Achievements and Performance

	SORP reference
Summary of the main achievements of the charity, identifying the difference the charity's work has made to the circumstances of its beneficiaries and any wider benefits to society as a whole.	Para 1.20	The work carried out by the charity has been immensely valuable to the people we have worked with. We have working with societies most vulnerable women, girls and have dealt with complex issues such as domestic and sexual abuse and mental health. We have been able to share strategies to help them cope emotionally. These strategies have also had an immediate impact. We have supported any women and children who have been affected by long waiting lists for counselling, many of whom have not needed counselling after receiving our support. The wide impact has also been significant as our support has meant women and children have developed coping strategies which has meant they've managed better in their homes and family situations, they have developed healthier relationships etc. We have also opened a 5-bed refuge to provide emergency accommodation to victims of domestic abuse. This service has been full since opening in Sept 2024 which confirms the demand for such as specialist service. We have had 5 successful move on's. 3 women moved into local authority housing, 1 into private rented and 1 into another refuge in an area she wanted to be in.

Independent examiner's report

The charity's trustees are responsible for the preparation of the accounts. The charity's trustees consider that an audit is not required for this year under section 43(2) of the Charities Act 1993 (the 1993 Act) and that an independent examination is needed.

It is my responsibility to:

- (i) examine the accounts under section 43 of the 1993 Act,
- (ii) to follow the procedures laid down in the general Directions given by the Charity Commission (under section 43(7)(b) of the 1993 Act, and
- (iii) to state whether particular matters have come to my attention.

My examination was carried out in accordance with general Directions given by the Charity Commission. An examination includes a review of the accounting records kept by the charity and a comparison of the accounts presented with those records. It also includes consideration of any unusual items or disclosures in the accounts, and seeking explanations from the trustees concerning any such matters. The procedures undertaken do not provide all the evidence that would be required in an audit, and consequently no opinion is given as to whether the accounts present a 'true and fair' view and the report is limited to those matters set out in the statement below.

In connection with my examination, no matter has come to my attention

1. Which gives me reasonable cause to believe that in, any material respect, and the requirements:

- (i) To keep accounting records in accordance with section 41 of the 1993 Act; and
- (ii) to prepare accounts which accord with the accounting records and comply with the accounting requirements of the 1993 Act have not been met; or

2. To which, in my opinion, attention should be drawn in order to enable a proper understanding of the accounts to be reached.

Independent examiner's report

The charity's trustees are responsible for the preparation of the accounts. The charity's trustees consider that an audit is not required for this year under section 43(2) of the Charities Act 1993 (the 1993 Act) and that an independent examination is needed.

It is my responsibility to:

- (i) examine the accounts under section 43 of the 1993 Act,
- (ii) to follow the procedures laid down in the general Directions given by the Charity Commission (under section 43(7)(b) of the 1993 Act, and
- (iii) to state whether particular matters have come to my attention.

My examination was carried out in accordance with general Directions given by the Charity Commission. An examination includes a review of the accounting records kept by the charity and a comparison of the accounts presented with those records. It also includes consideration of any unusual items or disclosures in the accounts, and seeking explanations from the trustees concerning any such matters. The procedures undertaken do not provide all the evidence that would be required in an audit, and consequently no opinion is given as to whether the accounts present a 'true and fair' view and the report is limited to those matters set out in the statement below.

In connection with my examination, no matter has come to my attention

1. Which gives me reasonable cause to believe that in, any material respect, and the requirements:

- (i) To keep accounting records in accordance with section 41 of the 1993 Act; and
- (ii) to prepare accounts which accord with the accounting records and comply with the accounting requirements of the 1993 Act have not been met; or

2. To which, in my opinion, attention should be drawn in order to enable a proper understanding of the accounts to be reached.

