Section C Objectives and activities

Summary of the objects of the charity set out in its governing document

To advance education for the public benefit in ethnography in particular but not exclusively by:

- 1) organising an annual academic conference relating to ethnography in education;
- 2) supporting emerging ethnographic scholars and PhD students in developing their research methodologies and theories;
- 3) generating support networks and stimulate ethnographic research between academics working across relevant (social science and education) disciplines and areas of investigation.

Summary of the main activities undertaken for the public benefit in relation to these objects (include within this section the statutory declaration that trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit)

The Oxford Ethnography and Education Conference (OEEC) is held annually in September in Oxford, England over three days. The conference welcomes a wide range of experienced and inexperienced delegates from across the UK, the United States and North and South America, Europe and the Near and Far East including Australia.

The conference generates support networks and stimulates ethnographic research between academics working across relevant disciplines and areas of investigation.

In particular we encourage emerging scholars and PhD students to attend the conference and develop their knowledge of research methodologies and theories. Emerging scholars and PhD students report that they find the small and supportive nature of the conference useful in developing their own research ideas and practice.

By running the conference and supporting both emerging and experienced scholars the charity has advanced education for the public benefit. When organising the conference the trustees have taken you have taken the Charity Commission's public benefit guidance into account.

Additional details of objectives and activities (Optional information)

You may choose to include further statements, where relevant, about:

- policy on grantmaking;
- policy programme related investment;
- contribution made by volunteers.

The trustees have agreed to build up a research development fund of up to £12,000. This fund may be used to support research projects that may not otherwise be funded or to offer PhD students a reduced conference fee rate. This meets the objects of the charity by supporting ethnographic scholars and PhD students in developing their research methodologies and theories.

Summary of the main achievements of the charity during the year

- Ran an annual conference for 52 delegates working within the field of ethnography and education

Section E

Financial review

Brief statement of the charity's policy on reserves

OEEC continues to be dependent on delegates' registration as the main source of income to sustain our activities.

At the end of this financial year we were still awaiting a number of invoices relating to the 2022 conference totalling £1000-£1500.

To avoid closure if funding difficulties were to happen the trustees have agreed to keep up to £2,000 in reserves to ensure that main operations can continue for a period of 12 months in the event that unforeseen incidents occur, i.e. a drop in delegate registrations, additional trustee meetings if needed throughout the year, unexpected outgoings related to core activities.

Details of any funds materially in deficit

N/A

Further financial review details (Optional information)

You may choose to include additional information, where relevant about:

- the charity's principal sources of funds (including any fundraising);
- how expenditure has supported the key objectives of the charity;
- investment policy and objectives including any ethical investment policy adopted.

- The charity's principle source of funds comes from delegates registration fees to take part in the annual OEEC conference

Respective responsibilities of trustees and examiner

The charity's trustees are responsible for the preparation of the accounts. The charity's trustees consider that an audit is not required for this year under section 144 of the Charities Act 2011 (the Charities Act) and that an independent examination is needed.

It is my responsibility to:

- examine the accounts under section 145 of the Charities Act,
- to follow the procedures laid down in the general Directions given by the Charity Commission (under section 145(5)(b) of the Charities Act, and
- to state whether particular matters have come to my attention.

Basis of independent
examiner's statement

My examination was carried out in accordance with general Directions given by the Charity Commission. An examination includes a review of the accounting records kept by the charity and a comparison of the accounts presented with those records. It also includes consideration of any unusual items or disclosures in the accounts, and seeking explanations from the trustees concerning any such matters. The procedures undertaken do not provide all the evidence that would be required in an audit, and consequently no opinion is given as to whether the accounts present a 'true and fair' view and the report is limited to those matters set out in the statement below.

Independent
examiner's statement

- In connection with my examination, no matter has come to my attention
1. which gives me reasonable cause to believe that in, any material respect, the requirements:
 - to keep accounting records in accordance with section 130 of the Charities Act; and
 - to prepare accounts which accord with the accounting records and comply with the accounting requirements of the Charities Act have not been met; or
 2. to which, in my opinion, attention should be drawn in order to enable a proper understanding of the accounts to be reached.
