

the drawing shed Trustees annual report April 2022- March 2023

the drawing shed curates and commissions contemporary interdisciplinary projects exploring ideas that cross both arts and science that aim to increase community dialogue, exploring exchanges in the 'commons' and valuing cultural differences. Artist led projects engage people in transformational community exchanges and amongst our outcomes we support community led change and development, to improve the quality of life of all the people we work with. Intentionally, projects that tackle the impacts of social exclusion are central to the durational relationship the drawing shed has with communities living on two housing estates in east London.

Developing work that engages with cultural equity as a precursor to cultural democracy is built into our work: how projects begin with our participants makes a huge difference to the outcome and the quality of experience of co-production.

the drawing shed continues to develop projects that engage individuals and communities in work that explore Climate Emergency, connecting the local to the global and the inequalities that suture this to the heart of our ongoing world crisis.

the drawing shed was established in 2009-2010 by artists Sally Labern and Sally Barker and led 2010 -2017 by the collaborative practice of Sally Labern & Bobby Lloyd. In 2015 the drawing shed became a charity and since 2018 Sally Labern has led the organisation as freelance Artist Director.

the drawing shed's project base is LockUpNumber11 on The Drive and TriO on Attlee Terrace estates - two dynamic, culturally diverse neighbourhoods with high levels of social and economic deprivation in Walthamstow, Waltham Forest, East London E17. Valuably, the drawing shed bridges on and off these estates working in many diverse cultural contexts, but always engaging with people.

the drawing shed uses the arts as the transformational mechanism to facilitate better cross-cultural understanding and communication, sharing and respecting knowledge, developing the skills, and confidence levels of all people who choose to work with us.

We aim to:

- Support curiosity across diverse communities for parallel and multiple perspectives.
- Enable people to become confident community leaders, through the co-production of imaginative projects with us, whilst sharing their knowledge and experience with others and fostering 'mutual aid'.
- Improve the wider community's perception of young people through developing inter-generational relationships outside of the family.

- Improve visibility, understanding and respect for the lives, experiences and creativity of culturally diverse younger and older local women as co-researchers on our projects.
- Encourage isolated and vulnerable people, including those living in poverty, recent migrants, the long-term unemployed, older members of the community with rich life experiences, and those who may have experienced domestic abuse, to get involved in our projects and consequently build trust with others around them.
- Develop communities' sense of pride and well-being through improving and increasing access to green spaces in and around their local environments, and to hold these spaces 'in common'.
- Empower people to lead their own community changes.

Chair of Trustees Report

Sally Labern, continued as lead freelance artist for the organisation throughout 2022/2023 and with TDS' Chair planning began for making an application to Arts Council England for NPO status for the organisation and a 3-year programme of activity with our partners Musichalls and We are Parable.

We remained grateful to previous support from The Arts Council England's Emergency Fund and Cultural Recovery Funding (CRF) which enabled the drawing shed to survive and strengthen during a critical period and beyond.

This year has focused on making new and deepening partnerships following the impacts of the pandemic experienced by the community, and some of the time has been used to rethink possible and desirable intersectional social art practices for the years 2023/24 onwards, refocusing on ambitious high-quality artist led practices to be co-produced with residents. To this effect we also engaged strongly with the universities now relocated around the Olympic Park bordering on Waltham Forest.

In 2022/23 the drawing shed made a proposal to become part of UCL Trellis - a networking project that creates pathways for artists and academic researchers to collaborate. It is a major time commitment for artists to develop these relationships, propose a project with creative / community engagement and outputs. TDS put forward 'Slowing the Flow' a sustainable sound, film and making project in development on the estates around drought and flash floods involving our estate-based women's group in co-curation, as well as artist Gary Stewart as co-creative lead with Labern. Although TDS did not receive the funds, in 2024 an Arts Council England and other funding streams will be investigated as a priority.

the drawing shed's connections made with academic and social practice ally Dr Rebecca Gordon (UCL) were further developed as ongoing around social art practice, generative heritage and care; the development of contemporary approaches to models of co-production and research and development of funding applications such as Landscape Research Group. In May 2022 the drawing shed with Social Art Network UK co-produced a day symposium co-curated with Labern to add to research findings led by Dr R Gordon and Dr Naomi White on the 'Burnout of Social Practice Artists'. Labern also chaired an online discussion with artist Elsa James as part of this work which will be academic-peer published in 2024.

