

the drawing shed Trustees annual report April 2020- March 2021

the drawing shed curates and commissions contemporary interdisciplinary projects exploring ideas that cross both arts and science that aim to increase community dialogue, exploring exchanges in the 'commons' and valuing cultural differences. Artist led projects engage people in transformational community exchanges and amongst our outcomes we support community led change and development, to improve the quality of life of all the people we work with. Intentionally, projects that tackle the impacts of social exclusion are central to the durational relationship the drawing shed has with communities living on two housing estates in east London. Developing work that engages with cultural equity as a precursor to cultural democracy is built into our work: how projects begin with our participants makes a huge difference to the outcome and the quality of experience of co-production.

the drawing shed continues to develop projects that engage individuals and communities in work that explore Climate Emergency, connecting the local to the global and the inequalities that suture this to the heart of our ongoing world crisis.

the drawing shed was established in 2009-2010 by artists Sally Labern and Sally Barker and led 2010 -2017 by the collaborative practice of Sally Labern & Bobby Lloyd. Since 2018 Sally Labern has led the organisation as freelance Artist Director and oversees all artists working with the drawing shed, ensuring continuity of our strong track record of delivering high quality, impactful and nationally recognised contemporary arts and health projects with communities. We became a charity in February 2015 allowing Trustees to gain better support for our projects that use a 'bottom up' approach, ensuring participants have agency in the co-production and delivery of projects developed in dialogue. Some of our projects are strategically and literally woven into enabling community development, like 'The Sunken Garden and Community Orchard' and TriO, the estates 'third space' for cultural and community exchange. All projects are developed with external partners, often donating in kind, and supported by our charitable fundraising.

the drawing shed's project base is LockUpNumber11 on The Drive and TriO on Attlee Terrace estates - two dynamic, culturally diverse neighbourhoods with high levels of social and economic deprivation in Walthamstow, Waltham Forest, East London E17.

We involve estate residents across the spectrums of age, experience and diversity who actively participate in Steering Group meetings, for now focused around TriO and The Sunken Gardeners to plan, develop, participate in and evaluate inspired projects, and are represented on the board of trustees. Valuably, the drawing shed bridges on and off these estates working in many diverse cultural contexts, but always engaging with people.

the drawing shed uses the arts as the transformational mechanism to facilitate better cross-cultural understanding and communication, sharing and respecting knowledge, developing the skills, and confidence levels of all people who choose to work with us.

We aim to:

- Support curiosity across diverse communities for parallel and multiple perspectives
- Enable people to become confident community leaders, through the co-production of imaginative projects with us, whilst sharing their knowledge and experience with others and fostering 'mutual aid'
- Improve the wider community's perception of young people through developing inter-generational relationships outside of the family
- Improve visibility, understanding and respect for the lives, experiences and creativity of culturally diverse younger and older local women as co-researchers on our projects
- Encourage isolated and vulnerable people, including those living in poverty, recent migrants, the long-term unemployed, older members of the community with rich life experiences, and those who may have experienced domestic abuse, to get involved in our projects and consequently build trust with others around them.
- Develop communities' sense of pride and well-being through improving and increasing access to green spaces in and around their local environments, and to hold these spaces 'in common'
- Empower people to lead their own community changes

CHAIR OF TRUSTEES' REPORT

This year saw the start of the world Covid Pandemic, beginning with the lockdown of March 2020, this impacted and disrupted all the drawing shed's intentions for the year and beyond.

Sally Labern, lead freelance artist for the organisation contracted Corona virus end March 2020 and had long covid for over six months.

Grant applications previously made for large projects with multiple partners happening both on the estates dissolved for : RE-Earthed with local partners & an international artist Carla Cruz from Portugal, Sally Labern and Ceramicist Lucy Smith, and off the estates with national partners for : spt't;t - a project led by Sally Labern and British Lebanese Composer Marianne Rizkallah Johnson with cutting edge arts and science partners across the UK; working with vulnerable participants with RB&H Arts, Arts Catalyst and ASCUS. Our ability to deliver, the relationship with our estate host communities and our developing partnerships were severely disrupted.

