Objectives and Activities

	SORP reference
Summary of the purposes of the charity as set out in its governing document	Para 1.17	The German History Society ("the Society") 1. Objects The Objects of the Society are, for the public benefit in the United Kingdom and the Republic of Ireland: 1.1 To advance education in, and promote the study of, German history, including the history of German-speaking lands, in particular but not exclusively by: 1.1.1 Organising public conferences, lectures and events on topics relating to German history; 1.1.2 Creating and fostering links between academics, students, scholarly bodies and other individuals and organisations engaged with or interested in German history; 1.1.3 Producing and disseminating publications, online resources and other media to provide information relating to the subject and study of German history; and 1.1.4 Providing grants and bursaries for study or research into German history, and awarding prizes for exceptional academic work relating to German history, in particular but not exclusively to students and early career scholars. 1.2 Nothing in this Constitution shall authorise an application of the property of the Society for purposes which are not charitable in accordance with section 7 of the Charities and Trustee Investment (Scotland) Act 2005 and section 2 of the Charities Act (Northern Ireland) 2008.

Summary of the main activities in relation to those purposes for the public benefit, in particular, the activities, projects or services identified in the accounts.	Para 1.17 and 1.19	The Society promotes learning in the history of Germany and the German-speaking world. It does this, broadly, through events, publication/dissemination of print and online information, awarding grants for study/research and fostering a network of academics, students and other individuals and organisations interested in the discipline. The Society exists to benefit the public at large and many benefits are accessible to all. However, the Society encourages those with an interest in German history to become members and membership confers additional benefits. Membership is easy to obtain and affordable: the cost is £27/year for general membership and £8/year for student membership, which is a lower fee than that charged by many other membership organisations. Members of the Society can access various benefits, which are designed to promote their learning, including automatic subscription to the Society's own journal, eligibility to apply for bursaries/grants and free attendance at the Society's annual conference and various other events. The Society's journal, German History, includes articles/research and other information relevant the field and represents an excellent educational resource. In addition, the Society's website includes a comprehensive list of links to relevant study and research resources, to assist students, scholars and other interested parties to develop their learning in the area. The Society's annual conference and other events provide a platform for leading speakers in German history to showcase their work and educate attendees. These events also facilitate networking between those working, studying or interested in the discipline, thereby providing opportunities to advance education through the sharing of knowledge and ideas. Bursaries and grants allow students and early career scholars to fund items that otherwise may have been unaffordable to them, including study fees, research trips, attending or putting on conferences/events, amongst other things. These awards therefore broaden access to the field and promote learning. The Society also awards various prizes for outstanding work in the field of German history, including a postgraduate essay prize, EDI prize and undergraduate dissertation prize, which are open to students at UK and Irish universities, and a prize for the best article published each year in German History journal. The Society exists to advance education in the history of Germany and the German-speaking world and is

		committed to activities that enable the public at large to become engaged in this discipline. Non-members can subscribe to the German History journal and attend the Society's annual conference and other events, subject to payment of a fee. Therefore, many of the benefits enjoyed by members are available more widely at cost, and therefore contribute to the Society's aims of advancing education in German history for the benefit of the public at large. Furthermore, membership of the Society is open to any person who is studying, teaching or researching German history, or who supports the aims of the Society or is simply interested in the topic. There is no limit on membership numbers. Therefore although members gain benefits by virtue of their membership, anyone with an interest in the area can become a member and therefore enjoy these benefits.
Statement confirming whether the trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit	Para 1.18	The trustees, in making decisions, have had due regard to the commission's public benefit guidance when exercising any powers or duties to which the guidance is relevant.

Achievements and Performance

	SORP reference
Summary of the main achievements of the charity, identifying the difference the charity's work has made to the circumstances of its beneficiaries and any wider benefits to society as a whole.	Para 1.20	Annual Conference In 2022, the Society's annual conference was held at Sheffield Hallam University (with the potential for additional online participation) from 8-10 September. The conference included around 70 participants (speakers, chairs, discussants) from across the globe, representing researchers at all levels from postgraduates and early career researchers to established senior scholars. Plenary lectures were given by Walter Sauer (University of Vienna), Hannah Murphy (King's College London), and Gerhild Scholz Williams (Washington University in St. Louis). Members and non-members alike were able to attend the conference and broaden their knowledge of German history and culture. Other Events On 8 September 2022, prior to the GHS annual conference, two workshops were held for Postgraduates and Early Career Researchers on effective grant-writing and submitting publications respectively – these were very well-attended. The GHS also supported the annual 'German History in the North' conference, as well as the Wiener Library's 'Holocaust Letters' virtual exhibition, launched in June 2023. An exhibition and virtual reality experience part-funded by the GHS entitled 'Behind the Wire: Internment during the First World War' was held at the German Historical Institute during spring and summer 2023.

