Description of the charity's trusts

Type of governing document (eg. trust deed, constitution)	CIO – ASSOCIATION REGISTERED
How the charity is constituted (eg. trust, association, company)	CHARITABLE INCORPORATED ORGANISATION
Trustee selection methods (eg. appointed by, elected by)	APPOINTED BY EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

Additional governance issues (Optional information)

You may choose to include additional information, where relevant, about:

- policies and procedures adopted for the induction and training of trustees;
- the charity's organisational structure and any wider network with which the charity works;
- relationship with any related parties;
- trustees' consideration of major risks and the system and procedures to manage them.

The charity considers all risks on a project by project basis ensuring that all monies received are spent in the most compliant way possible with the charity's governing set of rules.

The charity is run by the executive committee where all trustees are key members of the charity raising funds and organising events of the charity. There is no wider organisation structure beyond the executive committee and there are no related parties or conflict of interests.

As part of the charities grant given scheme they maintain a wider network of unrelated charities in order to identify projects and schemes worthwhile of their donations.

The trustees are made aware on a regular basis of the major risks associated with the above and how to manage them.

Summary of the objects of the charity set out in its governing document

The RCRT Foundation (“RCRT”) was created in 2014 with the mission to select impactful and inspiring projects and to offer them to donors who value transparency and believe in our hands-on, asset-management-like approach.

The RCRT Foundation has been set up to help children both in the United Kingdom and overseas who have been disadvantaged in a number of ways. This includes not having correct and proper access to:

- Education and schooling
- Family Support
- Clean sanitation, medical facilities and healthy diet
- Sports and similar activities

The purpose of RCRT Foundation (RCRT) is deemed to be beneficial as via its grant giving and charitable activity it will ensure that those children who are most at need will have access to the same human rights, as well as health and educational conditions similar to those in wealthier countries and areas.

RCRT do not believe that the actions and purpose of the charity will cause harm or detriment to the public, and / or people of whom it has set out to benefit.

Summary of the main activities undertaken for the public benefit in relation to these objects (include within this section the statutory declaration that trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit)

RCRT will ensure that no trustee within the organisation will obtain a personal benefit from its activities. RCRT therefore wishes to directly effect, and have an impact on both children it will help directly via 3rd parties, but also the families and other peoples connected with the child.

RCRT hope that by creating a sustainable structure for benefiting children, i.e. those youngest and most susceptible to inequalities, it will create the foundations for a better society in the future. This will be the main drive of the educational element of RCRT.

Whilst this is the long term plan of the charity, the short and medium term ambition is to dramatically improve the lives of the people that they are working with. This is to be obtained by the family support, health and sporting elements of the charity’s aim.

Family support- this will help both children and parents be aware of the benefits that a close emotional and physical bond can create. By putting into place the structure this allows for growth and structure towards the longer term plan.

Health- access to all items noted before will enrich the children’s lives allowing for a more joyful and sustainable lifestyle in the future.

Sports and other activities- will bring the benefit and ethos of both team work, whilst furthering the benefit that has arisen from the health work.

Additional details of objectives and activities (Optional information)

You may choose to include further statements, where relevant, about:

- policy on grantmaking;
- policy programme related investment;
- contribution made by volunteers.

The RCRT Foundation, due to the business background of its executive committee take its policy on grant making and review of the grants as a high priority.

Grant making is only provided after an extensive Due Diligence process and the signing of an MOU (Memorandum of Understanding). This details the key criteria on which the funds are spent and how it is managed. Subsequent to this the charity and the executive committee maintain a strict reporting and achievable criteria in order to ensure that the project is running as planned.

Section D

Achievements and performance

Summary of the main achievements of the charity during the year

RCRT's achievements for the year were the completion of the Phase I of a partnership project with two UK-based charities: the Felix Project and Magic Breakfast.

The project is structured in two activities:

1. the distribution of food and breakfasts to disadvantaged children in two schools around London (where 10,000 meals were served)
2. training school and Magic Breakfast personnel on the ways of minimizing food waste (carried out by Felix Project).

