| Summary of the main activities in relation to those purposes for the public benefit, in particular, the activities, projects or services identified in the accounts. | Para 1.17 and 1.19 | The Society promotes learning in the history of Germany and the German-speaking world. It does this, broadly, through events, publication/dissemination of print and online information, awarding grants for study/research and fostering a network of academics, students and other individuals and organisations interested in the discipline. The Society exists to benefit the public at large and many benefits are accessible to all. However, the Society encourages those with an interest in German history to become members and membership confers additional benefits. Membership is easy to obtain and affordable: the cost is £34/year for general membership and £4/year for student membership, which is a lower fee than that charged by many other membership organisations. Members of the Society can access various benefits, which are designed to promote their learning, including automatic subscription to the Society's own journal, eligibility to apply for bursaries/grants and free attendance at the Society's annual conference and various other events. The Society's journal, German History, includes articles/research and other information relevant the field and represents an excellent educational resource. In addition, the Society's website includes a comprehensive list of links to relevant study and research resources, to assist students, scholars and other interested parties to develop their learning in the area. The Society's annual conference and other events provide a platform for leading speakers in German history to showcase their work and educate attendees. These events also facilitate networking between those working, studying or interested in the discipline, thereby providing opportunities to advance education through the sharing of knowledge and ideas. Bursaries and grants allow students and early career scholars to fund items that otherwise may have been unaffordable to them, including study fees, research trips, attending or putting on conferences/events, language training, amongst other things. These awards, therefore, broaden access to the field and promote learning. The Society also awards various prizes for outstanding work in the field of German history, including a postgraduate essay prize, EDI prize and undergraduate dissertation prize, which are open to students at UK and Irish universities, and a prize for the best article published each year in German History journal. The Society exists to advance education in the history of Germany and the German-speaking world and is |

|--|-----------|--|
|  |           | committed to activities that enable the public at large to become engaged in this discipline. Non-members can subscribe to the German History journal and attend the Society's annual conference and other events, subject to payment of a small fee. Therefore, many of the benefits enjoyed by members are available more widely at cost, and therefore, contribute to the Society's aims of advancing education in German history for the benefit of the public at large. Furthermore, membership of the Society is open to any person who is studying, teaching or researching German history, or who supports the aims of the Society or is simply interested in the topic. There is no limit on membership numbers. Therefore, although members gain benefits by virtue of their membership, anyone with an interest in the area can become a member and therefore enjoy these benefits. |
| Statement confirming whether the trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit | Para 1.18 | The trustees, in making decisions, have had due regard to the Commission's public benefit guidance when exercising any powers or duties to which the guidance is relevant.   |

Achievements and Performance

|   | SORPreference |  |
|---|-------------------|--|
| Summary of the main achievements of the charity, identifying the difference the charity's work has made to the circumstances of its beneficiaries and any wider benefits to society as a whole. | Para 1.20         | Annual Conference In 2024, the Society's annual conference was held at Loughborough University from 4–6 September. The conference included around 65 participants (speakers, chairs, discussants) from across the globe, representing researchers at all levels from postgraduates and early career researchers to established senior scholars. Plenary keynote lectures were given by professors Lyndal Roper (University of Oxford), Paul Nolte (FU Berlin), and James Brophy (University of Delaware). Members and non-members alike were able to attend the conference and broaden their knowledge of German history and culture. Other Events On 4 September 2024, prior to the GHS annual conference, a workshop was held for Postgraduates and Early Career Researchers on effective grant-writing and submitting publications – this was well-attended. The GHS also provided support through its Impact and Outreach grant to fund the planning of a digital exhibition on Britain's response to the persecution of Jews under Nazism. Additionally, Tanks on the Streets: The Uprising of 17 June 1953 in East Germany, a free exhibition commemorating the 70th anniversary of the first Cold War uprising in Germany, was presented at the University of Chester. Some films and artworks were also shown at the Storyhouse Cultural Centre in Chester during the summer of 2023. |

