This Report covers the period from April 2024 - March 2025. Looking back on this year we have seen growth in all areas of our work as a charity. Our numbers have grown and its clear that we are supporting even more families

March 2025

Instagram 2,526 followers = +325

Facebook closed group 1,962 members = + 420

Facebook generic group followers = 3,145 + 298

With the introduction of our pen pals initiative, newsletters and new booklets (see separate pages) alongside mini meets and our ever growing three main events: Camp, Adventure Day and our Christmas Parties, we have widened our supported during this time.

We continue to send out welcome packs - to new parents or families who are new to our group. Although this was originally set up to support families with new babies or expectant mums we quickly realised that there were families with slightly older children who also needed support - hence the change from New Baby packs to Welcome packs.

Another area of growth has seen us revisit the booklet created by our children - 'My limb difference'. This was the first booklet that we created. It was basically to test the waters and see if it would be useful. The requests for this booklet have been regular so we decided to create version 2 - It is an updated version with lots more information and many more children joining in.

April

Limb Difference Awareness Month is observed in April each year. It is dedicated to raising awareness and understanding about limb differences. The month-long campaign focuses on promoting inclusivity, educating the public about the challenges faced by individuals with limb differences, and advocating for equal opportunities in various aspects of life, including accessibility, healthcare, and employment.

During this month we share positive images about Limb Difference – this year our theme was ‘Actually I can...’ we worked closely with other charities to send out a positive consistent message. Our parents and families supported us on social media

HELSLEY WOOD

“Thank you to every single person that made us feel so welcome, to all the people that encouraged and tried to push our son out of his comfort zone to try new things it means more than you know. From the shy little boy we have at home that doesn't like to venture far from his bedroom (his safe space) to seeing the massive smile on his face this weekend means everything. He hasn't stopped talking about it since we left.”

Blog post following Camp LimbBo 2024

It's almost 24 hours since camp LimbBo ended and, as always, it's taken a while for the magic of the weekend to sink in. When we started LimbBo in 2018 one of our aims was to 'support limb different children and their families.' We quickly discovered that the best way to do this was to get families together.

Camp limbBo 2024 began Friday afternoon with groups of shy children, sticking close to their parents and looking around them very cautiously. It ended on Sunday afternoon with exhausted children who were dirt covered, beaming, calling out 'I blame Captain Woody', teasing and hugging each other with no idea where their parents were.

They threw themselves into every task (in some of them quite literally) - the words 'Marley can't swim' came after he'd launched himself out of the canoe. They laughed when they were covered in mud, or their wellies were full of water. They giggled when they worked together to create faces of their little arms - Derek, Dave, Bob and Bruce are now members of Team LimbBo. (Note to self - buy less art supplies next year as they all just decorated themselves 🥰 either that or leave a responsible adult (which rules out most of them) supervising)

We had Domino's Pizza, Ice cream, Greggs sausage rolls, a barbeque with chips. We toasted marshmallows and sang and danced around a camp fire, run by Royston Scout leader 'Piper'.

The 'LimbBo Way' of doing things is to go with the flow - as long as it's helping our children (and it's safe!) go ahead! Timetables might need changing, menus altered, T shirts turned up 4 hours before camp started. Mud will wash off and fade, but memories will remain. We encourage our children to try and only help when they ask us to. It was great to see children asking whatever adult was around to tie their shoelace or wipe mud from their eye. It was great to hear people say - try it and then you will know if you like it - don't miss out by not trying. The cheers were the same whether a child climbed a couple of steps up the climbing wall or if they got to the top.

Yes, there were tears, but they were tears of pride (or hysterical tears of laughter at times!) from parents.

Arthur, our current youngest member met TommyD our first LimbBo member and it brought back so many memories for us. In Katie's words - 'When Tommy was born, we felt isolated and didn't want others to feel as frightened as we were. 'If only we'd known then what we know now' is said so often!

