Objectives and Activities

	SORP reference
Summary of the purposes of the charity as set out in its governing document	Para 1.17	The German History Society ("the Society") 1. Objects The Objects of the Society are, for the public benefit in the United Kingdom and the Republic of Ireland: 1.1 To advance education in, and promote the study of, German history, including the history of German-speaking lands, in particular but not exclusively by: 1.1.1 Organising public conferences, lectures and events on topics relating to German history; 1.1.2 Creating and fostering links between academics, students, scholarly bodies and other individuals and organisations engaged with or interested in German history; 1.1.3 Producing and disseminating publications, online resources and other media to provide information relating to the subject and study of German history; and 1.1.4 Providing grants and bursaries for study or research into German history, and awarding prizes for exceptional academic work relating to German history, in particular but not exclusively to students and early career scholars. 1.2 Nothing in this Constitution shall authorise an application of the property of the Society for purposes which are not charitable in accordance with section 7 of the Charities and Trustee Investment (Scotland) Act 2005 and section 2 of the Charities Act (Northern Ireland) 2008.

Summary of the main activities in relation to those purposes for the public benefit, in particular, the activities, projects or services identified in the accounts.	Para 1.17 and 1.19	The Society promotes learning in the history of Germany and the German-speaking world. It does this, broadly, through events, publication/dissemination of print and online information, awarding grants for study/research and fostering a network of academics, students and other individuals and organisations interested in the discipline. The Society exists to benefit the public at large and many benefits are accessible to all. However, the Society encourages those with an interest in German history to become members and membership confers additional benefits. Membership is easy to obtain and affordable: the cost is £27/year for general membership and £8/year for student membership, which is a lower fee than that charged by many other membership organisations. Members of the Society can access various benefits, which are designed to promote their learning, including automatic subscription to the Society's own journal, eligibility to apply for bursaries/grants and free attendance at the Society's annual conference and various other events. The Society's journal, German History, includes articles/research and other information relevant the field and represents an excellent educational resource. In addition, the Society's website includes a comprehensive list of links to relevant study and research resources, to assist students, scholars and other interested parties to develop their learning in the area. The Society's annual conference and other events provide a platform for leading speakers in German history to showcase their work and educate attendees. These events also facilitate networking between those working, studying or interested in the discipline, thereby providing opportunities to advance education through the sharing of knowledge and ideas. Bursaries and grants allow students and early career scholars to fund items that otherwise may have been unaffordable to them, including study fees, research trips, attending or putting on conferences/events, amongst other things. These awards therefore broaden access to the field and promote learning. The Society also awards various prizes for outstanding work in the field of German history, including a postgraduate essay prize, EDI prize and undergraduate dissertation prize, which are open to students at UK and Irish universities, and a prize for the best article published each year in German History journal. The Society exists to advance education in the history of Germany and the German-speaking world and is

		committed to activities that enable the public at large to become engaged in this discipline. Non-members can subscribe to the German History journal and attend the Society's annual conference and other events, subject to payment of a fee. Therefore, many of the benefits enjoyed by members are available more widely at cost, and therefore contribute to the Society's aims of advancing education in German history for the benefit of the public at large. Furthermore, membership of the Society is open to any person who is studying, teaching or researching German history, or who supports the aims of the Society or is simply interested in the topic. There is no limit on membership numbers. Therefore although members gain benefits by virtue of their membership, anyone with an interest in the area can become a member and therefore enjoy these benefits.

Achievements and Performance

	SORP reference
Summary of the main achievements of the charity, identifying the difference the charity's work has made to the circumstances of its beneficiaries and any wider benefits to society as a whole.	Para 1.20	Annual Conference In 2021, the Society's annual conference was held at the University of Roehampton (with the potential for additional online participation) from 2-4 September. The conference included around 70 participants (speakers, chairs, discussants) from across the globe, representing researchers at all levels from postgraduates and early career researchers to established senior scholars. Plenary lectures were held by Doris Bergen (Toronto), Yair Mintzker (Princeton) and Hedwig Röckelein (Göttingen). Members and non-members alike were able to attend the conference and broaden their knowledge of German history and culture. Other Events GHS members were invited to collaborate with the German Historical Institute London on a workshop on medieval Germany, held on 6 May 2022. An exhibition part-funded by the GHS entitled 'Behind the Wire: Internment during the First World War' was held at the Old Library Galleries, Leicester, during April-May 2022, and inaugurated by the City Mayor. GHS Ukraine Fellowship In June 2022, Dr Natalia Gromakova joined the University of Aberdeen's Centre for Polish-Lithuanian Studies as part of the 'Scholars at Risk' Fellowship programme for Ukraine, sponsored by the German History Society in collaboration with the Royal Historical Society. Dr Gromakova specialises in the social and associational life of minorities, including Polish and German speakers in the nineteenth-century Ukrainian lands occupied by Austria and Russia after the Third Partition of Poland in 1795 up to the First World War. She fled her home in Bucha, around 20km north-west

