Objectives and activities

Public Benefit

The Trustees have referred to the guidance contained in the Charity Commission's general guidance on public benefit when reviewing the Charity's aims and objectives and in planning future activities.

OBJECTS

To preserve and protect health and relieve sickness for the public benefit in the UK or elsewhere through all or any of the following means:

- a) providing education about the prevention and treatment of cervical cancer and other women's diseases and cancers;
- b) promoting screening, treatment and vaccination for cancer and particularly cervical cancer;
- c) facilitating medical screening, vaccination and treatment of people affected by cervical and similar cancers;
- d) providing support and relief to those in need who are affected directly or indirectly by cervical cancer and other related women's diseases and cancers.

Mission, Vision and Objectives

As can be seen in the Objects above, our vision and objectives are to protect and enhance the health of women in the UK and developing countries by eliminating Cervical Cancer and enabling treatment for women with Cervical Cancer and related health issues.

Through our future programs in support of women's health and wellbeing, UKCC is committed to improving health and reducing poverty and disadvantage to contribute to sustainable development. Our Charity, UKCC and our programme partners have a policy of zero tolerance to fraud and corruption and to family and sexual violence, particularly against women.

Achievements and performance

Overview of the year

Results of recent consumer surveys undertaken by our sister organisations ACCF showed that around 60% of women find smear tests/cervical screenings embarrassing and awkward and over 37% have actually put off going for a smear test because they were uncomfortable, fearful or painful. We can't allow women to die from embarrassment, so we at UK Cervical Cancer have further developed our women-focused/those with a cervix "comfort checklist" which is a simple set of suggestions to make the experience more comfortable and to let women know that they can put themselves in control of the process.

This checklist has been developed by a panel of Consumers and Experts, including a Psychologist, Cervical Screening and Smear Test Nurse, General Practitioners, and Gynaecologists.

We encourage women to take charge of their own health screening tests which could save their life or their friend's life. We ask women to remember that women who have their screenings on time will be at reduced risk of cervical cancer and the longer a test is delayed the more risk is increased, so please keep up to date.

This is a key part of all of the awareness and encouragement activities we are involved in due to Covid19 and the effect this has had on Surgeries and Hospitals, the number of cervical cancer cases and deaths from this illness have been subject to considerable increase. The cause of this is down to the points made above as screening facilities have been reduced and women have been afraid to attend the limited Surgeries and Hospitals where screenings were still being carried out during the current Pandemic.

In the UK, during 2020, we commenced a special programme, known as the Norfolk Project, of partnering with Doctors Surgeries, Schools and other organisations including Ethnic and Religious Bodies in Norfolk, with the overall objective of ensuring that as many women as possible were subject to Screening and as many year-9 and 10-year girls as possible were subject to the HPV vaccination. During the latter part of the year, we started individual Presentations to organisations such as Police Forces, HMRC and other Business Units.

Returning now to the to the activities associated with our sister organisations. In Nepal we have continued partnering and supporting cervical cancer screening and treatment work in this Himalayan country of 30 million people with NACCF and ACCF. There have been over 5,000 Nepalese women screened in the past year. Cervical screening is commonly done in Nepal using VIA (Visual Inspection with Acetic acid) which is more affordable in this low resource country where there is little capacity to screen using smear tests. Most women in Nepal have never had cervical screening even once and many have never been seen by a doctor. We find rates of cervical abnormalities at 20 times the rate they are found in the UK. Many lives can be saved for such a small amount of money, as little as the cost of a coffee and a bun in London.

We support ACCF and NACCF in running community education and awareness programmes in Nepal so that women are educated about the causes of cervical cancer and how it can be prevented, as well providing education about breast cancer and how to carry out regular breast self-examination.

The work is done in NACCF's Women's Clinic, constructed by locals with ACCF support in the town of Banepa, one hour east of Kathmandu, which is a base for the mobile screening camps which travel to remote parts of Nepal once or more each month. The clinic premises are used as a venue for nurses and vaccinators to be trained.

Board members of NACCF who are leading women doctors have now trained over 400 doctors and nurses to carry out VIA (Visual Inspection with Acetic Acid) which allows a sustainable single visit approach to screening and treatment of cervical abnormalities.