Phase II has started around mid-year and is aimed at extending the reach of Phase I even further and reaching 2 additional schools.

RCRT has also supported, through a second grant a program sponsored by I TENNIS FOUNDATION, an Italian charity focused on providing young tennis talents the chance of training and competing at international level, in situations where the economic and/or geopolitical conditions of these boys and girls couldn't allow for that to happen. RCRT has sponsored 12 months of training and accommodation in Turin, Italy, of 4 Ukrainian girls (with their mothers), as they had been displaced by the Ukrainian war-related events.

Section E Financial review

Brief statement of the charity's policy on reserves

Reserves are maintained for the use of further grants and donations in the following financial year.

Details of any funds materially in deficit

No funds materially in deficit.

Further financial review details (Optional information)

You may choose to include additional information, where relevant about:

- the charity's principal sources of funds (including any fundraising);
- how expenditure has supported the key objectives of the charity;
- investment policy and objectives including any ethical investment policy adopted.

The charities principal sources of funds came from Trustee and corporate donations during the period. These donations supported the funds generated in the 2024 financial year.

The expenditure throughout the year supported the charitable causes of the entity but directly funding overseas projects as per its set of objectives and criteria.

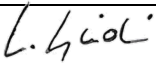

There are no investment policies and objectives, all of the money is expected to be spent on ongoing and new projects.

Section D

Achievements and performance

Summary of the main achievements of the charity during the year

ACHIEVEMENTS

2019 has been a year of net income as a result of ongoing support by the trustees and events. The Nottin Da donated a large £14,000 to the charity.

Due to the cyclical nature of the charity the trustees are looking to use the 2020 period as a time to grant the funds and reserves raised in the 2019 year.

The main projects that the charity has funded in the 2019 year are as follows.

Humanwire Butterfly Project:

RCRT is partnering with Salam LADC, to fund the education programme carried out at the Butterfly Effect Centre, with the objective of helping 300 children to catch up with the lost curriculum, to 'learn-to-learn' and - at the end of the year - to successfully enrol in the public education system.

United World Schools:

RCRT is partnering with UWS to fund the construction, the set-up and first year operations of each school. After Year One, each school will be partnered with more affluent schools around the world in order to provide continued financial sustainability.

SAMS:

RCRT is partnering with SAMS, to entirely fund the operations carried out at SAMS' paediatric facility in Idlib (for a 12-month period), where thousands of children and women are treated every year.

Wine to Water:

With the support of RCRT, a total of 11,641 individuals have had their lives transformed through the provision of water and improved sanitation & hygiene – this excellent result almost doubled the original objectives and has been achieved by targeting high impact locations such as schools and community gathering points.

In addition, RCRT funded the purchase of an air compressor in a view to enable the excavation of deeper and higher capacity wells through harder soil and rock. This long-term investment is expected to support a commercially sustainable well-drilling business, whose proceedings will be reinvested in further charity water projects.

Baan Dek:

RCRT Partner the Access2Education Project has provided after-school sessions and the Smile Holidays Program to give the kids the support they need to enrol in school and successfully integrate into the formal education system.

Dr. Q:

RCRT Partner Dr. Alfredo Quiñones-Hinojosa - the world-famous neurosurgeon from the John Hopkins University School of Medicine - leads a yearly mission trip to Mexico, where, together with his team, he performs critical neurosurgery procedures on children and adults in the province of Guadalajara.

Grassroots Soccer:

RCRT Partner the Grassroot Soccer (“GRS”) which is a charitable organization which uses the power of sport to educate and inspire young people to live healthy and productive lives. GRS trains local role models such as soccer players, teachers and community leaders to deliver an interactive AIDS prevention and life skills curriculum to at-risk youth.

