Our programme cannot feasibly, or morally, sponsor all children in each of the villages. We have discussed with many experienced people the best way to minimise the level of reliance the schools and villages have on The Lwazi Programme, and minimise the level of risk and responsibility on our part. It was decided by the Trustees upon evaluating the advice from experienced professionals, to sponsor a maximum of 10% of each school population. The children at the schools are used to various sponsorship programmes from the government and so our minimal presence will fit well.

We have systems in place to protect the children we sponsor in a number of ways:

1. We have written agreements with each of the schools outlining accountability and transparency measures to make sure the children are attending school,
2. We conduct annual visits to the schools to ensure the sponsored children are treated no differently from the others at the school,
3. On the visits, our Zimbabwean colleagues are requested to report any abusive or unsavoury behaviour towards children if witnessed during visits to the schools,
4. Our Trustees are all DBS checked although do not work directly with the children or the schools.

There is no DBS equivalent check for those working for The Lwazi Programme in Zimbabwe.

However, we have a written code of conduct on how to treat and protect children which they have signed.

Section C Objectives and activities

Summary of the objects of the charity set out in its governing document

The Lwazi Programme links vulnerable children in rural areas of developing countries with people who wish to sponsor their education through primary and secondary school.

We measure “vulnerable” by the simple metric of potentially being unable to attend school, due to financial or family related issues.

Summary of the main activities undertaken for the public benefit in relation to these objects (include within this section the statutory declaration that trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit)

The benefits to come from the activities of The Lwazi Programme are multiple:

1. The vulnerable children we sponsor get an education, a chance at a better future, and a childhood playing with peers.
2. The schools where the children attend have more resources to provide better education to all students by having a steadier income.
3. The families of the children have less of a financial burden/pressure through not having to scrape together fees or be unable to send their children to school.
4. The families of the children are thus able to spend what little cash they do have on food/health and better improve their family's situation.
5. The sponsors gain a connection with the children, learn about new cultures and feel positive about what they are doing. Many sponsors have joined in order to help educate their children in the differences found across the world.
6. Providing breakfasts at the schools means not only will the children perform better and get more value from their education, but also decreases the food burden on their families.

Additional details of objectives and activities (Optional information)

You may choose to include further statements, where relevant, about:

- policy on grantmaking;
- policy programme related investment;
- contribution made by volunteers.

The model is very simple. Each sponsor is linked to the same child (or children if they decide to sponsor more than one) for the duration of their education. Fees for each child are paid specifically for that child directly to the school bank account with a reliable and safe accountability and paperwork trail. We also have a 'Support Fund' which provides us with a buffer should a sponsor's situation change and are unable to continue with the sponsorship, so that the child continues to be supported while another sponsor is found.

Our definition of vulnerable is fluid and based upon a simple metric of being unable to attend school. In most rural areas of developing countries, this includes all children in the area.

Section D

Achievements and performance

Section D

Achievements and performance

Summary of the main achievements of the charity during the year

Our activities completely stopped during COVID and did not recover in 2022. No activities took place on the ground or fundraising. We are struggling to gain momentum again due to the isolated nature of the villages and the time it has been since we visited to know what is needed and how best to operate.

Section E Financial review