To see our young ambassadors taking their role seriously made us so proud. Josh who was so quiet and shy when he joined us, was an assistant team leader and then took over a group on the Sunday. TommyD, Isabelle and our newest ambassador Skyla- Mae helped to set up, acted as runners to fetch and carry and supported younger children.

To our group leaders and volunteers - there are no words (lots of different bird calls!) and thank you seems inadequate but we couldn't do this without you all.

We are all exhausted, as are the children but seeing them not hiding or covering up their limb difference, gaining in confidence, feeling safe and just being themselves is priceless. The future of LimbBo is in safe hands (and yes that pun IS intended) with these young people.

AdventureDay 2024

650 Attendees

Adventure Day is the biggest event in our calendar. In 2024 we held our 6th Adventure Day at Cawthorne cricket club in Barnsley. Families travelled from all over the UK to join us and we even had friends from the USA, and Germany.

The blog post written following the event can be found on our website - along with more photos from the day .

and is also copied on the following pages.

The quote "If you build it, they will come" is from the 1989 movie Field of Dreams. (It's a misquote as the actual line in the film is, "If you build it, he will come.") It's a phrase often used to suggest that if you create something of value or importance, people will naturally be drawn to it.

This quote has been buzzing around my head since our 6th Adventure Day a couple of days ago.

As you know we formed LimbBo following the birth of Tommy D. We felt that we had nowhere to turn and didn't know what his future would hold. By the time he was 4 we knew that he was an awesome little boy who did everything his own way. If only we'd known then what we know now...if only expectant parents and new parents knew that there was a family ready to scoop them up and support them. Well, we built it and on Thursday 'they came' - all 650 of 'them!' The LimbBo family is loud, proud, happy and supportive. It might be chaotic and messy at times, but the joy of Adventure Day is summed up in the feedback we've had from families. Talk of finding their tribe and a sense of belonging was a familiar thread.

The overriding comment was the idea of a safe space. Yes, the Cricket Club at Cawthorne is a safe space physically, but more importantly it's a safe space emotionally. 'We were brought to tears when 'L' said she felt normal today and loved seeing so many other young people like herself'

No one hides their limb difference at Adventure Day, no one stares, no one comments and for the first time in their lives our limb different children are in the majority. I'm not sure of the actual figure but it was at 128 limb different children on our ticket list.

Comments like 'The smile on her face meeting other children with limb differences is something I will forever cherish'. As parents you obviously want the best for your children, as grandparents you want to support your own children and your grandchildren. When we say family, we mean the whole family. Many grandparents took on the role of volunteers and are such a key part of our extended family. Yes, it rained in the afternoon, yes Katie hid her car in the trees behind the club house to avoid the walk to the overflow carpark. People did panic when Woody announced the bike we had been raffling all day had been stolen (Tommy was mortified until I told him the secret of why it had been 'stolen') - cue Toby Tyke (Barnsley FC's mascot) riding onto the cricket field said bike and with Big Tommy following close behind! Yes, Woody won the bike (made by Mason Clarke and his friend Nathan) no it wasn't a fix but Toby Tyke said he couldn't have it, and we redrew the raffle!

We couldn't do this event without people who support us all year round as well as on the day. Bapp for Bolts have been with LimbBo since we started and there literally wouldn't be the limbBo you know today without them. Rumour has it that Big Tommy will have Bertie Bolt as a companion next year. Dere Street Barristers, Cawthorne Cricket club, The National Lottery Community Fund, The Keel Inn, J Harris Motor Bodies, Fletcher's solicitors, Premdor Masonite Doors, Stainborough Rotary Club, Cannon Hall Farm, Horizon CC and the many parents and schools who have raised funds for us throughout the year. My apologies if I've missed anyone but every fundraising event makes a real difference to our work and we couldn't do it without you. The trustees, youth ambassadors and volunteers all worked so hard to put this day together but our reward is on the day we get to see excited children enjoying themselves and being completely relaxed. The hugs, seeing how our children have grown, meeting new families, the tears of gratitude (mainly Jane's) and pride make the months of planning worthwhile. The range of activities and resources was amazing this year - thank you to you all.