Swinfen Charitable Trust:

RCRT provided funding to build a new clinic, inaugurated in 2013, giving access to healthcare facilities to few small villages in the Khalte region in Nepal, high in the Himalayan mountains, where local people are regularly subject to outbreaks of life-threatening diseases

Section E

Financial review

Brief statement of the charity's policy on reserves

Reserves are maintained for the use of further grants and donations in the following financial year.

Details of any funds materially in deficit

No funds materially in deficit.

Further financial review details (Optional information)

You may choose to include additional information, where relevant about:

- the charity's principal sources of funds (including any fundraising);
- how expenditure has supported the key objectives of the charity;
- investment policy and objectives including any ethical investment policy adopted.

The charities principal sources of funds came from Trustee and corporate donations during the period. These donations supported the funds generated in the current financial year.

The expenditure throughout the year supported the charitable causes of the entity but directly funding overseas projects as per its set of objectives and criteria.

There are no investment policies and objectives, all of the money is expected to be spent on ongoing and new projects.

I report to the trustees on my examination of the accounts of the above charity ("the Trust") for the year ended 31 / 12 / 2023.

Responsibilities and basis of report

As the charity's trustees, you are responsible for the preparation of the accounts in accordance with the requirements of the Charities Act 2011 ("the Act").

I report in respect of my examination of the Trust's accounts carried out under section 145 of the 2011 Act and in carrying out my examination, I have followed all the applicable Directions given by the Charity Commission under section 145(5)(b) of the Act.

Independent
examiner's statement

I have completed my examination. I confirm that no material matters have come to my attention in connection with the examination which gives me cause to believe that in, any material respect:

- the accounting records were not kept in accordance with section 130 of the Charities Act; or
- the accounts did not accord with the accounting records; or
- the accounts did not comply with the applicable requirements concerning the form and content of accounts set out in the Charities (Accounts and Reports) Regulations 2008 other than any requirement that the accounts give a 'true and fair' view which is not a matter considered as part of an independent examination.

I have no concerns and have come across no other matters in connection with the examination to which attention should be drawn in this report in order to enable a proper understanding of the accounts to be reached.

Section C Objectives and activities

Summary of the objects of the charity set out in its governing document

The RCRT Foundation (“RCRT”) was created in 2014 with the mission to select impactful and inspiring projects and to offer them to donors who value transparency and believe in our hands-on, asset-management-like approach.

Summary of the main activities undertaken for the public benefit in relation to these objects (include within this section the statutory declaration that trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit)

The RCRT Foundation has been set up to help children both in the United Kingdom and overseas who have been disadvantaged in a number of ways. This includes not having correct and proper access to:

- Education and schooling
- Family Support
- Clean sanitation, medical facilities and healthy diet
- Sports and similar activities

The purpose of RCRT Foundation (RCRT) is deemed to be beneficial as via its grant giving and charitable activity it will ensure that those children who are most at need will have access to the same human rights, as well as health and educational conditions similar to those in wealthier countries and areas.

RCRT do not believe that the actions and purpose of the charity will cause harm or detriment to the public, and / or people of whom it has set out to benefit.

RCRT will ensure that no trustee within the organisation will obtain a personal benefit from its activities. RCRT therefore wishes to directly effect, and have an impact on both children it will help directly via 3rd parties, but also the families and other peoples connected with the child.

RCRT hope that by creating a sustainable structure for benefiting children, i.e. those youngest and most susceptible to inequalities, it will create the foundations for a better society in the future. This will be the main drive of the educational element of RCRT.

Whilst this is the long term plan of the charity, the short and medium term ambition is to dramatically improve the lives of the people that they are working with. This is to be obtained by the family support, health and sporting elements of the charity's aim.

Family support- this will help both children and parents be aware of the benefits that a close emotional and physical bond can create. By putting into place the structure this allows for growth and structure towards the longer term plan.

Health- access to all items noted before will enrich the children's lives allowing for a more joyful and sustainable lifestyle in the future.

Sports and other activities- will bring the benefit and ethos of both team work, whilst furthering the benefit that has arisen from the health work.

