By learning their mother tongue properly, they will be able to communicate efficiently with their parents and other members of the family. This will help in prevention of tensions and misunderstanding which are usually due the language gap. These misunderstanding and tensions are because of the language barriers amongst the parents and children where the parents are educated in their mother tongue but the children are more comfortable in communicating in English. By learning to communicate effectively in their mother tongue, the children will be able to understand their parents properly and have a good family life.