LimbBo has created one of the most welcoming community of families affected by limb difference. They have given us so much confidence and helped us with so many aspects of simply being difference

Without LimbBo we wouldn't be us

Thank you to all of the ambassadors trustees and all the other volunteers for an amazing day today! Your hard work doesn't go unnoticed, thank you for creating a space where limb 'difference' doesn't exist.

Christmas Party

Our fifth Christmas party was held at The Fairways in Barnsley on Sunday 8th December. Thanks to lots of hard work behind the scenes this was a great success. Father Christmas arriving in his Bapp lorry, Bubbles, snow machines, games, dancing competitions and definitely lots of smiles. The photo booth showed us just how confident and full of fun our children and families are when they get together.

Our ambassador Marie Tidball MP (yes we have a limb different MP how cool is that?) spoke to our children and invited them to visit her at the House of Commons. The small Christmas bears were a hit (thanks to Walker Morris for providing these) and from the photos we've received they are much loved already. We had new families and children and the joy of seasoned LimbBo families meeting up again is lovely to see. I'll finish with a quote from one of our parents...

Welcome Packs

'Hi Amy, I got the welcome package and oh my goodness, it got me crying all over again. It's the most touching and thoughtful thing... These past few months have been so hard and this is like a warm hug from a beautiful community of support'

We were receiving regular enquiries on our Facebook page from both expectant mums where their baby's limb difference had shown up on a scan and mums with new babies who had a limb difference. People were obviously anxious about the unknown and felt they needed someone to chat to and ask questions. Whilst there is always someone around to support new families in this way, we decided that it would be lovely to welcome them by sending out a pack. Amy, one of our trustees, was the person who thought of this and has put the pack together - its evolving all the time . It has over the last 12 months gradually become our 'Welcome pack' rather than just a new parent pack as many people had only just found us and were in need of support.

Our bike adaptations were designed in house by our chairman. We are now on version 3.1 of this design which has been modified; LimbBo colours and a 3D printed insert using flexible filament. These are provided free of charge. Bianca is the trustee responsible for collating orders and the printing, packaging at posting are done by Adam (Chairman) and Katie (Operations manager). These can be attached to balance bikes, scooters and bikes.

The design for these has been made open source so that anyone with a 3D printer can create one but must not alter the design or sell these products.

Welcoming a child with a Limb Difference

INTO YOUR SCHOOL

info@limbbfoundation.co.uk

Having identified key areas where our children and families need support, it was clear that starting school was high on the list of parental worries. With the help of parents and children we created two booklets aimed mainly at primary schools. We now have two booklets called 'Welcoming a child with a limb difference into your school' – one to support children with a lower limb difference and one for those with an upper limb difference. It was a challenge to get the balance of support and independence but with the help of schools who already support one of our children, along with parents we have created a guide which offers support but is framed in an open manner and raises lots of questions – it certainly isn't a list of rules!

We originally combined upper and lower limb difference into one booklet but took advice from parents and created one for each type of difference.

How do I refer to the child's limb difference

Having worked with various teachers one of the questions that was asked by all of them is about what language they should use when talking about a child's limb difference.

As with everything else in this booklet, the best way to find out is to ask the child themselves or ask parents at your first meeting.

Many children refer to their limb different arm as their 'little arm' or their 'born arm'. Some refer to it as a 'baby arm' or a 'special arm' there are lots of variations – again you need to be led by the child in this. The only thing we would ask is that you don't allow others to refer to it as 'their poorly arm' or something that implies their arm has something wrong with it – its just different not damaged.

“Don't underestimate your limb different child. We quickly realised I didn't need our help with the things that we thought would be challenging for him. Our offers of help were often met with 'I can do it'. He would ask for help if needed and we adjusted our offers of help accordingly. TEACHER QUOTE

Adding up to ten and showing the answer by holding fingers up?
Easy ways - cards? an artists' drawing hand? A cardboard hand?