You may choose to include further statements, where relevant, about:

- policy on grantmaking;
- policy programme related investment;
- contribution made by volunteers.

The RCRT Foundation, due to the business background of its executive committee take its policy on grant making and review of the grants as a high priority.

Grant making is only provided after an extensive Due Diligence process and the signing of an MOU (Memorandum of Understanding). This details the key criteria on which the funds are spent and how it is managed. Subsequent to this the charity and the executive committee maintain a strict reporting and achievables criteria in order to ensure that the project is running as planned.

Summary of the main achievements of the charity during the year

ACHIEVEMENTS

2020-21 ACHIEVEMENTS

RCRT has partnered in 2020-'21 with Hello World, funding computer hubs in Uganda so that children could have access to tools for learning and exploring the world's body of knowledge, right in the centre of their community.

Hello World ("HW") is a UK registered charity that provides educational resources and Internet connectivity to isolated and vulnerable communities. They do this by building solar-powered, outdoor Internet hubs, so that underprivileged children and adults can educate themselves, communicate with others, and have a voice in the global community.

The Hubs are loaded with educational software and games, and provide limitless access to information, play, storytelling, storage, communication and a chance for children to change their future.

The Program

Hello World mobilises communities to build Hello Hubs: solar-powered outdoor Internet kiosks, with state-of the art technology, designed by the ground-breaking engineers at Avenues World School in New York. Hello Hubs are designed to withstand extreme outdoor weather and are energy autonomous, which means that they can bring connectivity and education to even the most isolated communities.

RCRT funded the deployment of 16 Hello Hubs and each Hello World Hub has provided:

- Unlimited access to digital learning for up to 1,000 community members
- Touch-screen access: 8 Ipad portals per Hub
- 6 solar panels and 4 batteries – making a mini solar power station
- Educational tools, apps and programmes for children to learn
- Millions of websites: Users are provided access to vast resources available online, including vocational education and business-related best practices, ability to publicise products and/or services
- Teacher support tools - each Hub can provide learning materials for in-school learning and a digital classroom setting supporting around 10 teachers per Hub
- A Wi-Fi hub for the whole community which also acts as a device charging station - providing thousands of people with information, services and communication

Hello World has then gone through a community consultation to identify communities in which to work, and then ensure all relevant permissions are obtained. Hello World ensured the Hubs were provided with network coverage. Furthermore, HW's approach entailed that they didn't have to build Hello Hubs directly, so they taught communities how to build them for themselves.

In the process, children and adults have been trained in how to manage and maintain a computer system; adults were taught how to community-organise and ensure children's access is fair, equal and safe; teachers have also been trained in using the digital tools to support school learning - both at the Hub and in the classroom.

Hello World has then tried to also focus on data and impact measurement. So in 2019, when they realised that less women than men were using the Hello Hubs, they devised the 'Hub Mothers' Programme which RCRT launched and supported in 2020 as well. This has provided learning-only devices to 180 mothers in each Hub community from which they and their children could access education resources.

Since these women have, on average, five children per household, this has improved children's education access whilst also giving mothers a chance to access the One Billion educational software and further develop their own literacy and numeracy.

Hello World and RCRT have also launched a vocational skills training programme, at a few of the Hello Hubs that will be built, to equip girls with the skills to participate in the digital economy as well as starting their own businesses.

Program Outcomes

Hello World Hubs

- We were pleased to see that 47% of respondents reported learning a new skill at the Hub
- 90% of respondents said that their quality of life had improved as a result of the Hub
- Our program improved accessibility at the Hub by holding further community discussions and creating further training for members of the community who were not confident to use the Hub
- HW hired Community Support Officers at each Hub. They spend time every day directing children and adults to learning materials at the Hub
- HW also worked with ISP Roke Telkom to increase the internet speed at the Hubs to 10Mbps
- The program also improved accessibility at the Hub by holding further community discussions and creating further training for members of the community who were not confident to use the Hub.