		of Kyiv, with her daughter on March 11. Dr Gromakova had been working at the National Pedagogical University in Kyiv as a postdoctoral researcher. She and daughter Olena were able to evacuate the town, which had been under relentless shelling since the outbreak of war, but her husband remained behind to support those defending the country. The GHS contributed £5,000 to fund Dr. Gromakova's Fellowship. Since then, Dr Gromakova has delivered several papers, including one at Cambridge, and the University of Aberdeen has matched the GHS/RHS funding to enable her to stay on the fellowship for a whole year, until the end of May 2023. Membership In May 2022, the Society had 202 members (135 waged, 65 unwaged). The Society's expanded use of social media had an appreciable impact in this regard. Members of the Society are able to attend the annual conference without paying a fee, and are eligible for the Society's prizes, grants, and bursaries. Membership of the Society also includes a subscription at significantly discounted rates to the internationally-acclaimed journal German History, which is published four times a year on behalf of the Society by Oxford University Press. Grants The Society received a smaller number of applications than usual for its grants and bursary schemes, given the disruption to research and travel due to COVID. However, there have been significant increases from last year in applications for in-person language-course grants, and applications to the new hardship fund. The Society has taken care to be flexible in what the awards can be allocated towards – for instance, if research travel were not possible, to consider applications for cost of book purchases and digitising. For a full financial breakdown of expenditure on grants and bursaries, see the Financial Review section below. GHS Postgraduate awards 2021-22 GHS/DAAD language course awards (850 Euro each, paid half by GHS, half by DAAD): There was continuing disruption from Covid but two new awards were made and three students asked to roll over awards to 21/22 year with permission from the DAAD. Small research grants (of up to £1250 each):

	5 applications were received in August 2021 and 5 awarded 2 applications were received in January 2022 and awarded 3 applications were received in April and awarded Hardship grants (of up to £500 each) 2 applications were received in January 2022 and awarded 2 applications were received in April 2022 and awarded Major Bursaries (£2500 each) We had 5 applications and made 2 awards, and offered 1 an award of a small grant equivalent. Conference funding scheme We had 1 application and award (up to £2700) Exhibition Funding Scheme – a team of researchers led by Edward Wouk (Manchester) preparing an exhibition entitled ‘Albrecht Dürer’s Material World’ (to be held at The Whitworth, Manchester, 2023–24) was awarded £2,000. Prizes RHS/GHS Postgraduate Essay prize The German History Society awards a prize of £500 to the winner of this annual essay competition. In addition, the essays are considered for publication in German History journal. Winners of the 2022 Postgraduate Essay Prize: Carmel Heeley (QMUL) for ‘Jewish Innovations to Conceptions of ‘German Belonging’: The Case of Munich Jewish Businesses’. Antonia Anstatt (Oxford) for ‘Empress and Virgin: Female Sainthood in the Early Thirteenth Century’. Joint runners up were Ingrid Schreiber (Oxford): ‘Solitude and Sociability in Christian Jakob Kraus (1753-1807)’ and Frederick Crofts (Cambridge): ‘Calvinist Heidelberg and the East: Marcus zum Lamm Collects Turcica, c. 1600’. GHS Undergraduate Essay Prize The German History Society offers an annual prize of £300 for the best undergraduate dissertation on German History written by a student of history (single

		or joint honours, or in a cognate discipline) at a UK or Irish university. Runner-up prizes of £100 each may also be offered at the judges' discretion. The prizes were awarded to: Charlotte Dos Remedios (University of Warwick), 'Women's Bodies in Auschwitz: An Exploration of the Psychological Implications of Malnourishment on Female Prisoners' (first prize); Anastasia Rasch-Murphy (University of Warwick), 'Remembering the Marginalised: Epilepsy and Epileptics in Nazi Germany, 1933-1945' (runner-up prize) and Charlotte Rayner (University of Exeter), 'Visions of Nationalism: The Role of the Emperor-Class Liners in Imperial Germany's Nation Building, 1910-1914' (runner-up prize). Equality and Inclusion Prize For the first time, the Society initiated an award for critical interventions in debates on gender, minorities, migration, ethnicity and equality, including research on critical race studies, LGBTQ+ and queer studies, and disability studies, related to any aspect of the history of Germany and the German-speaking world in its broadest global context. The prize was awarded for the first time in September 2022. German History Article Prize Each year German History's editorial board awards a prize on the behalf of The German History Society for the best article published in the journal. The prize is intended to showcase outstanding work from scholars of German history whatever their career stage, and the winner is invited to receive their award at the annual meeting of the German History Society in September. The prize is worth £500, with an additional £250 of books provided by OUP. Oxford Journals makes the prize-winning articles freely available online. The winner of the prize in 2021 was Holly Fletcher, whose article 'Belly-Worshippers and Greed-Paunches': Fatness and the Belly in the Lutheran Reformation', was published in German History 39(2), June 2021, pp. 173-200. Journal The journal continues to experience a good flow of submissions, largely from early-career scholars based in the UK, US and Germany, although the regular submission of articles from further afield attests to the journal's global reach. Two special issues were in development, both seeking to span early modern,