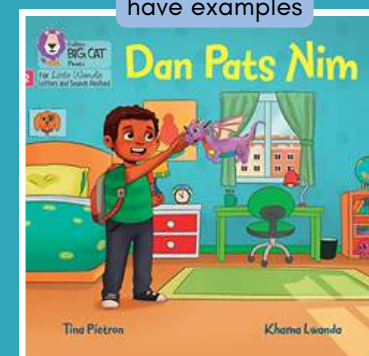

If you are starting to write and encourage children to use finger spacing.
consider alternatives - a lolly stick with a face drawn on, Tommy's dad 3D printed a finger spacer for him.

If you are primary, especially early years, don't avoid hand printed cards at Christmas etc - let the child paint their hand and their little arm - please don't get another child to paint their hand and add that - it will just upset children and yes we have had that happen several times.

Consider how you help the child secure paper and books when writing. Also bear in mind a child may be missing the hand that would have been their dominate hand so their writing will an extra challenge

Florence's first meeting

Raising awareness and supporting health workers is important to us and we were delighted to be asked to spend time with our local Health visitors to explain both the role of LimbBo and how to support families who have a limb different child.

Our parent booklet is being sent out with welcome packs or when requested specifically - these are honest stories by LimbBo parents and have been really helpful to new or expectant families.

Hospital Packs

Having introduced our in house new parent booklet last year we realised that it was important to get our literature into as many hospitals as possible. Our parents have been a key link and we have a trustee who oversees this initiative. All literature is created by another Trustee.

These have been well received and several new families have joined us as a result of this initiative.

We originally began the LimbBo Foundation following the birth of Tommy D in 2014. We were given a black and white formal leaflet which didn't answer any of our questions - we wanted to share the positive side to limb difference and where to go to ask questions

As the majority of our funding come from donations during this period march 2024 - March 2025 -added to the fact that we made it a policy to not charge for anything we needed a boost to our funds. Turning again, to our families for support we were stunned at the amount our children raised. They walked, swam, cycled, built, baked, painted... proving to us beyond a doubt that LimbBo is a family and always works together. Our children and families raised £13,333 in 2024

We currently have nine youth ambassadors. They all take this role very seriously. At events they wear blue t shirts or Youth Ambassador lanyards so that they are clearly identifiable. Their roles range from practical support - helping to set up our main events and supporting younger children throughout the events.

They work to raise awareness, speaking in schools, at events, collecting in supermarkets, collecting cheques on behalf of limbBo and contributing to all of our booklets. It's important that their voice is heard in all of our literature. Two of our YA do not have a limb difference themselves but have a sibling who does. We are a family organisation and know that siblings have a valuable role to play so we were really pleased when Lola and Layla asked if they could join this group.

Raising Awareness

Raising awareness surrounding limb difference is vital to promoting inclusion. When children are exposed to diversity at an early age and in a positive way then they are more likely to be accepting of others. By visiting schools either as part of their PHSE sessions or as part of their STEM sessions we can show what living with a limb difference entails. By including some of our youth ambassadors in these visits we have seen children openly ask questions and overcome any preconceived ideas that they may have. We have also found that it helps the parents of very young children with a limb difference to ask questions about what their child's future will look like – what has been their experience of school, learning to drive, playing sports ... all answered honestly and giving an insight into living with a limb difference.

Mini Meets

We are looking to introduce 'mini meets' which will cut down the time gap between our main events. These are local meet ups which are organised either by trustees or by one of our parents. The best support that we can give to our families is to show them that they aren't on their own and that support is available.

Whilst our large events are great places to meet others, the amount of work that goes into organising these means they can only happen once a year. By using our closed group, which is a safe space online, families can identify who is based close to them geographically and can arrange their own mini meet with our support.

Limb difference with a smile...

The LimbBo Foundation was formed following the birth of Tommy D in 2014. He was born missing his right hand and part of his forearm. We were feeling very bewildered and wanted to create a community where no limb different child or family were left feeling isolated.