Objectives and Activities

	SORP reference
Summary of the purposes of the charity as set out in its governing document	Para 1.17	SKY Positive Minds aims to preserve and protect the physical and mental health of women and children in North Kirklees who have experienced domestic abuse, have anxiety, stress and other disadvantages, through one to one sessions or group workshops that will give them skills and techniques to improve their confidence and emotional resilience.
Summary of the main activities in relation to those purposes for the public benefit, in particular, the activities, projects or services identified in the accounts.	Para 1.17 and 1.19	We have continued providing one to one support to women and children and have been able to resume some of this face to face and over the phone. We continued our fundraising efforts for Bangladesh. We ran a number of different activities such as bake sales to raise the funds. We worked together with agencies in the community to bring together summer fair in the park. We held a stall promoting our services. In August 2021 we were awarded the Queen's Award for voluntary service. We held an event to celebrate this which involved all of our stakeholders including volunteers, service users as well as professionals we are working with.
Statement confirming whether the trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit	Para 1.18	We confirm we have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit.

Achievements and Performance

	SORP reference
Summary of the main achievements of the charity, identifying the difference the charity's work has made to the circumstances of its beneficiaries and any wider benefits to society as a whole.	Para 1.20	The work carried out by the charity has been immensely valuable to the people we have worked with. We have working with societies most vulnerable women, girls and children and have dealt with complex issues such as domestic and sexual abuse and mental health. We have been able to share strategies to help them cope emotionally. These strategies have also had an immediate impact. We have supported any women and children who have been affected by long waiting lists for counselling, many of whom have not needed counselling after receiving our support. The wide impact has also been significant as our support has meant women and children have developed coping strategies which has meant they've managed better in their homes and family situations, they have developed healthier relationships etc.

Independent examiner's report

The charity's trustees are responsible for the preparation of the accounts. The charity's trustees consider that an audit is not required for this year under section 43(2) of the Charities Act 1993 (the 1993 Act) and that an independent examination is needed.

It is my responsibility to:

- (i) examine the accounts under section 43 of the 1993 Act,
- (ii) to follow the procedures laid down in the general Directions given by the Charity Commission (under section 43(7)(b) of the 1993 Act, and
- (iii) to state whether particular matters have come to my attention.

My examination was carried out in accordance with general Directions given by the Charity Commission. An examination includes a review of the accounting records kept by the charity and a comparison of the accounts presented with those records. It also includes consideration of any unusual items or disclosures in the accounts, and seeking explanations from the trustees concerning any such matters. The procedures undertaken do not provide all the evidence that would be required in an audit, and consequently no opinion is given as to whether the accounts present a 'true and fair' view and the report is limited to those matters set out in the statement below.

Summary of the purposes of the charity as set out in its governing document	Para 1.17	SKY Positive Minds aims to preserve and protect the physical and mental health of women and children in North Kirklees who have experienced domestic abuse, have anxiety, stress and other disadvantages, through one to one sessions or group workshops that will give them skills and techniques to improve their confidence and emotional resilience.
Summary of the main activities in relation to those purposes for the public benefit, in particular, the activities, projects or services identified in the accounts.	Para 1.17 and 1.19	We have continued providing one to one support to women and children and have been able to resume some of this face to face and over the phone. We continued our fundraising efforts for Bangladesh. We ran a number of different activities such as bake sales to raise the funds. We worked together with agencies in the community to bring together summer fair in the park. We held a stall promoting our services. In August 2021 we were awarded the Queen's Award for voluntary service. We held an event to celebrate this which involved all of our stakeholders including volunteers, service users as well as professionals we are working with.
Statement confirming whether the trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit	Para 1.18	We confirm we have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit.

Achievements and Performance

	SORP reference
Summary of the main achievements of the charity, identifying the difference the charity's work has made to the circumstances of its beneficiaries and any wider benefits to society as a whole.	Para 1.20	The work carried out by the charity has been immensely valuable to the people we have worked with. We have working with societies most vulnerable women, girls and children and have dealt with complex issues such as domestic and sexual abuse and mental health. We have been able to share strategies to help them cope emotionally. These strategies have also had an immediate impact. We have supported any women and children who have been affected by long waiting lists for counselling, many of whom have not needed counselling after receiving our support. The wide impact has also been significant as our support has meant women and children have developed coping strategies which has meant they've managed better in their homes and family situations, they have developed healthier relationships etc.

