Section C Objectives and activities

Summary of the objects of the charity set out in its governing document

The promotion of agriculture and for the purposes of this CIO agriculture shall include the science or occupation of cultivating and planting up land, rearing plants, crops, trees of whatsoever nature, rearing livestock and all aspects of farming and conservation and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing to encourage skill and industry in agriculture and in allied trades, craft and professions connected with the rural economy.

Summary of the main activities undertaken for the public benefit in relation to these objects (include within this section the statutory declaration that trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit)

This years show was the first since the Corona Pandemic and the committee were looking forward to putting on a great display. The weather was kind to us and many people attended, although the total was slightly down on that of 2019 (the last show before the pandemic). This may be due to people still been concerned about mixing in large crowds so soon after the lifting of the restrictions.

The charity holds an annual show at a local farm. This allows the public to come in to close contact with livestock. This is done by holding sheep competitions that the public can view, along with pens for other livestock such as cattle. Classes are held in both horticulture and craft work which is also open to the public. Local and regional businesses are given the opportunity to show their products to the public and to promote and sell their goods.

The public are given the opportunity to experience what goes on in the countryside environment, giving them a taste of country life that they wouldn't get any other way.

Additional details of objectives and activities (Optional information)

You may choose to include further statements, where relevant, about:

- policy on grantmaking;
- policy programme related investment;
- contribution made by volunteers.

Section D

Achievements and performance

Summary of the main achievements of the charity during the year

2022 – Secretary’s Report

What a great first ‘full’ show after a three-year hiatus!

Given what’s gone on in the world, the appetite for such events was unknown, but we were neither disappointed by the weather or the attendance. The glorious weather certainly proved fruitful for ice cream sales. This year proving particularly lucrative!

As ever the Wolds Half Marathon was well supported and well organised by Andrew and Stuart, and next year adopts a new off-road format. This will no doubt prove to be a success and will attract a different set of runners and their followers. The necessity to change the format is further evidence of the increasing accountability and challenges we are facing in organising such events with the need to close roads making it wholly unviable on the scale that we operate. I’d like to take this opportunity to thank Andrew Farnsworth for all his efforts and devotion to the cause over the last few years.

We were also incredibly fortunate that many of our usual service providers stood by the prices they quoted for the 2020 and 2021 shows. Phil Warry and I attended the Yorkshire Federation AGM and heard some horrific tales of doubling prices and opportunistic inflation; on marquees especially. On that note, particular thanks must go to Nationwide Marquees who has maintained the same pricing structure for many years.

We have been fortunate to have received similar favourable terms from Mark and Lisa Megginson in hiring their toilet blocks over the years, but sadly they’re closing this side of their business at the end of this year.

The livestock classes across the show are helped considerably by a die-hard group of enthusiasts, and this year was no different. Sadly, with the Yorkshire Show now running into a fourth day, livestock numbers were down with farmers and stockmen show weary, but again its encouraging to see a few young handlers keeping up the tradition. Dogs and horses as ever were an essential part of the show and despite the heat, there were many in attendance at the various agility and veterinary demonstrations.

All the tent classes were again popular, with some exceptional quality and creativity on display. A lot of work goes into the organising and judging, and its great see so many children from the village and surrounding area putting in the effort.

The Main Ring saw a repeat visit from the Knights of Nottingham, but looking forward there are plans to develop this area. We saw new attractions like the Jofers Family History Group and the Purple Pig Company, proving popular and having been asked back for the 2023 Show. Static displays of classic cars and vintage tractors around the ring proved popular, this year with more interaction with their owners; something we want to build on. Everybody wants to tell their story, and getting people involved and participating is good value entertainment, and doesn’t cost us a lot.

“Feedback post the show”, organised by Dorothy Appleby through the Facebook page, has proved very effective in developing ideas for future shows. We've learnt plenty. The overwhelming feedback was very positive. There are already plenty of ideas on how we can develop the diversity and choice of food and drink franchises.

Another change for this year's show was a significant upgrade in our online presence. A great many got involved in ideas for the website, producing content and pictures, design work and installing and operating the ticketing and gate management facility. However, particular thanks must go to Katy and Dean Hamblin for getting the project off the ground and liaising with Webcetera.

Looking to next year, it's the 125th Show. A staggering achievement. It is a challenge balancing traditional show values in a rapidly changing world. We still need to be providing fun, family entertainment and at good value. A challenge going forward given a cost of living crisis and rapid inflation. There are a great many people to thank over the year for their commitment. The Committee for organising the show, and those that volunteer in the days around the event. There are also those who are called on for favours, donating their skills and resources, working tirelessly in the background. Thank you.

Finally, thank you to the Stringer family for allowing the show to take place in their back yard. Thanks, must also go to the President and the Vice Presidents for their ongoing support in helping to maintain the viability of the show. Their support is intrinsic to the ongoing legacy of the event.

Section E

Financial review

Brief statement of the charity's policy on reserves

The charity's policy on the reserve funds is that it should have sufficient money to cover any liabilities should the annual show be cancelled. This has always been achieved since the show started over 120 years ago.

Details of any funds materially in deficit

Further financial review details (Optional information)

You may choose to include additional information, where relevant about:

- the charity's principal sources of funds (including any fundraising);
- how expenditure has supported the key objectives of the charity;
- investment policy and objectives including any ethical investment policy adopted.

To the Board of Trustees,

RE: Bishop Wilton Show (Charity Number 1178613)

I have reviewed the books and records for the above charity and can confirm that the income and expenditure for the year ending 31st October 2022 and the assets and liabilities as at 31st October 2022 are recorded to show a true and fair view.

Furthermore there are sufficient reserves to consider the operation a going concern.

Yours sincerely