2022 ACHIEVEMENTS

RCRT has partnered in 2022 with two UK-registered charities seeking to improve the provision of healthy food to young people with limited or no access to such nutrition.

Through this partnership, RCRT is supporting delivery of healthy meals to schoolchildren, plus a more ambitious technology effort to enable both charities to source and use data to create efficiencies in their strategic and operational structures.

The Context

According to The Food Foundation, approximately four million children were at risk of hunger in the UK in September 2022. This is a major concern for both the health and education of young people in this country, and the current cost-of-living pressures and high food and energy prices are exacerbating the challenges around food provision in the community.

An alarming number of children do not have access to healthy meals required for their physical growth and wellbeing. In addition to the physical implications, hunger has a direct impact on a child's ability to concentrate and absorb information in school, while also contributing to an increase in behavioural problems and higher school absence rates. Hunger negatively impacts the ability of any child to reach full potential, thus limiting their future prospects and ultimately providing a drag on the economy and overall living standards.

The benefits of regular meals for young people are compelling, and worth fighting for. Independent research carried out by the Institute for Fiscal Studies found that when Year 2 school pupils were provided a free and nutritious breakfast, their reading, writing and mathematics improved by an average of two months' progress per year, compared to pupils in schools with no such breakfast provision. Furthermore, a Leeds University study found that students who ate breakfast regularly achieved nearly two grades higher in their GCSEs versus than their peers.

Though the need for food support has risen exponentially, food waste continues to be a real issue. According to Waste and Resources Action Programme (WRAP), an estimated 9.5 million tonnes of food is wasted every year in the UK, as well as an estimated 3 million tonnes of food within farms. Meanwhile, 22% of the UK population are living in poverty, a whopping 14.5 million people. About 2.5 million of these people live in London.

The Program in Two Phases

The initial phase of the program entails RCRT providing direct funding to The Felix Project to rescue surplus food and distribute primary school meals to vulnerable children. Through RCRT's support, The Felix Project has added twelve new schools to its community partner network and has delivered 44,000 meals to hungry children in need of nutrition. It also entails RCRT providing direct funding to Magic Breakfast to kick off a data science project to implement needed adjustments to their programmes to address the changing environment (cost-of-living crisis, high food prices, and volatile funding environment) and the consequent increase of children in need.

Through RCRT's discussions with Magic Breakfast and The Felix Project, it became clear that a meaningful potential for synergies existed between the organizations. Both partners interact with London schools in efforts to secure healthy meals for malnourished children. However, each group uses technology and data differently. The second phase of the program seeks to build out the data and analytics capabilities of the two organizations, working in partnership, using data from community organizations rather than using their own metrics to estimate their impact.

RCRT believes that this collaborative work will enable both The Felix Project and Magic Breakfast to maximize the impact of services in terms of social impact and efficiency of logistical operations and to answer some of the key questions, including the following:

- 1) What extent of the food need by children is being met by Magic Breakfast and The Felix Project services?
- 2) What social and financial impact does the food provided by Magic Breakfast and The Felix Project have on users including schools, children and their families?
- 3) How can Magic Breakfast and The Felix Project develop more accurate food uptake predictions to reduce food waste?

RCRT believes that this second phase has the potential to unlock 'moon-shot' targets that may be difficult to quantify today, but could result in further benefits and, longer-term, possibly even contribute to improved government policy around how the UK manages food provision more broadly.

RCRT's support will contribute to achieving the collective goals:

A country where children do not go to school hungry.

A country where poverty and food insecurity are not determinants of a child's achievements in school or beyond.

Section E Financial review

Brief statement of the charity's policy on reserves

Reserves are maintained for the use of further grants and donations in the following financial year.

Details of any funds materially in deficit

No funds materially in deficit.

Further financial review details (Optional information)

You may choose to include additional information, where relevant about:

- the charity's principal sources of funds (including any fundraising);
- how expenditure has supported the key objectives of the charity;
- investment policy and objectives including any ethical investment policy adopted.

