Key changes and Relationships

In 2022 the board of trustees voted to appoint a new Health and Safety Manager to the management committee. This strategic decision was made to empower our organisation to better focus on and achieve our core objectives. The skills and expertise in health and safety management will play a pivotal role in delivering The Charities core objectives.

We extended our assistance to the LGBTQIA+ community in a number of crucial areas this year. Mental health services provide a secure and welcoming atmosphere in which to seek help. Furthermore, providing critical drug information and linking people to a vast network of addiction treatment helps to advance their overall well-being.

Nightlife Outreach provided a welfare team at Birmingham's pride event. We offered a welfare team to assist anyone who was inebriated or ill, which was critical in keeping everyone safe.

The charity renewed its waste recycling and management contract with B&M waste to ensure we minimise the charities carbon footprint.

Structure, Governance and Management

The governance responsibilities of the charity are overseen by experienced trustees on a pro-bono basis. They include specialists from finance, marketing and those with community knowledge.

Trustees are required to give direction and devise strategies to help the charity achieve its aims and objectives within the regulatory framework. Trustees meet on a regular basis throughout the year to assess performance. When necessary policies are examined and amended, grant requests are assessed for approval, and new projects are argued for introduction.

The charity operations are overseen by the trustees with consultants involved in awareness building and administration. Management decisions are undertaken through consultation between the trustees and final approval is made collectively.

At the induction of a new Trustee, training would be recommended dependant on the level of knowledge and experience that the new trustee brings.

The charity constitution was updated in 2019. The Trustees administer and maintain the constitution under the name Nightlife Outreach.

Risk Management 2022

Nightlife Outreach has a risk management strategy which comprises of;

- An annual review of potential risks.
- The establishment of systems and procedures to mitigate those risks identified and
- the implementation of procedures designed to minimise any potential impact on the charity should those risks materialise.

The trustees have been able to assess the risks that the charity faces and mitigate their effects as a result of these measures. The effectiveness of this approach to risk management is supported by the Trustees.

Safety and Operational Risk Management 2022

In 2022, one of the primary goals and objectives of Nightlife Outreach is to strive to lead the way in venue safety, standards, and training.

The board of trustees voted to appoint a Health and Safety Manager to manage, review and control the day to day health and safety of the organisation. This has been pivotal in achieving the set objectives and goals of the organisation for 2022.

A number of significant changes were adopted in 2022, with the primary goal of updating, revising, and developing policies, procedures, and systems that focus on safety and welfare. The management duties and responsibilities were revised and reformed by the board of trustees, allowing the organisation to function, develop, and expand.

A number of policies were updated / implemented in 2022:

- Intoxication policy and procedures
- Safeguarding vulnerable adults policy and procedures
- Mental health at work policy
- Welfare policy and the health and safety at work policy.

The fire safety and health and safety measures have been evaluated, and new provisions, such as extra call points, fire exits, and escape routes, have been installed. This year, all emergency evacuation plans and procedures have been reviewed and revised. All staff and volunteers' training methods have been updated, as their roles have developed.

To guarantee that the organisation's rules and procedures are followed, new operational checklists were designed, adopted, and implemented.

Already incorporating our previous risk management process, the objective for this year is to ensure that the system is consistent and robust throughout the entire risk process. Achieving this is critical to the organisation and its future objectives. A risk register is established, maintained, and reviewed on a routine basis; the board of trustees receives a monthly comprehensive risk report.

Nightlife Outreach 2022 Projects

The Community Food Court

In February 2022, Nightlife Outreach launched a project to establish an outdoor community space, with the objective of promoting diversity and encouraging interaction among members. The project involved incorporating local independent food vendors from the region to showcase their products and services. As a part of the initiative, Nightlife Outreach enlisted the services of VOID ONE, a renowned local 3D graffiti artist, to create two large graffiti wall paintings. The project's primary aim is to provide assistance to the vulnerable members of the community.

Volunteers from our Nightlife Outreach programme, along with local artists and other members of the community, diligently helped to build the area. To get got going, we fitted a brand new emergency exit and gate at the entrance of the venue, leading from the archery range. After knocking down the walls, we also fitted new exits to enhance accessibility. The uneven ground was levelled, and astro-turf was laid. Electrical outlets and lights were installed, and we added benches, tables, and decorations to the area.

Additionally, commissioned artwork highlights local graffiti art, and the area has been painted to create a visually appealing environment for our beneficiaries.

The Vegan Kitchen

We are delighted to inform you of the significant enhancements made to our kitchen facilities in 2022. The installation of a new extraction unit, water heater, and upgraded electrical system has made our kitchen fully operational and capable of serving the community more efficiently.

Catering Hub

Our organisation has constructed a catering hub using up-cycled materials, and installed new fridges, basic cooking appliances, and electrical fixtures. These efforts are helping us teach essential life skills to the community through our various outreach programmes.

Festival Healthy Eating

Nightlife Outreach partnered with the Vegan Cafe Co. to encourage a plant-based and healthy diet at several festivals in 2022, including Wireless, Reading, and Latitude.

Music Studio

“Studio Renovations for Improved Acoustics and Aesthetics”

This year, the studio underwent a refurbishment, which included constructing a wall to reduce the room's size and soundproofing it. Additionally, the electrics and lights were upgraded, and a new floor was installed to enhance the studio's overall look and feel.