We wanted to share the joyous side of having a child with a limb difference. Their 'can do attitude' and ways of finding their 'own way' of doing things constantly amazes us.

Speaking at events

If you are reading this leaflet then a big welcome to Team LimbBo. Our aim is to support families as well as raising awareness about how amazing our children are. We provide the bright positive posters and leaflets that we wished we'd had when Tommy was born. We create opportunities for our children to meet and chat with others with a limb difference and to make friends who will become their support network.

EFL Inclusivity Match Oakwell
Saturday 1st March 2025

LIMBBO

We love you Barnsley ...we do

The voices of thousands of Barnsley Supporters sum up our day at Oakwell, (the home of Barnsley Football Club) on Saturday. The whole ground resounding with the song 'Oh Barnsley we love you'. LimbBo is a Barnsley based charity and often people are surprised when they find this out. We are proud of our town (or tarn) and the support that we have been given locally.

On Saturday 40 of our limb different children, their siblings and parents came together at Oakwell. The children who already knew one another ran off to play and catch up whilst some of our new members looked on in awe – that didn't last! As usual by the end of the day they were one cohesive group – helped by the 'uniform' of LimbBo Football kit with their names on the back. Many of our children slept in them and even took them to school on Monday but we've been assured that they have now all been prized out of them to allow for washing.

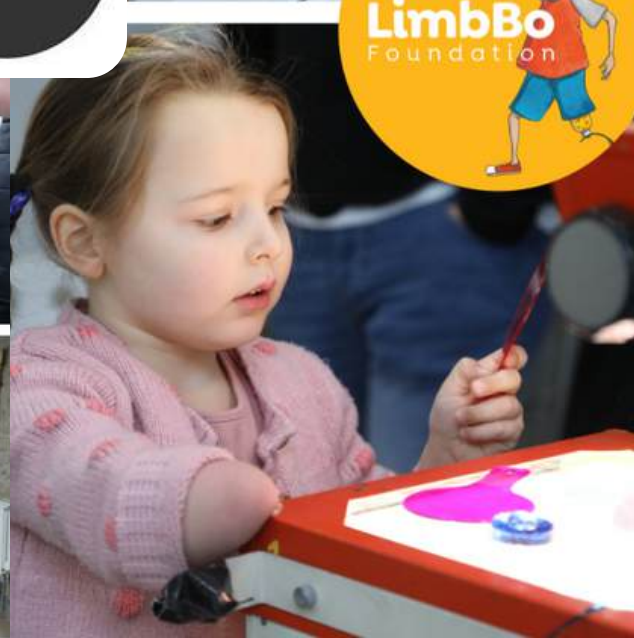

The club were brilliant, the tour inspiring. There was a calm quiet walk around the vast empty stadium, a trip to the boardroom, the dressing room, lunch, football on the training pitch all leading up to the main event – the flag waving and the match itself.

By the time we returned after lunch to collect our flags the atmosphere had changed, full stands of Barnsley fans, singing, chanting, clapping. Announcements over the Tannoy, music, sunshine and a real anticipation of a good afternoon.

Big Tommy joined Toby Tyke for a walk around. Tommy D and Freddy were mascots and walked out with the players. Marie Tidball MP, one of our ambassadors and MP for Penistone and Stocksbridge came along to meet up with our children – we were impressed she wore Barnsley colours! Royston Explorers came to help with the bucket collection – another Barnsley link. As the match progressed and a total of 7 goals were scored the noise level was incredible. Chips eaten, singing gained volume, the sun shone so the cold didn't matter.

A tired but happy group of children at the end of the day. A great experience with support from Barnsley FC who have said they would be happy to work with us again. Proud of our children, our families and our town – #you reds and yes 'Oh Barnsley we love you'

During Science week 2025, team limbBo worked with The Yorkshire Sculpture Park, Amazelab and British Glass to create a day of experimenting and learning. We based this around the Bharti Kher exhibition and the theme of change. It was great to see the children working together to create their own works of art as well as explore the grounds at YSP

Social Media

One of our main channels of support is via social media. Whilst we have a presence on all major sites our most valuable is our closed group for families on Facebook. March 2024 the number in this group was 1,945. It is a safe site as people have to apply to join (although obviously this is free) and all posts are moderated before being uploaded.