The charities principal sources of funds came from Trustee and private donations during the period. These donations supported the funds generated in the 2022 financial year.

The expenditure throughout the year supported the charitable causes of the entity but directly funding projects as per its set of objectives and criteria.

There are no investment policies and objectives, all of the money is expected to be spent on ongoing and new projects.

- relationship with any related parties;
- trustees' consideration of major risks and the system and procedures to manage them.

The charity considers all risks on a project-by-project basis ensuring that all monies received are spent in the most compliant way possible with the charity's governing set of rules.

The charity is run by the executive committee where all trustees are key members of the charity raising funds and organising events of the charity. There is no wider organisation structure beyond the executive committee and there are no related parties or conflict of interests.

As part of the charities grant given scheme they maintain a wider network of unrelated charities in order to identify projects and schemes worthwhile of their donations.

The trustees are made aware on a regular basis of the major risks associated with the above and how to manage them.

Section C Objectives and activities

Summary of the objects of the charity set out in its governing document

The RCRT Foundation ("RCRT") was created in 2014 with the mission to select impactful and inspiring projects and to offer them to donors who value transparency and believe in our hands-on, asset-management-like approach.

Summary of the main activities undertaken for the public benefit in relation to these objects (include within this section the statutory declaration that trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit)

The RCRT Foundation has been set up to help children both in the United Kingdom and overseas who have been disadvantaged in a number of ways. This includes not having correct and proper access to:

- Education and schooling
- Family Support
- Clean sanitation, medical facilities and healthy diet
- Sports and similar activities

The purpose of RCRT Foundation (RCRT) is deemed to be beneficial as via its grant giving and charitable activity it will ensure that those children who are most at need will have access to the same human rights, as well as health and educational conditions similar to those in wealthier countries and areas.

RCRT do not believe that the actions and purpose of the charity will cause harm or detriment to the public, and / or people of whom it has set out to benefit.

RCRT will ensure that no trustee within the organisation will obtain a personal benefit from its activities. RCRT therefore wishes to directly effect, and have an impact on both children it will help directly via 3rd parties, but also the families and other peoples connected with the child.

RCRT hope that by creating a sustainable structure for benefiting children, i.e. those youngest and most susceptible to inequalities, it will create the foundations for a better society in the future. This will be the main drive of the educational element of RCRT.

Whilst this is the long term plan of the charity, the short and medium term ambition is to dramatically improve the lives of the people that they are working with. This is to be obtained by the family support, health and sporting elements of the charity's aim.

Family support- this will help both children and parents be aware of the benefits that a close emotional and physical bond can create. By putting into place the structure this allows for growth and structure towards the longer term plan.

Health- access to all items noted before will enrich the children's lives allowing for a more joyful and sustainable lifestyle in the future.

Sports and other activities- will bring the benefit and ethos of both team work, whilst furthering the benefit that has arisen from the health work.

Summary of the main achievements of the charity during the year

ACHIEVEMENTS

Due to the cyclical nature of the charity the trustees have used the 2020-21 period as a time to consolidate the management and performance of the last project which has been supported, the Hello World Project.

Hello World:

RCRT has partnered in 2020-21 with Hello World (HW), which is a charitable organisation which works with marginalised communities to provide access to online learning in Uganda.

Hello World builds solar powered, internet enabled, education hubs in marginalised communities. Each hub provides unlimited free internet access for over 1,000 people through multiple terminals and WiFi, enabling out-of-school children to learn, connect and play. This innovative and highly scalable approach could be game changing, and its potential is yet to be fully sized.

RCRT has partnered with HW to fund and support the research needed to measure and document – to the best possible standards – the impact Hello Hubs are having in their communities. At the same time, on the practical side, this project has provided vocational skills for girls, various mentoring programs and ultimately build and activate up to 8 new hubs in rural Uganda.