Dance studio

In addition, we have installed new flooring in the small room which is better suited for the wide range of dance activities held in this space.

2022 Activities

The 7 Shots Archery Range

In 2022, Nightlife Outreach invested in Stefan Lawrence's Archery instructor certification. They are a neuro-divergent instructor with a passion to deliver archery training and bring the up and coming sport to the community. Nightlife Outreach created an archery range and invested in the equipment to teach the sport. The project was started March 2022 and was completed July 2022.

Trade a Blade

We partnered with Trade a Blade to run mentoring and intervention sessions which included complicit resolution (how to defuse difficult and challenging situations.) This programme was designed to stop Gang affiliation and grooming. This ran during the school holidays and as part of the class, we offered free materials and tools for woodwork training with a free lunch also provided.

Hands of Infinity

Nightlife Outreach supported local CIC's "Hands of Infinity" and "Kaps off" by providing free space for rehearsals and recording. These local CIC'S operate a person-centred approach to working with community members; providing resources for local residents to develop ideas and start businesses. Hands of Infinity also helps young people through youth clubs, mentorship initiatives for disadvantaged groups, and collaboration with West Midlands Police to improve community relations.

Glass Onion Vintage Market

It's been great to be involved in Glass Onion's journey from a Coal Shed, to one of the leading UK Vintage Clothing companies. Glass Onion was founded in 2004 by John; selling vintage clothing out of his Grandma's coal shed in Barnsley, South Yorkshire. Over the next 15 years, the company grew from market stalls and festival pop-ups to warehouse takeovers.

Today, Glass Onion processes up to 20,000 kgs (44,000 lbs) of second-hand clothing every week, creating an in-house “remade” factory where they recycle damaged and unwanted clothes and off-cuts, giving them new life.

Choir with No Name

“Building Joyful Communities for Homeless and Marginalised People Across the UK”

The Choir with No Name is an organisation that creates singing communities and supports choirs for those facing homelessness and marginalisation throughout the UK. With six choirs across the country, they partner with organisations in Birmingham, Liverpool, London, Coventry, Brighton (in partnership with BHT Sussex), and Cardiff (in partnership with The Wallich). They pride themselves on providing a safe and supportive space for individuals who have experienced homelessness or are going through a tough time.

Their mission is to help build confidence and skills, whilst creating lasting friendships that will help individuals tackle life's challenges, moving towards a brighter future.

They believe in the power of singing to provide an escape from the pressures of daily life, and to improve their perception of their own capabilities. The Choir performs regularly at various venues, from local homeless hostels to the Royal Festival Hall, and everywhere in between.

In addition, they conduct community projects in each of the six cities to help those at risk of homelessness and isolation. The goal is to share the joy of singing with as many people as possible, and hopefully, recruit a few more choir members along the way.

“The Choir with No Name is a place where people can have fun, build new skills, and feel supported by friends while facing life's challenges.”

Fierce Festival 2022

"Fierce Festival: Putting Birmingham on the Map Since 1998"

Fierce Festival, (originally called Queerfest) has been making its mark on Birmingham and beyond since 1998. The festival of theatre and performance was founded by Mark Ball, who went on to be Artistic Director at LIFT (London International Festival of Theatre) and then joined Manchester International Festival as Creative Director. In 1999, the festival was renamed Fierce! Festival with the tagline "the festival that bites". This was in response to a growing demand for unusual, edgy, and spectacular performances, as well as a desire to be inclusive to a diverse audience.

Fierce Festival has grown in popularity, attracting larger audiences and gaining more notoriety over the years.

The Festival in 2022 was a swamp themed show, containing many elements and a unique production called "Hoe Down". This consisted of a giant latex pig, and other weird and wonderful performances. The festival shines a light on the talented artists, producers and performers in the city and how it champions freedom of expression and individuality.

In 2022 Nightlife Outreach took all the volunteers to the princess picnic promenade, supporting Fierce Festival artists at the Botanical Gardens in Birmingham. This was a thank you to the volunteers for their continued support and hard work.

Supersonic Festival 2022

Supersonic Festival, curated and produced by Capsule, began as a one-day event in Birmingham in 2003. Now, it has become an internationally acclaimed experimental music and arts festival that attracts a diverse audience.

The festival has been dubbed the “UK's premier experimental music festival”. It has received rave reviews from The Independent, Arts Desk, and The Quietus, among others. The Guardian's Guide also named it the best experimental music festival in Europe.

Supersonic Festival brings together some of the world's most extraordinary artists for live performances, visual art, and audience participation. The festival is legendary and one-of-a-kind. Alongside the festival, Supersonic also hosts a year-round programme of live events, exhibitions, and kids gigs that showcase the highest quality arts in unexpected ways.

Nightlife Outreach was involved in a number of ways, supporting this event. The venue was donated to the festival for use over the weekend, housing the main stage and having some of the festivals biggest performances. Nightlife Outreach supplied support staff and bar managers to facilitate and assist the festival staff and the smooth running of the event. The charity also supplied welfare staff and gave free water to festival goers, promoting responsible drinking.

Join us in amplifying the voices of the region's poets.”
