Section C Objectives and activities

Summary of the objects of the charity set out in its governing document

To promote national and international conflict resolution and reconciliation for the public benefit with a view to relieving suffering, poverty and distress and building and maintaining social cohesion and trust within and between communities by

1. Investigating and identifying probable causes of the conflict;
2. Examining probable solutions to the conflict through participatory research into relevant economic and social issues;
3. Mediating with parties to the conflict and others together to discuss such research and possible solutions enabling them to build relationships of trust;

4. Recommending to the international community and parties involved the measures which, in the Trustees' opinion, are likely to result in the resolution or prevention of the conflict or the reduction of any humanitarian crisis that may ensue from the conflict;
5. Publishing reports for the public benefit on the causes and recommended solutions of particular conflicts;
6. Delivering services which address the charitable needs of those affected by conflict: provided that all activities shall be balanced and shall maintain or enhance the CIO's commitment to remaining impartial.

In view of the lack of understanding of the real causes behind conflicts, the Trustees will organise Conferences, Debates, Lectures, Research, and Workshops on all aspects of promoting World Peace, especially:

1. Matters covered or alluded to in the charity's declared objectives.
2. Issues at global, international, and national levels such as tensions between communities.
3. Relevant factors including economic, social, cultural, religious and spiritual. How do these hinder or support peace? And how does peace, or absence of peace, enhance or diminish public benefit?
4. Factors relating primarily to women, who are particular victims of conflict but are not properly represented in peace processes and decision making. We will include them at all levels (see the UN Security Council Resolution 1325 of Oct 2000).
5. Environmental issues where the many threats to our fragile ecosystem are also threats to peace.

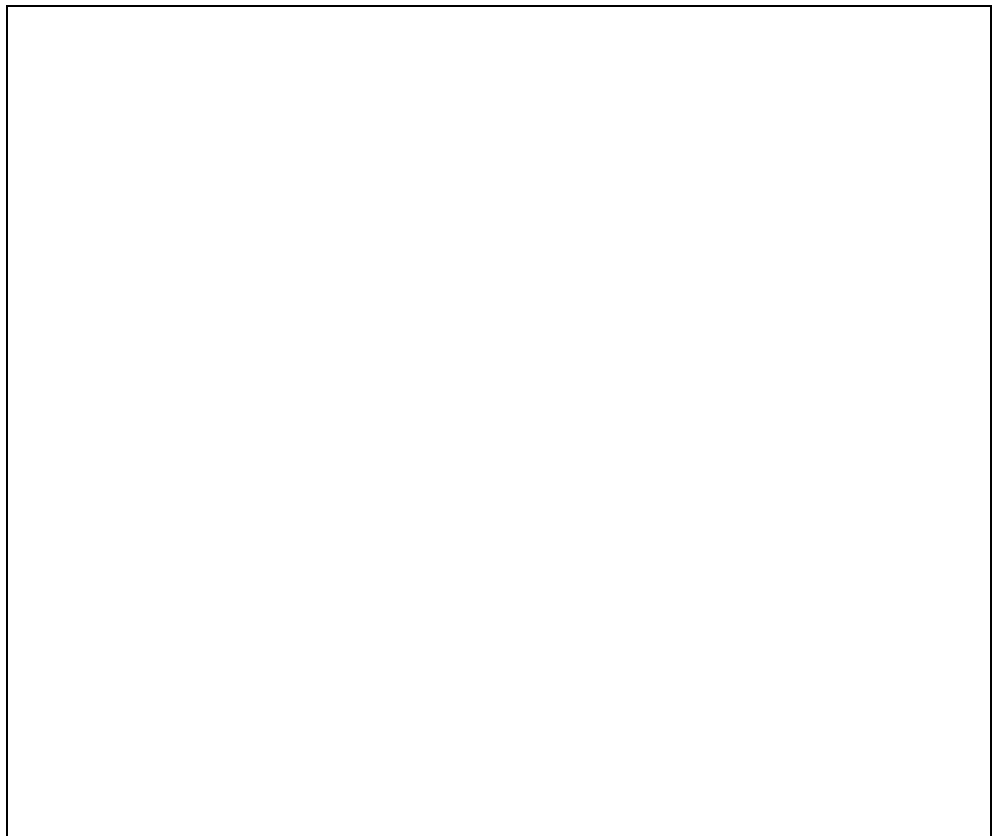

In planning these activities the trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit.

Summary of the main activities undertaken for the public benefit in relation to these objects (include within this section the statutory declaration that trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit)

Additional details of objectives and activities (Optional information)

You may choose to include further statements, where relevant, about:

- policy on grantmaking;
- policy programme related investment;
- contribution made by volunteers.

Conferences

We held a conference on 9 November 2024

Peace is slipping away – but we can reclaim it.

- key themes of the Magna Carta Peace Conference, 9 November 2024, St James Church, Woodley, Reading:

Peace and sustainability are connected: The climate crisis threatens all of us with increasing instability. It knows no borders, said Lord Sharma KCMG, former president of COP 26: “Each of us, in every part of the world, has a responsibility to play our role in tackling climate change and ensuring that we have peace and stability in the world.”

