Section B Structure, governance and management

Description of the charity's trusts

Type of governing document	Constitution dated 29 August 2019
How the charity is constituted	Charitable Incorporated Organisation (CIO)
Trustee selection methods	Trustees are elected by the Charity Members, who comprise Street Pastors and Prayer Pastors actively involved in the charity's work

Additional governance

The work of Street Pastors across the UK is guided by our founding body, The Ascension Trust (Registered Charity No 1127204).

As such, Kettering Street Pastors are proud to be part of a network of over 240 local initiatives across the UK, involving more than 20,000 volunteers.

Summary of the objects of the charity set out in its governing document

- To provide care and support to help people on the streets, supporting and signposting to preserve public order, avoid anti-social behaviour, relieve sickness and preserve health
- In doing so, to enlighten others about Christianity and mobilise the Church ecumenically

Summary of the main activities undertaken for the public benefit in relation to these objects

The trustees have paid due regard to the guidance given by the Charity Commission with regard to public benefit, in deciding which activities Kettering Street Pastors should undertake.

Street Pastors patrol Kettering town centre every Saturday night and on other major party nights until 3am, providing help and support for everyone who needs it, regardless of their circumstances.

The teams help to ensure everyone enjoys a good night and gets home safely, and to achieve this they work in close partnership with door staff, CCTV and the police.

A particular focus is on those who are vulnerable or in need – whether they're on a night out and have had 'one too many', or have deeper concerns which they need to talk about.

Trained volunteers offer a caring, listening ear and a helpful 'can do' approach – no matter whoever, whatever and whenever – and without judgement.

Teams also hand out flip-flops, lollipops, water and space blankets, and collect cans and glass bottles from the streets to prevent them causing injury later in the night.

Members of the public who need support can approach the team directly. Alternatively, they can ask any Police officer, or the door staff at any pub or club, to contact Street Pastors via the PubWatch radio system.

Practical support includes:

- Caring for those who become drunk or vulnerable
- Helping people find their friends if they become separated
- Assisting in finding a taxi or contacting family and friends to arrange a lift home
- Providing basic first aid
- Giving out flip flops for those who can no longer walk on their heels
- Offering a bottle of water to those who have had too much to drink
- Providing a space blanket for those who are cold

Emotional support includes:

- Listening to concerns and worries in a completely open and non-judgmental way
- Offering honest, impartial advice
- Providing information on other services, who may be able to help

Summary of the main achievements of the charity during the year

2021 has been another incredibly busy year for the team at Kettering Street Pastors.

While the pandemic meant that teams were unable to be on patrol during the first quarter of the year, the telephone Support Line and social media channels were there to help local people in need.

Saturday morning patrols restarted in April and have operated throughout the year. In particular they have been a valuable source of support to those who have been left feeling lonely, vulnerable or struggling with their mental health by recent events.

Nighttime patrols recommenced in May and volunteers have been out every Saturday and payday Friday until 3am doing what they do best - helping to ensure everyone enjoys a great night out and gets safely home.

During the year, the charity has enhanced its service provision thanks to the donation of £3000 worth of training, which has enabled all volunteers to study for an Emergency First Aid Qualification.

The donation has been received from MBCO Academy, who are based in the town, and Street Pastors have received their training from MBCO Academy's expert team at the company's base on Regent Street.

With long waits for ambulances on many Saturday nights, the training will mean that volunteers are better equipped to provide immediate first aid support while waiting for expert medical staff to arrive.

The charity has also responded to the increased concern surrounding the dangers of drink spiking, which has been in the news in recent months.

As part of Kettering Street Pastors' mission to help ensure everyone enjoys a great night out and gets safely home, volunteers have long given out 'Spikeys', which fit into the top of bottles to prevent drinks being spiked.

As a further measure, teams also now give out 'StopTopps' - a single use foil that can be put over all drinking vessels. The foils have a hygienic glue that sticks to the glass or can and makes it difficult for anything to be added to a drink without the owner's knowledge.

Every Street Pastor patrol is different to the next and volunteers never know quite what they're going to have to deal with. Here's just a selection of the incidents the teams helped with during 2021 . . .

- Asked to look for a young male who had taken an overdose in an attempt to commit suicide. Found him in an alleyway and talked him round. After some discussion he agreed the team could contact his friends and then the ambulance service. Friends arrived and, as the wait for an ambulance was 6 hours+, the team convinced him to go to A&E.
- Helped a group of 4 underage girls. They had tried to get into various clubs and failed, and afterwards while on the town had attracted the attentions of 2 older men. The team felt there was a risk to the girls, so alerted CCTV who asked for Police support. The Police spoke to the girls, who left town shortly afterwards.

- Redressed a young woman's self harming cuts as her stitches had torn after a scuffle. Whilst talking to the team she started to feel dizzy, which escalated to a full epileptic seizure. The team attended until the ambulance arrived and took over.
 - Assisted doorstaff at one of the town's venues with urgent first aid support following a slashing attack. Two members of staff bleeding from cuts to the head, one significantly.
 - Called by CCTV at 1am to a male who was passed out from drink. The male had nobody with him and was lying on the pavement. The team called an ambulance which arrived after just under 2 hours, during which the team provided care and kept him safe. The male was vocal, but still very incoherent, for only the final 15 minutes of the 2 hours the team was with him.
 - Supported a young woman who was having her third panic attack since leaving home that evening. The team got her breathing calmly and made sure her boyfriend knew what to do if further help was required.
 - Helped a young man who had been beaten up and had a swollen cheek. He took a taxi to the hospital.
 - Extended conversation with a man who is struggling with depression. The team dealt with the immediate need and then signposted him to some organisations which may be able to help.
 - Counselling and supported a young female whose grandmother is in intensive care with Covid.
 - Spent an extended period with a young female who said she felt suicidal. Eventually she was joined by some of her friends and the team encouraged her closest friend to accompany her for a mental health assessment.
- Everyone involved with Kettering Street Pastors is a volunteer, and the charity's activities would not be possible without their support and dedication. Trustees' grateful thanks go to colleagues who have been so adaptable in their work, and once again given their time and resources so freely.
- A huge thank you also goes to all those individuals and organisations who give so generously to enable the charity's work to continue. By doing so, they are joining with volunteers in the care of vulnerable local people at a time when they need that help the most.

Section E

Financial review

Brief statement of the charity's policy on reserves

The trustees aim to have sufficient financial reserves to cover an average of two years of operating expenses, in order to protect ongoing activity against fluctuations in income and expenditure.

At the end of the year under report the charity held cash funds of just over £12.5k.

Details of any funds materially in deficit

There are no funds in deficit.
