- trustees' consideration of major risks and the system and procedures to manage them.

The charity trustees are responsible for the general oversight, control and management of the charity.
The trustees give their time freely and receive no remuneration or other financial benefits for their services as trustees.
The trustees meet as a body on a quarterly basis and are responsible for all significant decisions taken in relation to running the charity.

Section C Objectives and activities

Summary of the objects of the charity set out in its governing document

In accordance with the constitution, the object of the CIM is, to advance education among the public in the subject of Islamic medical ethics in particular but not exclusively by working with healthcare professionals to assist them to identify and address the ethical needs of Muslim patients.

The charity operates in England and Wales.

Summary of the main activities undertaken for the public benefit in relation to these objects (include within this section the statutory declaration that trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit)

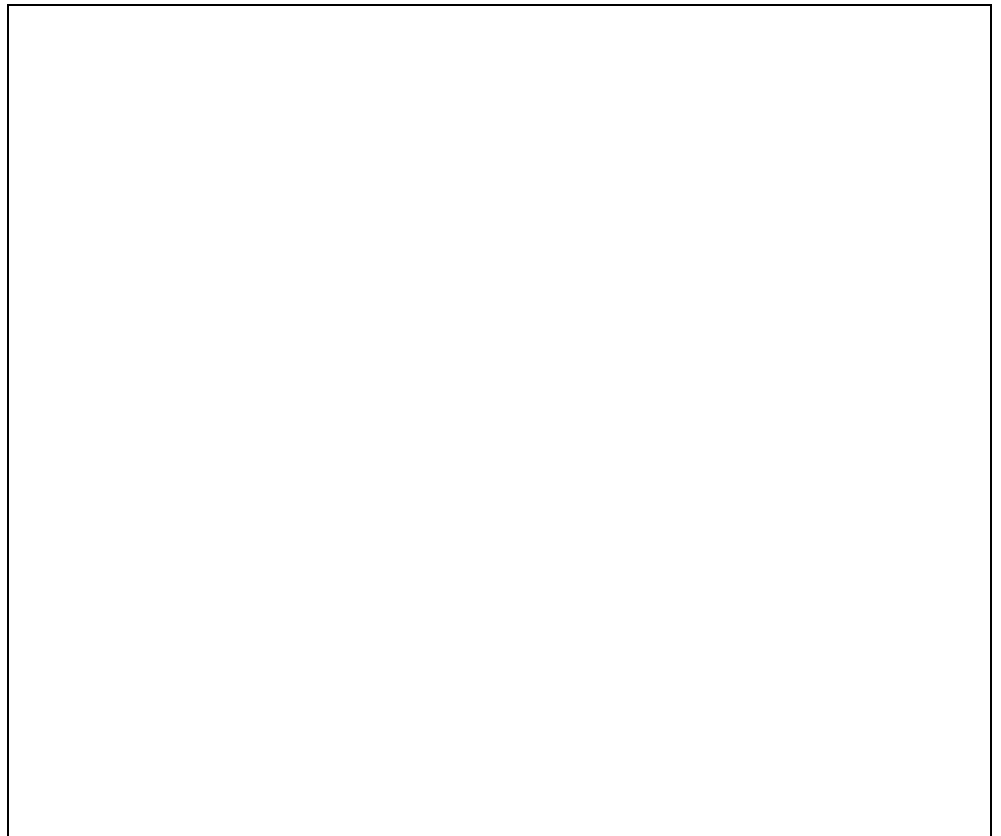

Over the course of 2024, the CIM continued its partnership with the Centre for the Study of Islam in the UK at Cardiff University on an innovative new research project into Islamic bioethics entitled “Understanding British Muslim Religious Professionals’ Perception of the Organ Donation Process”. The Centre is one of the leading academic institutions for research and teaching about Islam and Muslims in Britain.

We confirm the trustees have had regard to the Charity Commission’s guidance on public benefit.

Additional details of objectives and activities (Optional information)

You may choose to include further statements, where relevant, about:

- policy on grantmaking;
- policy programme related investment;
- contribution made by volunteers.

Section E

Financial review

Brief statement of the charity's policy on reserves

During the period, the charity did not have any unrestricted or designated funds. All funds were non-designated or general funds.

The charity aims to hold enough funds to meet three months' operating costs of the charity. This is monitored through a six-month cash flow forecast which is updated monthly. The cash flow forecast is prepared by the Treasurer and reviewed by the remaining trustees during the quarterly trustee board meetings.

Details of any funds materially in deficit

There are no funds in deficit.

Further financial review details (Optional information)

You may choose to include additional information, where relevant about:

- the charity's principal sources of funds (including any fundraising);
- how expenditure has supported the key objectives of the charity;
- investment policy and objectives including any ethical investment policy adopted.

The charity's principal source of funds is public donations.

The charity continues to review its current financial position and explore additional funding sources to allow it to continue the level of activity necessary to deliver its aims.

Section C Objectives and activities

Summary of the objects of the charity set out in its governing document

In accordance with the constitution, the object of the CIM is, to advance education among the public in the subject of Islamic medical ethics in particular but not exclusively by working with healthcare professionals to assist them to identify and address the ethical needs of Muslim patients.

The charity operates in England and Wales.

During 2021, CIM entered into a partnership with the Centre for the Study of Islam in the UK at Cardiff University to fund an innovative new research project into Islamic bioethics. The research project, entitled "Understanding British Muslim Religious Professionals' Perception of the Organ Donation Process", is due to be completed in June 2023. The Centre is one of the leading academic institutions for research and teaching about Islam and Muslims in Britain.

We confirm the trustees have had regard to the Charity Commission's guidance on public benefit.

Summary of the main activities undertaken for the public benefit in relation to these objects (include within this section the statutory declaration that trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit)

Additional details of objectives and activities (Optional information)

You may choose to include further statements, where relevant, about:

- policy on grantmaking;
- policy programme related investment;
- contribution made by volunteers.

Section D

Achievements and performance

Summary of the main achievements of the charity during the year

During 2021, CIM entered a partnership with the Centre for the Study of Islam in the UK at Cardiff University to fund an innovative new research project into Islamic bioethics. The project was initiated in 2022 and is due for completion in June 2023.

Section E

Financial review

Brief statement of the charity's policy on reserves

During the period, the charity did not have any unrestricted or designated funds. All funds were non-designated or general funds.

The charity aims to hold enough funds to meet three months' operating costs of the charity. This is monitored through a six-month cash flow forecast which is updated monthly. The cash flow forecast is prepared by the Treasurer and reviewed by the remaining trustees during the quarterly trustee board meetings.

Details of any funds materially in deficit

There are no funds in deficit.

Further financial review details (Optional information)

You may choose to include additional information, where relevant about:

- the charity's principal sources of funds (including any fundraising);
- how expenditure has supported the key objectives of the charity;
- investment policy and objectives including any ethical investment policy adopted.

The charity's principal source of funds is public donations.

The charity continues to review its current financial position and explore additional funding sources to allow it to continue the level of activity necessary to deliver its aims.
