guidance from the charity commission regarding public benefit, the Naya Qadam trust aims to improve the lives of those with disabilities in the countries in which the trust operates by providing them with vital prostheses to support their daily lives, free of charge.

The charity also holds the long-term objective of reducing stigma surrounding disability in many communities in the countries in which the charity operates. This is done by participating in and organising events such as 'World Disability Day', empowering those with disabilities within these communities.

Strategies

To ensure the trust is correctly identifying areas where its services would be of beneficial use, before a limb fitting camp is set up in an area workers first go to the area conducting surveys in local healthcare centres and communities in the area to find patients who fall into the criteria for fitting a prostheses.

The trust will work in partnership with other charitable institutions in the local area to provide a location close to the prospective patients where limb fitting centres can be operated, in addition to having a mobile workshop to travel to patients in remote areas.

Young men and women in these areas will be given the opportunities to train in the limb producing process and are given a certificate after completing the course to ensure that limb production can continue, under supervision and correspondence of the charity, once the Naya Qadam Trust have left the area.

We also run water projects, where bore pumps and filtration facilities are installed in rural communities without access to clean water.

Use of volunteers

Volunteers and paid workers based in the UK who will be working with vulnerable people through our organisation are required to undergo a Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS) check, to inform our staffing decisions minimise risk of harm to any of our vulnerable service users.

Volunteers and paid workers based outside of the UK who work with vulnerable people through our organisation undergo the safeguarding processes respective to their country, via their country's embassy including obtaining criminal records and certificate of good character when necessary.

Volunteers within the organisation are educated about the responsibilities and expectations of any role they may undertake before they begin doing so and given equal treatment and acknowledgement to that of paid staff. Volunteers are also directly managed by the heads of the charity and able to raise concerns or queries to the heads of the organisation in the same capacity as paid workers, to ensure that all workers have security and understanding of their position within the organisation. Volunteers are also expected to adhere to all of the same conduct regulations as paid worker with the same procedures in place for both in cases of misconduct.

Financial Review

Principle Funding Sources

The charity is funded entirely by donation, in the financial year in question amounting to almost £50,000, with a significant portion being donated in response to the unexpected flooding occurring in Pakistan. These donations allowed us to make meaningful contributions to aid efforts, and will facilitate the continued expansion of Naya Qadam's worldwide efforts.

Investment Policy and Objectives

The charity has no long-term investments, the trusts money is stored in the charity's UK bank account.

Plans for future period

The trust has begun communicating with health officials in Zanzibar, as well as visiting local hospitals, to understand the scope of work that may be beneficial in this area, with hopes of starting up limb fitting camps and educational workshops in the country.

The trust also continues its work in Nepal, Bangladesh, and Pakistan, with continued prosthesis and trauma related healthcare projects, as well as expansion of new healthcare screening programs offered by Naya Qadam for young child living in Bangladesh, aiming to identify nascent healthcare needs before they develop into conditions with poor prognosis and severe sequelae.

Our advocacy work for women's rights and disability rights are also ongoing, with continued training and workshops being provided in women's universities, and training opportunities offered to women from rural areas.

Statement of Trustees Responsibility

The trustees of the charity bear the responsibility of producing an annual report and financial statement, this is to be done in accordance with United Kingdom Accounting Standards (United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice) and applicable law.

In England and Wales, the law applicable to charities require the trustees of a charity to prepare financial statements for each year. The financial statements given should give a fair and accurate view of the state of the charity including the incoming resources and the application of the resources by the charity for the public benefit.

In preparing the statement trustees are expected to:

- Select and consistently use suitable accounting policies;
- Observe the methods and principles in the Charities SORP;

- Make decisions and estimates that are reasonable;
- State whether applicable accounting standards have been followed, any material departures explained in the financial statement;
- Prepare the financial statements on the going concern basis unless inappropriate to assume that the charity will continue business.

The trustees are expected to keep accurate accounting records that disclose at any time the financial position of the charity and enable them to ensure that the statements comply with the charities Act and regulation and provisions of the memorandum. Trustees are also responsible with safeguarding the charity's assets, this involving reasonable efforts and plausible steps in fraud detection and prevention as well as protection against other financial irregularities.

The trustees for the purpose of charity law who served during the financial year up to the date of this report are set out on page one.
