Section C

Objectives and activitiesSummary of the objects of the charity set out in its governing document

The objects of the CIO are to advance education by the establishment and maintenance of a museum by: collecting, preserving, maintaining and displaying (physically and virtually) a historically significant collection of communication radios.

Summary of the main activities undertaken for the public benefit in relation to these objects (include within this section the statutory declaration that trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit)

The Radio Communication Museum of Great Britain is a traditional museum focused on the science and equipment of radio communication. In addition to the display of equipment and documentation, the museum provides training in software programming (coding), electronics design and development and the construction and operation of radio communication equipment and software to both children and adults.

The main activities undertaken for the public benefit include:

- the acquisition, cleaning and display of radio communication equipment for the public to view and operate, thus expanding their understanding about the history of radio communication and its relevance to their daily life.
- The education of young people, encouraging them to prepare for and to consider, careers in engineering and science.
- To provide a facility for both working and retired people to socialise together whilst undertaking engineering and electronic projects
- The researching of how equipment has been used and documenting the same for the general good of the public to expand their own knowledge and for younger people to create a knowledge platform from which they can develop the communication technologies of tomorrow.

To become an information resource (physical and virtual) to help the public, who have interest in radio technology, to be able to work on their own projects at home.

Additional details of objectives and activities (Optional information)

You may choose to include further statements, where relevant, about:

- policy on grantmaking;
- policy programme related investment;
- contribution made by volunteers.

As a relatively new charity, we are totally dependent on volunteers operating and developing the organisation. This includes cleaning equipment and preparing it for display, running training courses for children and restoring equipment for use in the "Operations Room".

Summary of the main achievements of the charity during the year

Unfortunately, during the COVID closedown we lost several volunteers to the virus and a number suffered from long Covid which has prevented their return to the volunteer team

After COVID, we opened on a two-days a week basis for volunteers to continue to prepare the museum for full opening to the general public which we now expect to be in January 2024.

During the reporting period, we continued to acquire equipment that has been cleaned for display. Where appropriate, equipment for use in the Operations Room has been restored.

Section E

Financial review

Brief statement of the charity's policy on reserves

This is our sixth year of operation. We knew at the outset that we would be reliant for our first few years on corporate and personal donations and loans. We had planned to operate broadly with a small loss for the first three years, a break even in years four and five and to start to create operational reserves from year six onwards. COVID has put back this plan by at least three years.

Details of any funds materially in deficit

Further financial review details (Optional information)

You may choose to include additional information, where relevant about:

- the charity's principal sources of funds (including any fundraising);
- how expenditure has supported the key objectives of the charity;
- investment policy and objectives including any ethical investment policy adopted.

During these difficult COVID and post COVID times, the museum has been sustained by loans from one of the Trustees and income was generated by hiring out the electronic workshop facilities.

No grants were applied for during the reporting period.

I report to the trustees on my examination of the accounts of the above charity ("the Trust") for the year ended 30 / 11 / 2022.

Responsibilities and basis of report

As the charity's trustees, you are responsible for the preparation of the accounts in accordance with the requirements of the Charities Act 2011 ("the Act").

I report in respect of my examination of the Trust's accounts carried out under section 145 of the 2011 Act and in carrying out my examination, I have followed all the applicable Directions given by the Charity Commission under section 145(5)(b) of the Act.

Independent
examiner's statement

I have completed my examination. I confirm that no material matters have come to my attention in connection with the examination which gives me cause to believe that in, any material respect:

- the accounting records were not kept in accordance with section 130 of the Charities Act; or
- the accounts did not accord with the accounting records; or
- the accounts did not comply with the applicable requirements concerning the form and content of accounts set out in the Charities (Accounts and Reports) Regulations 2008 other than any requirement that the accounts give a 'true and fair' view which is not a matter considered as part of an independent examination.

I have no concerns and have come across no other matters in connection with the examination to which attention should be drawn in this report in order to enable a proper understanding of the accounts to be reached.