Here are few highlights of the outcome of the activities which have been carried out by Hello World and RCRT in 2021:

- 47% of respondents reported learning a new skill at the Hub and 90% of respondents said that their quality of life had improved as a result of the Hub
- Children have shown a steady improvement in the level of literacy as a consequence of their increased access to educational software installed on tablets (onetabs), which have been distributed to the local communities
- 180 families now have onetabs in their homes in our Kampala communities. HW received such positive feedback from mothers about their children's learning that we have further scaled the project to new communities
- RCRT funded the increase of the Hub Heroes project, whereby mothers (the Hello Heroes) are provided the benefit, training and use of a tablet which they can bring home and use to provide education for their children and gain knowledge about skills for themselves
- Vocational Training for girls: HW piloted this training programme at our Busawula Hub, training 3 women who regularly attended the Hub to become trainers in a 'Women in Tech' Programme. We had a high attendance of 25 girls in our first cohort who learned transformative life skills as well as computer knowledge and entrepreneurship training
- Thanks to the success of this programme, we have since trained all of our community support officers in delivering this programme to girls at each Hub. We have refined the curriculum so that it is the most accessible to the communities that we work with, and empowered our community support officers to lead this training without our core team's presence.

Section D

Achievements and performance

Summary of the main achievements of the charity during the year

ACHIEVEMENTS

2019 has been a year of net income as a result of ongoing support by the trustees and events.

Due to the cyclical nature of the charity the trustees are looking to use the 2020 period as a time to grant the funds and reserves raised in the 2019 year.

The main projects that the charity has funded in the 2019 year are as follows.

United World Schools:

RCRT has partnered in 2019 with UWS to fund the construction, the set-up and first year operations of each school. After Year One, each school will be partnered with more affluent schools around the world in order to provide continued financial sustainability.

This project enabled the provision of primary education to children in three remote and marginalised communities (Khamare, Hedangnagadi and Tellok, all in the Sankhuwasabha District) in Eastern Nepal.

For the first time, the three primary schools that were built are allowing 100-200 children from each village to gain a basic education. More than 400 children aged 3-14 are already enrolled in grades 1-5; going forward, we expect enrolment to rise up to 900-1,000 children as we increase the number of grades to 5 years. Additionally, at least three adults (one from each community) have been trained as community teachers and are receiving a fair salary.

RCRT has partnered with UWS to fund the construction, the set-up and first year operations of each school. Now the schools are partnered with more affluent schools around the world in order to provide continued financial sustainability.

Hello World:

RCRT has partnered in 2020 with Hello World (HW), which is a charitable organisation which works with marginalised communities to provide access to online learning in Uganda.

Hello World builds solar powered, internet enabled, education hubs in marginalised communities. Each hub provides unlimited free internet access for over 1,000 people through multiple terminals and WiFi, enabling out-of-school children to learn, connect and play. This innovative and highly scalable approach could be game changing, and its potential is yet to be fully sized.

RCRT has partnered with HW to fund and support the research needed to measure and document - to the best possible standards - the impact Hello Hubs are having in their communities. At the same time, on the practical side, this project has provided vocational skills for girls, various mentoring programs and ultimately build and activate up to 8 new hubs in rural Uganda.

Section E

Financial review

Brief statement of the charity's policy on reserves

Reserves are maintained for the use of further grants and donations in the following financial year.

Details of any funds materially in deficit

No funds materially in deficit.

Further financial review details (Optional information)

You may choose to include additional information, where relevant about:

- the charity's principal sources of funds (including any fundraising);
- how expenditure has supported the key objectives of the charity;
- investment policy and objectives including any ethical investment policy adopted.

The charities principal sources of funds came from Trustee and corporate donations during the period. These donations supported the funds generated in the 2019 financial year.

The expenditure throughout the year supported the charitable causes of the entity but directly funding overseas projects as per its set of objectives and criteria.

There are no investment policies and objectives, all of the money is expected to be spent on ongoing and new projects.