Across April 2022 – March 2023 the drawing shed continued to signpost residents to local professional gigs organised by partner Musichalls, which provided free tickets to the residents of the Atlee Terrace and the Drive.

In 2022/2023 with the drawing shed's in-kind mentoring / partnership support by Labern, local Attlee Terrace resident, artist Laura Noble gained her first successful Arts Council England lottery application. Noble used project space LockUpNo11 as studio to create paintings as a transformative response to her personal traumatic experiences.

For TDS 'Anamnesis Unbroken' (AU) followed as development to our work with partner Wellcome Collection 2020/21 using the mobile phone with young adults to explore with We Are Parable ideas and the values of 'Collectives, virtual touch and trauma' experienced during the pandemic.

For AU the drawing shed, (with partners Social Art Network London and Gallery Espacio), curated and held a one-day symposium on 'Trauma Conscious Social Arts Practices, where to now?' through the lens of the diverse practices of established artist Ignacio Acosta, and emerging artists Noble and Laycock. TDS's Sally Labern chaired the artists' presentations and discussion. This has led to an invitation to Labern, as freelance artist-director of the drawing shed to write a chapter for a new Routledge book on 'Trauma Informed Place Making' to be published in Spring 2024.

The Sunken Garden (TSG) on the estates is pivotal in its position to bring people together in one place, with TriO as its extended community hub, which continued as an invaluable resource moving forwards out of the pandemic as a meeting space and for community gardening that despite covid has continued (for some still at social distance). Conversations began with young Asian women later in spring 2023 to support their making of a film, beginning this dialogical journey in TSG, on how gender, race and class define spatial equity in being able to 'make a place'.

The Sunken Garden allows the drawing shed to focus around human induced climate change, for responses within the hyper local of making positive and creative interventions alongside the weekly session for the growing of healthy food. We continued to develop our role with Waltham Forest Food Growing Network and began partnership development with Organiclea as to how we could work more closely together to support residents. We co-hosted a young people and families' workshop around the special biome of TSG's forest growing and held a compost workshop in February 2023, with some young people self-identifying to lead application making for funds to create future projects that can support their needs.

the drawing shed's focus forwards will be on using its existing resources as dynamically as possible, including LockUpNo11, TriO & The Sunken Garden and also continuing to create stronger cultural partnerships.

The Public Haybox (TPH) is a new project visioned by the drawing shed and gained £2,000 seed funding from RSA's Catalyst funding (2022) and £13,700 LBWF funding (to be released in summer 2023) and will launch as a slow-cooking co-researched co-produced making project on the estates across 2023/2024 bringing inspiration and partners together to help us engage in the changes necessary and possible in the hyper local, linking to the global aspirations of facing up to climate emergency.

We piloted TPH leading workshops at the Sustainable Art Conference 2022 in Dundee with invited partners Studio Polpo and Scrapster. In 2023/24TDS will continue to develop TPH with The Drive Food-Stall as a resident led 'surplus food response' around food insecurity . As estates' sister community groups, both promote wellbeing by empowering communities to access peer support / green spaces. We are excited to bring these groups together in fuel / food / climate emergency response activity to foster creative making and an ideas and stories-exchange from the estates' known resources being strongly activated by residents themselves.

We thank Chris Huggins for his ongoing financial advice in his personal capacity, and his overseeing of the drawing shed's accounts during this period.

We thank Teanne Andrews of We Are Parable for her annual lead on our winter wreath workshop which is our end of year collective crafting and offer of thanks to our resident women volunteers, co-curators, critical friends and gardeners.

Sally Labern as the drawing shed's Lead Artist will continue to work with Trustees to locate core funding sources for the charity, as well as funds for community leadership of The Sunken Garden.
