Section D

Achievements and performance

This year we have been so pleased and proud to welcome several volunteers to our group, who have between them made a valuable contribution to our group. We look forward to what the next year will bring with their input of new ideas, enthusiasm and help.

Grants achieved: we received £400 from a local charity – Perranporth Gardens Charities to support our beach cleaning efforts with a beach cleaning station to be positioned on the Promenade. Together with 2 other marine groups in Cornwall, we have been offered more support from Cornwall Wildlife Trust to build a presence in the local community and to receive further training in areas such as social media. In October we were chosen as one of the Co-ops local causes and will be receiving funds as part of their community funding grants. We will be using our funds to run free workshops for the community, with emphasis on inclusion.

The group has contributed to conserving the local environment with regular beach and dune cleans, and this year we twice supported Surfers Against Sewage with their Million Miles Beach clean event, helping them with volunteers and kit.

We have undertaken training on a Shoresearch Survey run by Cornwall Wildlife Trust and aim to hold our own surveys on Perranporth beach in the future, furthering knowledge of species diversification and giving valuable insights into species changes in the light of climate change.

In terms of making the public aware of the natural environment of Perranporth, this year we held two very successful rockpool rambles during the year. The feedback on this was that the participants, in particular children, loved these events and demand is high for more of them. We also added new species to our list for Perranporth beach.

This year, we continued our monthly Seaquest sea watch surveys for marine 'mega fauna' which take place from Cligga Head on the first Sunday of every month, in conjunction with other marine groups. We were pleased to be joined by local wildlife enthusiasts.

We have posted extensively on our Facebook page to highlight our work, environmental issues and information about marine life. We have also posted relevant information from other groups and organisations, in particular that of Cornwall Wildlife's Your Shore projects and the Making Space for Sand (dunes) project, and other charities such as British Divers Marine Life Rescue work and the Seal Research Group. We have also highlighted dangers to wildlife such as flying rings which can harm seals. We have shared relevant job information. Much of the above can be seen on our Facebook Page - See [TAR](https://www.facebook.com/Perranporth-<div data-bbox=)

Summary of the main achievements of the charity during the year

Help from new dedicated volunteers has contributed to a better Instagram presence, provided links with other groups such as the local Scouts, given advice on communicating with members of the group more effectively with WhatsApp.

Beach Cleans with collaboration from other groups

Continued to hold our Rockpool ramble events which are increasingly popular.

Held our second workshop with a local artist, this year it was a seaweed printing workshop for adults.

Continued support of past Beach Rangers who wish to volunteer – one of them is now helping us with our Instagram posts. We also supported a marine biology graduate to help him lead a rockpool ramble.

Seaquest Sundays on regular basis to record larger marine animals.

Our Facebook page has now reached 1500 followers up from 1200 last year.

Our Instagram presence has markedly increased due to help with social media from our members:

Instagram followers increased from 107 in June 2025 to 313 in Nov 2025 with 63 posts made in that time.

Engagement in July compared to June was +361% at 7.5k views

Engagement in Oct compared to Sep was +68% at 13k views