Independent examiner's report

The charity's trustees are responsible for the preparation of the accounts. The charity's trustees consider that an audit is not required for this year under section 43(2) of the Charities Act 1993 (the 1993 Act) and that an independent examination is needed.

It is my responsibility to:

- (i) examine the accounts under section 43 of the 1993 Act,
- (ii) to follow the procedures laid down in the general Directions given by the Charity Commission (under section 43(7)(b) of the 1993 Act, and
- (iii) to state whether particular matters have come to my attention.

My examination was carried out in accordance with general Directions given by the Charity Commission. An examination includes a review of the accounting records kept by the charity and a comparison of the accounts presented with those records. It also includes consideration of any unusual items or disclosures in the accounts, and seeking explanations from the trustees concerning any such matters. The procedures undertaken do not provide all the evidence that would be required in an audit, and consequently no opinion is given as to whether the accounts present a 'true and fair' view and the report is limited to those matters set out in the statement below.

In connection with my examination, no matter has come to my attention

1. Which gives me reasonable cause to believe that in, any material respect, and the requirements:

- (i) To keep accounting records in accordance with section 41 of the 1993 Act; and
- (ii) to prepare accounts which accord with the accounting records and comply with the accounting requirements of the 1993 Act have not been met; or

2. To which, in my opinion, attention should be drawn in order to enable a proper understanding of the accounts to be reached.

It is my responsibility to:

- (i) examine the accounts under section 43 of the 1993 Act,
- (ii) to follow the procedures laid down in the general Directions given by the Charity Commission (under section 43(7)(b) of the 1993 Act, and
- (iii) to state whether particular matters have come to my attention.

My examination was carried out in accordance with general Directions given by the Charity Commission. An examination includes a review of the accounting records kept by the charity and a comparison of the accounts presented with those records. It also includes consideration of any unusual items or disclosures in the accounts, and seeking explanations from the trustees concerning any such matters. The procedures undertaken do not provide all the evidence that would be required in an audit, and consequently no opinion is given as to whether the accounts present a 'true and fair' view and the report is limited to those matters set out in the statement below.

In connection with my examination, no matter has come to my attention

1. Which gives me reasonable cause to believe that in, any material respect, and the requirements:

- (i) To keep accounting records in accordance with section 41 of the 1993 Act; and
- (ii) to prepare accounts which accord with the accounting records and comply with the accounting requirements of the 1993 Act have not been met; or

2. To which, in my opinion, attention should be drawn in order to enable a proper understanding of the accounts to be reached.

Independent examiner's report

The charity's trustees are responsible for the preparation of the accounts. The charity's trustees consider that an audit is not required for this year under section 43(2) of the Charities Act 1993 (the 1993 Act) and that an independent examination is needed.

It is my responsibility to:

- (i) examine the accounts under section 43 of the 1993 Act,
- (ii) to follow the procedures laid down in the general Directions given by the Charity Commission (under section 43(7)(b) of the 1993 Act, and
- (iii) to state whether particular matters have come to my attention.

My examination was carried out in accordance with general Directions given by the Charity Commission. An examination includes a review of the accounting records kept by the charity and a comparison of the accounts presented with those records. It also includes consideration of any unusual items or disclosures in the accounts, and seeking explanations from the trustees concerning any such matters. The procedures undertaken do not provide all the evidence that would be required in an audit, and consequently no opinion is given as to whether the accounts present a 'true and fair' view and the report is limited to those matters set out in the statement below.

In connection with my examination, no matter has come to my attention

1. Which gives me reasonable cause to believe that in, any material respect, and the requirements:

- (i) To keep accounting records in accordance with section 41 of the 1993 Act; and
- (ii) to prepare accounts which accord with the accounting records and comply with the accounting requirements of the 1993 Act have not been met; or

2. To which, in my opinion, attention should be drawn in order to enable a proper understanding of the accounts to be reached.
