Intro

The Trustees have given due consideration to how PGL has met the charity legislation and requirements and are satisfied that the charity has complied with the obligations and responsibilities.

The report sets out the operations and achievements of the charity for the period under review.

Vision

Promoting Global Learning (PGL) is a registered charity with the vision of assisting to raise the standard of education in Africa, the Caribbean and the rest of the developing world. The founders of PGL believe that education will empower people to get good jobs and move into professions that will bring them out of poverty and enable them to lead more fulfilling lives.

Mission

The mission of PGL is to resource teaching and learning by providing, free of charge:

- Books (new and second-hand)
- Stationery and other learning equipment
- Support for sporting and extra-curricular activities
- Transfer of teaching skills and techniques
- Twinning of UK schools with counterparts in the developing world to enhance cultural awareness and for other mutual benefits

Our mission is placing increasing emphasis on literacy in basic education as the key foundation of learning and child development. The systemic and methodical application of synthetic phonics is now widely recognised as the most effective means of teaching reading and writing. PGL is devoting significant effort in the advocacy and implementation of the concept and related research.

PGL works in partnership with governments, non- governmental organisations, parents and other stakeholders in pursuing its aims and objectives. PGL participates in school assemblies and attends conferences and workshops to share good practice, review strategies and develop fresh perspectives. In helping to facilitate improvement in education, PGL engages with local communities to ensure ownership and effective involvement in our work.

PGL receives no government funding and relies solely on donations to carry out its programmes and operations. We undertake regular fundraising activities to meet the costs of collection, storage, freight and distribution of educational resources. Our funding arrangements also include support of effective teaching programmes and policies. We ensure transparency and accountability by publishing regular reports of our work and expenditure.

Structure, Governance and Management

A team of volunteers kindly support all aspects of the work and charitable objects.

Review of Activities and Achievements

There is ample evidence that the pandemic disproportionately hampered the education of deprived communities and lower income countries.

PGL has been engaged in researching the educational deficit and developing appropriate interventions, strategies and programmes. Partnerships have been formed with non-profits with online and computer resources, for example KGL Foundation, to facilitate distance and remote learning.

Reading clubs and sporting events were considered an effective means of gaining widespread commitment to our programmes following the resumption of in-person activity. In Ghana, PGL has actively engaged the education and sports ministries to recommence the national inter-school sports competitions.

Fundraising, recruitment of additional volunteers and advocacy have seen renewed endeavour in the period. Inroads were made into media promotion to gain further visibility of the charities objects.

Future Plans

Looking ahead, increasing attention will be accorded to the monitoring and evaluation of the charity's programmes. Universal Learning Solutions, KGL Foundation and the Oye Foundation have consented to be strategic partners in achieving this objective.

Production of television and radio programmes for children is to be worked on.

Plans are in development to support Barbados and Cameroun particularly in the escalation of the Jolly Phonics literacy programme. Ghana remains the prime focus of PLG activity.
