

Hey Jude Charity Annual Report

April 2020-April 2021

The pandemic has resulted in our inability to move forward, with a number of projects having to be postponed for the second year in a row. Our charity relies on personal communication with those in need of help and advice. Unfortunately, the fear that has been instilled into the general population has resulted in people being very reluctant to come and visit the charity.

As we have no other form of income from government sources or elsewhere, we are totally dependent on personal donations. As a result we have suffered immeasurably from the restrictions imposed over the last two years.

The projects have been put on hold till our financial situation has improved but fortunately we have no wages to pay or other outgoings at the present time.

Dr. Henry Mannings (on behalf of the trustees).
