Section C Objectives and activities

Summary of the objects of the charity set out in its governing document

The objectives of the CIO are:

- (A) To provide help for children through education, information and activities to develop their skills, capacities and capabilities to enable them to participate in society as independent, mature and responsible individuals;
- (B) To advance the prevention or relief of human suffering in children and to assist the recovery of children through a range of

charitable activities that are directed towards saving and protecting those whose lives are in danger; (C) To advance and promote for the public benefit the protection of children through raising awareness and the education of personal, and health &amp; safety issues; (D) To provide relief to children and young people in need through, amongst other things, the support of other charities and organisations in particular, but not limited to those concerned with the provision of care and protection to children.
The Martin Roberts Foundation is the brainchild of TV presenter Martin Roberts as a vehicle to raise money to support carefully selected educational and well-being initiatives for children and young people. As a long- time supporter and campaigner for the NSPCC, Martin set up the charity to help address the need for ongoing awareness of charities like Childline amongst children and young people. The trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit.

Summary of the main activities undertaken for the public benefit in relation to these objects (include within this section the statutory declaration that trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit)