We applied for the Arts Council Emergency Fund receiving just over 26K which included additional access support for lead artist Sally Labern for March to October 2020, and also the government's Cultural Recovery Funding receiving £52K for October 2020 to April 2021 (managed and extended by ACE to end June 2021) CRF as central government funding this required a funding return to be signed off by a certified accountant to be noted on in next year's Annual Report 2021-2022.

Funding allowed the drawing shed to stand still during this annual period, as well as engage Teanne Andrews to work alongside Sally Labern later in 2021 and to secure some additional fundraising time, and support from ADI consultant Hassan Mahamdallie to extend the organisation's thinking on intersectional practices forwards from the pandemic.

Funding also enabled the drawing shed to acquire two IT tablets with pencils and one laptop for future administrative and creative social practice work with participants, as well as materials for smaller group project work suitable for social distance working and online workshopping linked to physical making in estate residents' homes.

the drawing shed was invited by and worked with partner Wellcome Collection on a project around their exhibition theme of 'What does it mean to be Human, Now?' devising a digital programme to be developed in collaboration with young adults (17-19yrs) to use the mobile phone as a creative space and exploring the idea of the value of 'Collectives' and of 'virtual touch and trauma' during the pandemic. Owing to Covid lockdown restrictions and the nature of this work, the project was deferred and only part of the original fee paid by Wellcome Collection. The ambitious project team was Sally Labern, Teanne Andrews of 'We Are Parable' and Lara Garcia Reyne, video editor for John Akomfrah; we now hope to deliver this project on the estates with new grant funding.

In November 2020 academic Rebecca Gordon (UCL) connected with the drawing shed to develop an ongoing relationship around social art practice and generative heritage and care, developing contemporary approaches to models of co-production. We developed a number of academic research funding applications for Covid and Emergency Response projects such as The Public Wash Station and Split|Forest.

Freelance Artist Director Sally Labern as a lead member of Social Art Network London / UK attended various on-line conferences, other events and academic research, presenting and participating across this year.

In December 2020 artists Rebecca Davies and Sarah Blanc and Morven Melgrew were in residence in TriO to develop an application to Arts Council England for a new project Fantiques Road Show to happen later in The Sunken Garden in 2021. Both artists were also contracted to engage in dialogical advice and support for change for the drawing shed moving forwards.

Also in December, on the eve before the longest lockdown, with partner Musichalls we held a social distanced gig in The Sunken Garden on Attlee Terrace estate of Senegalese, Hebrew and English Folk music; feedback on this from residents was that it was the first time they had felt 'normal' since the beginning of the pandemic; The musicians played to an audience of 200+ living around the garden. This had led to a stronger and ongoing partnership with Musichalls as a music events producer in 2021-2022 to increase cultural equity and cultural democracy for the estates' residents that host the drawing shed.

The Sunken Garden on the estates became an invaluable resource during Covid lockdowns and TriO as truly 'the third space' for community / cultural meetings as well as the continued community gardening possible at social distance; residents were able to garden when the pandemic allowed and continue to connect in small ways.

Some of this year has been a full hiatus owing to the pandemic and health issues, and some of the time has been used to rethink possible and desirable intersectional social art practices for the year 2022 and onwards.

We thank Chris Huggins (PWC) for his financial advice in his personal capacity only, and his advice with of the drawing shed's accounts during this period.

We revisit here as at the end of last years report: ending this report in recognition that since March 2020 we have had a whole year of Covid19 and the powerful impact of the Black Lives Matter movement that followed the many cultural, political and social challenges also triggered by 'Me Too'; the world is not the same and the situation for the drawing shed has been much impacted by this crisis in the work of the organisation, as we hurtle towards Climate Emergency.

We mourn and mark with humanity and humility the deaths of so many and with a recognition of the civil trauma and public health issues that will shape our work from now on for some time to come.