The Himalayan Kingdom of Bhutan Magical Bhutan is also in the Himalayas and it uses their Gross National Happiness Index to measure success. Nothing makes Bhutan happier than having healthy girls and healthy women. Cervical cancer has been the biggest cancer killer of women in Bhutan and but now in the last year UK Cervical Cancer and ACCF have helped enable over 90% of eligible schoolgirls to receive HPV vaccinations which will reduce their risk of cervical cancer by up to 80% and we are negotiating a partnership to work with ACCF and NACCF under the patronage of Her Majesty, The Royal Grandmother of Bhutan who has had family members affected by cervical cancer. We will be helping continue the National Vaccination programme which received a special commendation for corporate responsibility at the Public Affairs Asia Gold Standard Awards in Hong Kong in 2011.

We have maintained our relationship with BRANNGO, which is a Peak membership organisation bringing together British NGOs which have the common goal of working for the benefit of disadvantaged people of Nepal and making the work of each more powerful through strength in numbers.

Finally, we need to make the point that in this Social Media dominated culture, we have concentrated on providing Social Media support to women and their families in the UK and other countries where they are disadvantaged and with Covid19, find it more difficult to take our recommended and appropriate actions.

I report to the charity trustees on my examination of the financial statements of the company for the year ended 31 December 2021 which comprise the statement of financial activities (including income and expenditure account), statement of financial position and the related notes.

Responsibilities and basis of report

As the charity's trustees of the company (and also its directors for the purposes of company law) you are responsible for the preparation of the financial statements in accordance with the requirements of the Companies Act 2006 ('the 2006 Act').

Having satisfied myself that the financial statements of the company are not required to be audited under Part 16 of the 2006 Act and are eligible for independent examination, I report in respect of my examination of your company's financial statements as carried out under section 145 of the Charities Act 2011 ('the 2011 Act'). In carrying out my examination I have followed the Directions given by the Charity Commission under section 145(5)(b) of the 2011 Act.

Independent examiner's statement

I have completed my examination. I confirm that no matters have come to my attention in connection with the examination giving me cause to believe that in any material respect:

1. accounting records were not kept in respect of the company as required by section 386 of the 2006 Act; or
2. the financial statements do not accord with those records; or
3. the financial statements do not comply with the accounting requirements of section 396 of the 2006 Act other than any requirement that the accounts give a 'true and fair' view which is not a matter considered as part of an independent examination; or
4. the financial statements have not been prepared in accordance with the methods and principles of the Statement of Recommended Practice for accounting and reporting by charities applicable to charities preparing their accounts in accordance with the Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (FRS 102).

I have no concerns and have come across no other matters in connection with the examination to which attention should be drawn in this report in order to enable a proper understanding of the accounts to be reached.

Incoming resources

All income is included in the statement of financial activities when entitlement has passed to the charity, it is probable that the economic benefits associated with the transaction will flow to the charity and the amount can be reliably measured. The following specific policies are applied to particular categories of income:

- income from donations or grants is recognised when there is evidence of entitlement to the gift, receipt is probable and its amount can be measured reliably.
- income from contracts for the supply of services is recognised with the delivery of the contracted service. This is classified as unrestricted funds unless there is a contractual requirement for it to be spent on a particular purpose and returned if unspent, in which case it may be regarded as restricted.

Resources expended

Expenditure is recognised on an accruals basis as a liability is incurred. Expenditure includes any VAT which cannot be fully recovered, and is classified under headings of the statement of financial activities to which it relates:

- expenditure on raising funds includes the costs of all fundraising activities, events, non-charitable trading activities, and the sale of donated goods.
- expenditure on charitable activities includes all costs incurred by a charity in undertaking activities that further its charitable aims for the benefit of its beneficiaries, including those support costs and costs relating to the governance of the charity apportioned to charitable activities.
- other expenditure includes all expenditure that is neither related to raising funds for the charity nor part of its expenditure on charitable activities.

All costs are allocated to expenditure categories reflecting the use of the resource. Direct costs attributable to a single activity are allocated directly to that activity. Shared costs are apportioned between the activities they contribute to on a reasonable, justifiable and consistent basis.

Current assets and current liabilities are subsequently measured at the cash or other consideration expected to be paid or received and not discounted.

Debtors and creditors payable within one year

Debtors and creditors with no stated interest rate and receivable or payable within one year are recorded at transaction price. Any losses arising from impairment are recognised in expenditure.

Cash at bank and in hand