		GHS Ukraine Fellowship In summer 2022, Dr Natalia Gromakova joined the University of Aberdeen's Centre for Polish-Lithuanian Studies as part of the 'Scholars at Risk' Fellowship programme for Ukraine, sponsored by the German History Society in collaboration with the Royal Historical Society. Dr Gromakova specialises in the social and associational life of minorities, including Polish and German speakers in the nineteenth-century Ukrainian lands occupied by Austria and Russia after the Third Partition of Poland in 1795 up to the First World War. She fled her home in Bucha, around 20km north-west of Kyiv, with her daughter on March 11. Dr Gromakova had been working at the National Pedagogical University in Kyiv as a postdoctoral researcher. She and daughter Olena were able to evacuate the town, which had been under relentless shelling since the outbreak of war, but her husband remained behind to support those defending the country. The GHS contributed £5,000 to fund Dr. Gromakova's Fellowship. Since then, Dr Gromakova has delivered several papers, including one at Cambridge, and the University of Aberdeen has matched the GHS/RHS funding to enable her to stay on the fellowship for a whole year, until the end of May 2023. Membership In May 2023, the Society had 175 members (125 waged, 50 unwaged). The Society's expanded use of social media had an appreciable impact in this regard. Members of the Society are able to attend the annual conference without paying a fee, and are eligible for the Society's prizes, grants, and bursaries. Membership of the Society also includes a subscription at significantly discounted rates to the internationally-acclaimed journal German History, which is published four times a year on behalf of the Society by Oxford University Press. Grants Applications for grants have seen a recovery since Covid which is encouraging. New web forms have helped to produce much better applications with fuller information on projects and research as a whole. The decision to uplift bursaries to £2500 and small grants to £1500 in light of inflation and rising challenges for

		ECRs/postgrad has also been popular and helped students to consider more ambitious projects. For a full financial breakdown of expenditure on grants and bursaries, see the Financial Review section below. GHS Postgraduate awards 2022-3 Small grants and bursaries: Research travel: 11 grants were awarded Conference travel: 11 grants were awarded Most applications were for conference travel and we normally allow £150 but with the rising cost of inflation we allowed up to £250. Two other applications were received for research trips and we granted the full amount. All proposals bar one were of a high enough standard to be accepted during the course of this reporting period. Conference funding: We received one application which was granted in full (£1500). Language-course funding (DAAD): We received one application (match-funded with the DAAD). Exhibition Funding Scheme – funding was awarded to ‘Internment during the First World War: The Global German Experience’ (German Historical Institute London); ‘Britain’s response to the persecution of Jews under Nazism’ (virtual interactive exhibition, University of Reading), and ‘Tanks on the Streets: The Uprising of 17 June 1953 in East Germany’ (presented through posters and audio material created by students at the University of Chester and their Artist in Residence, Steph Coathupe, curated by Dr Richard Millington). Funding was also awarded to support the transformation of the Wiener Library’s ‘Holocaust Letters’ physical exhibition into a virtual exhibition, which was launched at a virtual panel event on the evening of 14 June 2023, in partnership with the German Historical Institute-London, German Historical Institute-Washington, and the Holocaust Research Institute, Royal Holloway University of London. Prizes RHS/GHS Postgraduate Essay prize The German History Society awards a prize of £500 to the winner of this annual essay competition. In

		addition, the essays are considered for publication in German History journal. Winners of the 2023 Postgraduate Essay Prize: Anna McEwan (University of Glasgow / ZZf, Potsdam) - 'Gendered Forms of State Assistance in the DFD-Beratungsstellen' (first prize). Harry Legg (University of Edinburgh) - 'Stuck Inside the Volksgemeinschaft: The Social Lives of Non-Jewish "Full Jews" in Nazi Germany and Austria' (runner-up). GHS Undergraduate Essay Prize The German History Society offers an annual prize of £300 for the best undergraduate dissertation on German History written by a student of history (single or joint honours, or in a cognate discipline) at a UK or Irish university. Runner-up prizes of £100 each may also be offered at the judges' discretion. The prizes were awarded to: Orli Vogt-Vincent (University of Cambridge), 'Prisoners as Perpetrators? Nazi Concentration Camp Brothels, Masculinity, and Memory'. (first prize); Emily Calcraft (University of Sheffield), 'The Natural and the Unnatural': Antisemitic Portrayals of Jewish Gender and Sexuality in Weimar Germany' (runner-up prize) and Michelle Kiessling (Sheffield Hallam University), 'Perceptions and Representations of German War-Neurotics: A Study of Weimar Medical Literature, Art, and Media c. 1914-1933' (runner-up prize). Equality and Inclusion Prize For the first time, the Society initiated an award for critical interventions in debates on gender, minorities, migration, ethnicity and equality, including research on critical race studies, LGBTQ+ and queer studies, and disability studies, related to any aspect of the history of Germany and the German-speaking world in its broadest global context. The prize was awarded for the first time in September 2022. The prize in the ECR category was awarded to Dr. Bodie Ashton (Erfurt) for his essay "The Parallel Lives of Liddy Bacroff: Transgender (Pre-)History and the Tyranny of the Archive in Twentieth-Century Germany". The prize in the undergraduate category was awarded to Chloe Marsden (Durham) for her essay "Neue Frau".