|  |  |  |
|--|--|--|
|  |  | Membership In May 2025, the Society had 180 members (98 waged and 82 unwaged). The high number of unwaged members suggests that the Society is accessible to them. The expanded use of multiple social media channels has played a significant role in this achievement. Members of the Society are able to attend the annual conference without paying a fee, and are eligible for the Society's prizes, grants, and bursaries. Membership of the Society also includes a subscription to the internationally-acclaimed journal German History, which is published four times a year on behalf of the Society by Oxford University Press. Grants Grant applications in most areas are high, which is encouraging. The decision to extend the definition of early career researchers from two to five years—reflecting the increasing challenges faced by postgraduates and ECRs—has been well received, enabling more precariously placed or early-stage scholars to undertake more ambitious work. For a full financial breakdown of expenditure on grants and bursaries, see the Financial Review section below. GHS Postgraduate awards 2024–5 Small grants and bursaries: Small Grants: £5,084.60 was awarded to 10 applicants in August 2024 (x 8 conference attendance, x2 research support) £6,500 was awarded to 5 applicants in January 2025 (x 4 workshop/conference organisation, x1 conference travel) £2,450 was awarded to 3 applicants in April 2025 (x1 workshop organisation, x 2 conference travel) Up to £1,500 is available to applicants to fund research or conference travel or workshop/conference organisation. Postgraduate Bursaries: £11,880 was awarded to 6 applicants in April 2024. |
|--|--|--|

|--|--|
|  | Up to £2,500 is available to applicants to fund language courses, archive study trips, fees or general maintenance. Hardship Funding: £500 was awarded to 1 applicant in August 2024. Applications are offered for up to three grants of up to £500 each annually to support historians who are experiencing difficulties in carrying out their research owing to unexpected financial hardship. GHS – DAAD Language Grant: €850 was awarded, divided between the GHS and DAAD, to 1 applicant in April 2025 to attend a German language course. Exhibition and Outreach Funding Scheme The existing Exhibition Funding Scheme was expanded to include outreach activities and renamed Exhibition and Outreach Funding Scheme. During this reporting period, £6,452 was awarded and disbursed. To highlight these initiatives at the annual conference, a dedicated panel for awardees was introduced. The application process has also been moved to a rolling basis to accommodate projects that do not align with the previous fixed April deadline. Funding supported the launch of The Wandering Jew travelling exhibition (Parkes Institute for the Study of Jewish/non-Jewish Relations, University of Southampton), presented during Inter Faith Week as part of a literary, artistic, and historical programme. The exhibition explores how the legend has been reimagined as a vehicle for interfaith tolerance and as a motif of Jewish resilience and cultural richness. Additional funding was awarded for A Place of Refuge, a portable exhibition on Jewish refugee academics who fled Nazi Germany and later built scholarly careers at the University of Southampton. It was displayed at the university's annual Hands-on Humanities Day in autumn 2024. Further support was granted to Mercy Squad, a cooperative, in-person educational game to be implemented at New College Lanarkshire, Scotland. Aimed at Scottish Highers students—and suitable for A-level students across the UK—it examines the roles of perpetrators and rescuers in the Third Reich. Prizes GHS Postgraduate Essay prize |

|--|--|
|  | The GHS Postgraduate Essay Prize recognises outstanding research by postgraduate students in the field of German history and awards a prize of £500 to the winner of this annual essay competition. In addition, the essays are considered for publication in German History journal. In 2025, the prize was advertised through a range of academic channels, and six submissions were received. Following review of the submissions, first prize was awarded to Anja Segmüller (University of Cambridge) for ‘Body, Art, Collective: Künstlerinnengruppe Erfurt and Feminist Performance Art in the GDR and Beyond’, and second prize to Emma Paterson (University of Cambridge) for ‘German-Jewish Family History Research, c.1900–1945’. GHS Undergraduate Essay Prize The German History Society offers an annual prize of £300 for the best undergraduate dissertation on German History written by a student of history (single or joint honours, or in a cognate discipline) at a UK or Irish university. Runner-up prizes of £100 each may also be offered at the judges’ discretion. The prizes were awarded as follows: 1st Prize: Alexander Beard, ‘Migration according to plan’: A cultural history of Vietnamese contract labour in East Germany, 1980-1990.’ Runner-Up: Eleanor Vincent, ‘Representations of the body in the works of Mechthild of Magdeburg and Gertrude of Helfta, c. 1250-1302.’ (University of Cambridge) With the aim of making their research more accessible to a wider public and enhancing these students’ visibility, we have reinvigorated the blog section of our website, where awardees contribute a post. Rethinking German History Prize The German History Society launched a new prize to recognise critical interventions in debates on gender, minorities, migration, ethnicity, and equality, as well as transnational and comparative history. The prize welcomes work engaging with critical race studies, LGBTQ+ and queer studies, and disability studies, in relation to any aspect of the history of Germany and the German-speaking world in its broadest global context. The first Rethinking German History Prize, worth £500, was awarded to Miguel Gaete Cáceres for ‘A New Moral World Order: Carl Alexander Simon and the German Colonization of Southern Chile’ which was |