		modern and contemporary history. Publication slots are currently filled until summer 2024. The majority of articles submitted are by early-career scholars but there is also a regular flow of submissions by more senior scholars. In terms of subjects, the articles submitted cover the full range of German history from the early Middle Ages to the present. The journal thus continues to fulfil its mission to be the pre-eminent English-language journal for German history and to command respect throughout the world, including the German-speaking lands. Book Series The German History Society has established its own book series, Studies in German History, in collaboration with its long-standing publishing partner Oxford University Press. The series reflects the German History Society's long-standing mission to promote the best scholarship in the broad field of German history, and seeks to build on the innovative directions established by the Society's journal in recent years. Taking an open, expansive view of what German History is and where that history has been played out, it envisions a broad chronological and geographic scope that encompasses topics from the medieval period to the present day; it seeks to go beyond the traditional confines of German history by adopting a comparative approach or exploring themes that entwine the history of the German-speaking lands with that of other parts of the world; it aims to solicit titles that are intellectually ambitious, whether in their engagement with novel paradigms or their use of concepts and methods from other disciplines; and it seeks to publish work that reaches a readership beyond immediate specialists in a particular field. Above all, it seeks to publish work that engages with historical questions of wider relevance across German and other histories. The series has now published a total of eleven books. Two appeared during the reporting period: □ Marjorie Elizabeth Plummer, 'Stripping the Veil: Convent Reform, Protestant Nuns, and Female Devotional Life in Sixteenth-Century Germany' (March 2022) □ Sarah Greer, 'Commemorating Power in Early Medieval Saxony' (October 2021) Two more have appeared since: □ Patrick Milton, 'Intervention and State Sovereignty in Central Europe, 1500-1780' (November 2022)

	□ Marcus Colla, 'Prussia in the Historical Culture of the German Democratic Republic' (October 2022) Martin Christ's 'Biographies of a Reformation' (2021) won the REFORC book award and the Ecclesiastical History Society book award and Craig Griffiths' 'The Ambivalence of Gay Liberation' (2021) was shortlisted for the RHS's Gladstone Prize. Our contract with OUP is to publish 2-4 books per year, so we are well on target, and we currently have two completed manuscripts and a number of very strong proposals in hand. Outreach In April 2022 – April 2023 Jeff Bowersox and his committee worked on four outreach projects, all of which are ongoing. The first, which is ongoing, was the production of a series of videos on objects in German history featuring members of the German History Society. These brief videos use an unusual or otherwise unremarkable historical artifact to tell a broader story, for example about eating habits in the eighteenth century, about the experience of the First World War or the Holocaust or about the course of the Cold War. These videos will be provided free of charge on the GHS website and are intended to be of value not just for the general public but specifically for schoolteachers and sixth-form students in the UK and Ireland. The second is a collaboration with the Wiener Library to produce a CPD event for teachers around Jewish history and the Holocaust. Jeff Bowersox also developed links with centres like the National Holocaust Centre and Museum in Nottingham and the Weidenfeld Institute of Jewish Studies in Brighton in order to facilitate future projects. The third is a collaboration with partner organizations like the Association of German Studies (UK) and the German Studies Association (USA) to produce and distribute resources to support the teaching of German language and German history in the UK and Ireland. This year, Jeff Bowersox renewed contacts that were disrupted by the pandemic and together laid out common priorities that will be used in the coming year to lay out a plan of action. The fourth, and related, activity, is the development of an essay competition to encourage the study of German history among pre-university students. Jeff Bowersox and the committee met with the coordinators of existing essay competitions (e.g. Katrin Kohl of the Oxford German Network) to get guidance on best practices and how to support

Financial Review

Review of the charity's financial position at the end of the period	Para 1.21	Please find the detailed end of year financial statement on the following pages.
Statement explaining the policy for holding reserves stating why they are held	Para 1.22	We continue to experience the longer impact of the pandemic. Some projects, conferences, postgraduate research plans involving travel, as well as the language courses that we support had been postponed, cancelled, or took place online, and we continued to support these projects if applicants wished to see the money transferred into a new financial cycle. We had earmarked the difference from the spendings of two years ago for projects carried into the future, as well as for applications during the last year. Already last year, we spent £8,126 more than in the previous year which shows that the impact of the pandemic was getting smaller. We are proud to announce the income and spending was in balance this financial year (see attached report). We continue to financially support projects carried on due to the impact of the pandemic, as well as future applications.