		and Die Freundin: The Formulation of Distinct Lesbian Identities and Subcultures in the Weimar Republic". German History Article Prize Each year German History's editorial board awards a prize on the behalf of The German History Society for the best article published in the journal. The prize is intended to showcase outstanding work from scholars of German history whatever their career stage, and the winner is invited to receive their award at the annual meeting of the German History Society in September. The prize is worth £500, with an additional £250 of books provided by OUP. Oxford Journals makes the prize-winning articles freely available online. The winner of the prize in 2022 was Natalie R Cincotta, whose article 'Ideal Men and Dream Women: Computer Matchmaking in twen during the West German Sex Wave, 1967–1970', was published in German History 40(1), pp. 107-122. Journal The journal continues to experience a good flow of submissions, largely from early-career scholars based in the UK, US and Germany, although the regular submission of articles from further afield attests to the journal's global reach. Four special issues are in development on churches in German warfare, climate change knowledge in the German-speaking lands, on German colonial history, and nineteenth-century German monarchy in transnational perspective. In terms of chronological range, they span early modern, modern and contemporary history. Publication slots are currently filled until spring 2026. While the majority of articles submitted are by early-career scholars, there is also a regular flow of submissions by more senior scholars. In terms of subjects, the articles submitted cover the full range of German history from the early Middle Ages to the present. The journal thus continues to fulfil its mission to be the pre-eminent English-language journal for German history and to command respect throughout the world, including the German-speaking lands. Book Series The German History Society has established its own book series, Studies in German History, in collaboration with its long-standing publishing partner Oxford University Press. The series reflects the German History Society's long-standing mission to promote the best scholarship in the broad field of German history, and seeks to build

		on the innovative directions established by the Society's journal in recent years. Taking an open, expansive view of what German History is and where that history has been played out, it envisions a broad chronological and geographic scope that encompasses topics from the medieval period to the present day; it seeks to go beyond the traditional confines of German history by adopting a comparative approach or exploring themes that entwine the history of the German-speaking lands with that of other parts of the world; it aims to solicit titles that are intellectually ambitious, whether in their engagement with novel paradigms or their use of concepts and methods from other disciplines; and it seeks to publish work that reaches a readership beyond immediate specialists in a particular field. Above all, it seeks to publish work that engages with historical questions of wider relevance across German and other histories. The series has now published a total of twelve books, with two appearing during the reporting period: Prussia in the Historical Culture of the German Democratic Republic by Marcus Colla and Intervention and State Sovereignty in Central Europe, 1500-1780 by Patrick Milton. Our contract with OUP is to publish 2-4 books per year. The slight slowdown in the rate of publication this year reflects the disruptiveness of the pandemic to academic life a couple of years ago. Outreach Jeff Bowersox and his committee worked on four outreach projects, all of which are ongoing. <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1) Glimpses of German History: Working with a filmmaker based at UCL named Matt Aucott and camera-ready GHS members, we have made seven short films. All seven are now complete and hosted on our GHS website and YouTube channel, where we are getting good viewing traffic. Working with our communications officer we are promoting them, and partner organisations like the German Studies Association (USA) are sharing them more widely. 2) Creative research competition: Attached to the film series is a competition aimed at secondary school students in the UK and Ireland. To promote an interest in German history, language, and culture we are inviting students to submit a creative research project related in some way to the themes in the film series Glimpses of German History. The winner will win £250 for her/himself and

		another £250 for the school to promote German history instruction. The second prize winner will take home £150. We have spread the word and are hopeful that we will get a good response, and I have already had expressions of interest and questions from a few teachers. We will promote the project further in the coming months. 3) Wiener Library events: The Wiener Library in London is very keen to work with GHS members to run events for students and teachers and to develop a programme that will run throughout the year, scheduled to align with anniversaries and commemorative months and the like. We have run two events so far this year: an October workshop on The Oppression of the Black Community under the Nazis (Robbie Aitken and Jeff Bowersox) and a February workshop on what Germans knew of Nazi crimes (Neil Gregor). We are inviting further volunteers among the GHS membership to submit proposals for future workshops. 4) Mentorship for GHS members: As part of our remit to support GHS members at all career stages and especially those who come from backgrounds traditionally under-represented in our field, I have been working with professional organisations including the Society for the Study of French History (UK and Ireland), the Association for the Study of Modern Italy, and the Association for Contemporary Iberian Studies to set up a mentorship programme.

Statement explaining the policy for holding reserves stating why they are held	Para 1.22	We continue to experience the longer impact of the pandemic. Some projects, conferences, postgraduate research plans involving travel, as well as the language courses that we support had been postponed, cancelled, or took place online, and we continued to support these projects if applicants wished to see the money transferred into a new financial cycle. We are proactively seeking to spend our reserves and have this year, for example, financed new initiatives such as the video series 'Glimpses of German History' and the 'GHS Rethinking German History Prize'. We fund a very high proportion of the applications for funding we receive and continue to explore how to increase the future volume of applications.