|  |  | published in the Society's journal German History in December 2024. German History Article Prize Each year German History's editorial board awards a prize on the behalf of The German History Society for the best article published in the journal. The prize is intended to showcase outstanding work from scholars of German history whatever their career stage, and the winner is invited to receive their award at the annual meeting of the German History Society in September. The prize is worth £500, with an additional £250 of books provided by OUP. Oxford Journals makes the prize-winning articles freely available online. The winner of the prize was Joachim C Häberlen, whose article "'Democracy at Play: Adventure Playgrounds in the Federal Republic of Germany, 1967–1984' and will be published at the end of 2025. Journal The journal continues to receive a steady flow of submissions, largely from early-career scholars based in the UK, the US and Germany, though regular contributions from further afield attest to its global reach. During this reporting period, a special issue on Anglo-German Empire between Nationalist Antagonism and Transimperial Cooperation, 1895–1925 was published, alongside another titled Houses of Worship in Times of War. Further special issues are in the pipeline, spanning a wide chronological range from early modern to contemporary history. Publication slots are currently filled until early 2027. While most submissions come from early-career scholars, there is also a consistent stream of articles from more senior academics. In terms of subject matter, submissions cover the full sweep of German history, from the early Middle Ages to the present. The journal thus continues to fulfil its aim of serving as a leading English-language forum for German history and of maintaining a strong international reputation, including within the German-speaking world. Book Series The German History Society has established its own book series, Studies in German History, in collaboration with its long-standing publishing partner Oxford University Press. The series reflects the German History Society's long-standing mission to promote the best scholarship in the broad field of German history and seeks to build on the |

|  |  | innovative directions established by the Society's journal in recent years. Taking an open, expansive view of what German History is and where that history has been played out, it envisions a broad chronological and geographic scope that encompasses topics from the medieval period to the present day; it seeks to go beyond the traditional confines of German history by adopting a comparative approach or exploring themes that entwine the history of the German-speaking lands with that of other parts of the world; it aims to solicit titles that are intellectually ambitious, whether in their engagement with novel paradigms or their use of concepts and methods from other disciplines; and it seeks to publish work that reaches a readership beyond immediate specialists in a particular field. Above all, it seeks to publish work that engages with historical questions of wider relevance across German and other histories. The series has now published a total of fifteen books, including one that appeared during the reporting period: Emergency Powers and the Home Fronts in Britain and Germany during the First World War by André Keil, published in April 2025. At the time of reporting, three additional books had been accepted and were in the pipeline. Our contract with OUP commits us to publishing between two and four books per calendar year. The editorial board changed during this reporting period to bring in new perspectives and give space to new voices, contributing to the renewal of the field, supporting the aims of the series, and extending knowledge of German history. Outreach Caroline Sharples has been continuing work on our two main outreach projects, both of which are ongoing. 1. Glimpses of German History: Filming was completed for a second series of short films by GHS members, each focusing on a specific object from German history and aimed at an audience of secondary school students and their teachers. The film series continues to cover a wide chronology (medieval, early modern, modern) of German history topics, and showcases a rich array of artefacts. The most recent videos, for instance, encompasses the reliquary of St Oswald, stained glass windows, a samovar and a denazification questionnaire. In the process, the GHS continues to forge collaborative relationships with museums, archives and other educational institutions who make it possible for us to |

The Creative Research Competition: This is a competition for secondary school students in the UK and Ireland, designed to foster interest in German history, language and culture and linked closely to the Glimpses of German History film series. This year, after consultation with several school teachers, it was decided to delay the opening of the competition until the start of the new school year (September 2025). This enables schools to have a longer lead-in time for planning their responses, and potentially organise related talks and workshops with GHS members. Participants are invited to submit a creative research project inspired by themes from our film series. The winner receives £250, with an additional £250 awarded to their school to support the teaching of German history. We continue to encourage collaboration between GHS members and the Wiener Holocaust Library in London to run talks and workshops for students and teachers, and we are discussing similar opportunities for collaboration on school events with the Association for German Studies. |

| Review of the charity's financial position at the end of the period              | Para 1.21 | Please find the detailed end of year financial statement on the following pages.   |
| Statement explaining the policy for holding reserves stating why they are held   | Para 1.22 | We continue to experience the longer impact of the pandemic. Some projects, conferences, postgraduate research plans involving travel, as well as the language courses that we support had been postponed, cancelled, or took place online, and we continued to support these projects if applicants wished to see the money transferred into a new financial cycle. We are proactively seeking to spend our reserves and have this year (2023/24) increased the value of the postgraduate bursaries we dispense from £2,000 to £2,500 and significantly expanded the eligibility criterion from within 2 years of passing the PhD to within 5 years. We fund a very high proportion of the applications for funding we receive and continue to explore how to increase the future volume of applications. |
