Achievements and Performance

	SORP reference
Summary of the main achievements of the charity, identifying the difference the charity's work has made to the circumstances of its beneficiaries and any wider benefits to society as a whole.	Para 1.20	Reflecting on the year, the overarching outcome is one of success, having achieved all of our targets, and even over-achieved in some areas despite challenges, but one of the major accomplishments was the expansion of our network within the many microcosms of British & Cypriot society. From the world of the corporate to the community, we have continued weaving relationships in the personal, professional, and even political realms, building trusted relationships as we have demonstrated our dedication, delivered measurable results for communities and biodiversity. We recognise our progress throughout this project as a series of stepping stones to continue building towards even greater accomplishments for nature.

Achievements and Performance

	SORP reference
Summary of the main achievements of the charity, identifying the difference the charity's work has made to the circumstances of its beneficiaries and any wider benefits to society as a whole.	Para 1.20	The charity was able to support three community groups in two inner city London boroughs to create pond habitats with wildflower areas within their local community spaces. People of all types, including those from various lesser-represented backgrounds, were able to interact and learn new things about the importance of wildlife in urban environments, as well as the crucial role of freshwater ecosystems in the health of our planet. The charity was able to support a small number of dedicated volunteer aquarists, to embark on their first efforts in reproducing commonly encountered aquarium fish species with high threat statuses, for the purposes of maintaining captive broodstock in the event of their extinction.

Section C Objectives and activities

Summary of the objects of the charity set out in its governing document

Promote conservation of the natural environment, especially rivers and wetland habitats and their native fauna and flora, and particularly those species which are threatened or at risk of extinction
Support and implementation of research, habitat restoration, breeding, monitoring and reintroduction programs, education, and the responsible and sustainable use of freshwater resources.

Summary of the main activities undertaken for the public benefit in relation to these objects (include within this section the statutory declaration that trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit)

Completed and published for the public benefit, and for the benefit of science and biodiversity, research identifying genetic relatedness between populations of the Cyprus killifish and its other Mediterranean relatives, as well as the relatedness of individual Cypriot populations to each other, determining that the Cyprus killifish should indeed be listed as nationally endangered. (Phylogeography of Aphanius fasciatus (Osteichthyes: Aphaniidae) in the Mediterranean Sea, with a focus on its conservation in Cyprus)

Worked with local authorities and community members from lesser represented backgrounds to construct a wildlife pond in an inner city borough in London for the benefit of urban wildlife and local people, and providing positive outcomes in the areas of mental health, and social and community engagement.

Made significant progress in the creation and development of our Reproduction And Reintroduction of Endangered (R.A.R.E.) Species project by developing the main framework for a centralised database of freshwater species at risk of extinction.

Provided training in diversity, equity, and inclusion for volunteers to illuminate the difficulties faced by lesser represented groups, and highlight the importance of representation, for the public benefit, especially in the world of nature conservation.

Engaged in public speaking events in order to promote the work of the charity to the wider public, especially within the fish-keeping community where sustainability, ethical fish-keeping, and conservation is becoming increasingly important and necessary.