This has been used to answer both practical and emotional questions, share ideas, ask questions, find others who are local to you and most of all a safe space to share photos and celebrate the achievements of our children.

All of our events and activities are advertised on here and this is growing steadily each month.

We were pointed in the direction of LimbBo by the fetal medical unit, it is incredibly inspiring and reassuring reading stories and seeing photos of all of your beautiful children thriving. Thank you to everyone for sharing their stories, it has made a tough time easier for us'

I want to introduce baby 'A' We found out that she had a limb difference at our 20 week scan. The news was tough to hear so I looked up places on FB to help. And it did and it still helps!

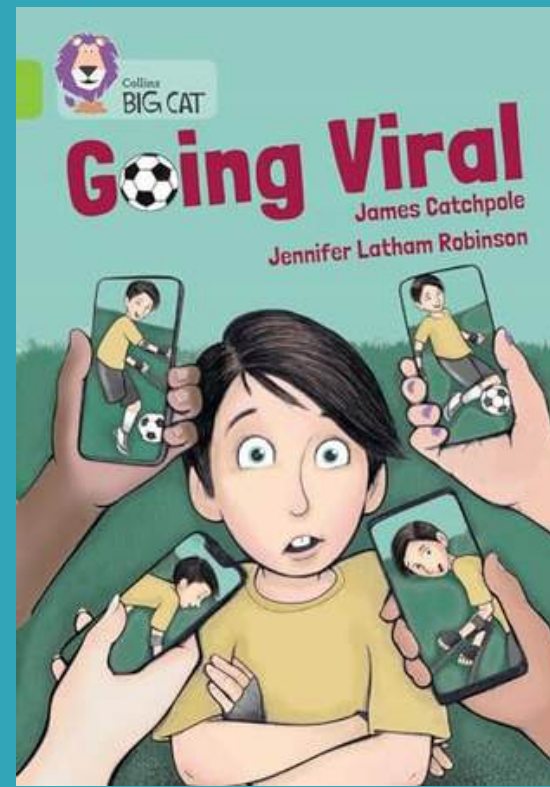

Thanks isn't enough to tell you how much this site has impacted our lives! She is 4 weeks old and beautiful!

Celebrating Achievements

Happy Town

Raising Awareness

By working with authors, publishing and TV companies we have helped to normalise limb difference

In 2024 we received an Awards for all grant of £20,000 from the National lottery. This has been invaluable to us as it meant we could pay a member of staff for 3 days a week. We would never use money raised for and by our children to pay for salaries but this grant has given us the support we needed to take limbBo forward. Our Operations Manager took up post in April and oversees the day to day admin as well as being in charge of Camp LimbBo and branded merchandise which is made in house. She oversees the production and delivery of our bike adaptations

Our Limb Difference

Hero

Aged Seven

Having a baby hand is really cool. It makes me feel special and my friends really love my baby hand! "My favourite tools to help me out with my baby hand are my Koalaa arm, my egg cracker, my chopping board and my confidence. Sometimes trying new things can be a bit scary, so I use a lot of confidence to help me find courage and new ways to do things with my baby hand." "I really like playing board games, reading and baking. My favourite things to bake are brownies and my favourite board game is Pokémon Labrith!"

Grace

Aged Four

Grace is a bundle of energy and is very rarely seen without a smile on her face. She is obsessed with dancing and has taken part in lots of different dancing events. She was so happy when a friend knitted her some gloves just for her!

"I like my fingers because they make me special" "Don't worry I'm reyt" "My hands make me happy"

This is our second version of our 'My limb dffERENCE' booklet. It has more stories and a real range of ages and types of limb difference. It's been written by parents and children and has proved to be a really supportive booklet for families.
