Section C Objectives and activities

Summary of the objects of the charity set out in its governing document

CHW supports children and young people in developing parts of the world, through giving grants to partner organisations, which work with children and young people every day. Grants are given to projects which relieve financial hardship, advance education, relieve sickness and promote good health and offer recreational activities which develop the children's and young people's skills and capabilities.

Summary of the main activities undertaken for the public benefit in relation to these objects (include within this section the statutory declaration that trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit)

Throughout this year, CHW raised funds to be able to give grants to our partner organisations in Argentina, Ghana, China, Romania and South Africa.

This included funding for the provision of food, care, clothing, medical treatment and therapies, educational materials, shelter, skills development workshops, tuition fees, support for care and teaching staff, and other resources and equipment for projects concerning education, health and disabilities.

The needs at our partner organisations greatly increased during the pandemic, as the lockdowns around the world affected the economy, and the level of poverty rose. We have been able to respond, to continue to help the children and young people during these challenging times.

Some of our partner organisations are still running projects that were started during the pandemic, such as food relief programmes, as the levels of poverty remain high. Most have been able to reopen, following any new health and safety protocols, and we have been able to support their existing programmes again too.

Our partner organisations in Romania were affected by the crisis in Ukraine and some began to help refugee families (mostly children and their mothers). We were able to respond, to support the provision of food, shelter and other basic needs for refugee families.

The Trustees met every three months, via video conferencing, to review requests, updates and feedback from the recipient organisations and are satisfied that CHW's grants bring benefits to poor and vulnerable children and young people in developing parts of the world. The Trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission, including the guidance on public benefit; charities working internationally; safeguarding in international aid; and the Ukraine humanitarian crisis.

Additional details of objectives and activities (Optional information)

You may choose to include further statements, where relevant, about:

- policy on grantmaking;
- policy programme related investment;
- contribution made by volunteers.

Section E Financial review

Brief statement of the charity's policy on reserves

CHW aims to keep in reserve sufficient funding for the charity to continue running for at least six months, in the case of no further unrestricted income being received. This covers the monthly bank charge, as well as sufficient funding to pay the bank fees to transfer restricted funding to recipient projects.

Details of any funds materially in deficit

There are no funds materially in deficit.

Further financial review details (Optional information)

You may choose to include additional information, where relevant about:

- the charity's principal sources of funds (including any fundraising);
- how expenditure has supported the key objectives of the charity;
- investment policy and objectives including any ethical investment policy adopted.
