Section C Objectives and activities

Summary of the objects of the charity set out in its governing document

1.To promote for the benefit of the public the conservation and protection of species of wildlife that are in danger of extinction in the wild, in particular but not exclusively those of the order Crocodilia, Lamniformes, Carnivora and Accipitriformes. 2. To advance the education of the public in the conservation of endangered species in particular but not exclusively those of the order Crocodilia, Lamniformes, Carnivora and Accipitriformes and the protection of the natural environment by such means as the trustees decide.

Summary of the main activities undertaken for the public benefit in relation to these objects (include within this section the statutory declaration that trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit)

Apex Extreme has been active in ensuring that all its actions carried out in its first year have had public benefit. The activities of Apex Extreme benefit all ages by developing their knowledge of the natural world and wildlife conservation. Educational talks target, but not exclusively, children and young adults in order to guide them to become future ambassadors of wildlife conservation. Educational talks are being supported with a mixture of resources such as: Replica anatomical parts of apex predators (e.g. skulls, teeth, claws), informative posters and flyers, power point presentations, video presentations, quizzes and puzzles.

Outreach Activities: Primary and secondary schools, clubs (brownies, scouts) participating in educational talks benefit from Apex Extreme lesson plans which are specifically designed to complement learning in the classroom.

Website: The website presents educational material on apex predator physiology / biology / behaviour and conservation topics. The website's resources are available at no cost to the public. Materials created aid Apex Extreme's education and awareness campaigns for nature, the environment and the current threats imposed on apex predators as keystone species in the ecosystems they support. As an educational resource, the website provides puzzles and quizzes and creative opportunities through to challenge the public on their knowledge of apex predators and provide possible solutions for how mankind can contribute to a more sustainable way of living to protect all life forms from extinction. Activities on the Apex Extreme website are delivered in a way to advance IT, Maths, English and Creative skills.

Social Media: Social media platforms (Instagram and Facebook) provide opportunity to reach the public on a global scale and raise awareness for the conservation of apex predators and the physiological and behavioural traits of different species and how they contribute to the ecosystems as keystone species, promoting the use of science and biology to the public through delivery of information

Trustees continue discussions and potentially creating a working relationship to promote awareness for marine ecosystems and the wildlife that live within them. Discussions continue how both parties can make a significant impact on educating the young minds of today to become better caretakers of the future. Sharky Publishing are writers and illustrators of children's books with a focus on education and wildlife conservation.

The new website continues to receive updates and further planning to improve functionality and more of an educational experience to younger visitors.

Our Trustee successfully completed a Rucking for lions challenge (started 1st June 2024 and finished 21st September 2024) covering 817 miles over 113 consecutive days carrying a weighted backpack weighing no less than 35lbs.