International conflicts are increasing: Yuan Yang MP, the local MP for Earley and Woodley, highlighted current conflict areas and called for policies to bring peace with justice.

We can all take local action for peace: The Magna Carta World Peace Index analyses the causes of conflict between nations and also within nations. Prof Yinshan Tang, Vice Dean of Henley Business School, presented the Magna Carta World Peace Index’s research: a lack of economic development can be a significant barrier to peace within countries. This significant finding needs more study. Greed is at the heart of many conflicts – when is ‘enough’ enough?

The Deputy Mayor of Wokingham Borough Council, Cllr Carol Jewell, who is also a local Councillor, pointed to the crucial need for understanding and communication in order to build an environment for peace. She identified local activities that bring people together, such as the monthly ‘Repair Shop’ and the South Lake Eco Trail.

The many barriers to peace are challenging, but Rev Laurence Smith advised that the best way to solve a puzzle is one piece at a time. He is Vicar of St James Church, providing local presence and support, like other community groups. Another local Councillor, Shahid Younis, highlighted the need for Council and local community organisations to work together more closely and intentionally.

The change for peace comes from within each one of us. Brahma Kumari Sisters Jayanti and Aruna invited us to look inside to find our inner core.

Dr Prem Sharma, Chairman of Magna Carta Foundation, reminded us that ‘the practice of peace is an exercise in becoming less selfish. If the whole world were willing to live in this way, no one seeking their own glory but the wellbeing of others, it would be truly transformative. But we have not lived that way, so we need to seek forgiveness and ask God’s help to change our leaders and to change us.’

Peace comes from the top, from the leaders. We were told that Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II once said ‘The waging of peace is the hardest form of leadership, but the most rewarding. It needs patience, resourcefulness and grit.’

Peace also comes from the bottom, as each of us commit ourselves to loving service of others. That also makes us ‘feel good’, and spreads peace widely.

Achievements and performance

Summary of the main achievements of the charity during the year

Conferences

We held a conference on 18 May 2023 on

“Creating World Peace and Sustainability in the Post COVID-19 and post Ukraine Conflict Era”, in partnership with ELITE Innovation College Cambridge, UK and South Asian Development Partnership.

We contacted women and children from Ukraine to share their experiences, as well as others to bring reflection and comment.

Conference Aims

We will explore the prospects for world peace and sustainability in light of the conflict in Ukraine, as we consider

- its long term implications for global peace and stability
- the linkages between different strands of a strategy for peace
- our continuing response to the human suffering and loss there

We will use our response to this tragic suffering as a starting point for a wider focus on peace and forming peacemakers, including:

- * establishing like-minded international partners with the shared peace mission
- * hearing the voice of children and women and developing young innovators and peacemakers
- * promoting innovation for peace and sustainability so as to achieve reconciliation
- * understanding the challenges and impact of climate change in shaping world peace
- * promoting national and international peaceful conflict resolution

The conference was held in the Houses of Parliament (The Attlee Suite) and attended by 116 diplomats, community leaders, business people, educationists and school children

Research

We continued to develop the Magna Carta World Peace Index – a project in collaboration between Magna Carta World Peace and Sustainability Foundation and Henley Business School, University of Reading.

Section C Objectives and activities

Summary of the objects of the charity set out in its governing document

To promote national and international conflict resolution and reconciliation for the public benefit with a view to relieving suffering, poverty and distress and building and maintaining social cohesion and trust within and between communities by

1. Investigating and identifying probable causes of the conflict;
2. Examining probable solutions to the conflict through participatory research into relevant economic and social issues;
3. Mediating with parties to the conflict and others together to discuss such research and possible solutions enabling them to build relationships of trust;
4. Recommending to the international community and parties involved the measures which, in the Trustees' opinion, are likely to result in the resolution or prevention of the conflict or the reduction of any humanitarian crisis that may ensue from the conflict;
5. Publishing reports for the public benefit on the causes and recommended solutions of particular conflicts;
6. Delivering services which address the charitable needs of those affected by conflict: provided that all activities shall be balanced and shall maintain or enhance the CIO's commitment to remaining impartial.

Summary of the main activities undertaken for the public benefit in relation to these objects (include within this section the statutory declaration that trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit)

In view of the lack of understanding of the real causes behind conflicts, the Trustees will organise Conferences, Debates, Lectures, Research, and Workshops on all aspects of promoting World Peace, especially:

1. Matters covered or alluded to in the charity's declared objectives.
2. Issues at global, international, and national levels such as tensions between communities.
3. Relevant factors including economic, social, cultural, religious and spiritual. How do these hinder or support peace? And how does peace, or absence of peace, enhance or diminish public benefit?
4. Factors relating primarily to women, who are particular victims of conflict but are not properly represented in peace processes and decision making. We will include them at all levels (see the UN Security Council Resolution 1325 of Oct 2000).
5. Environmental issues where the many threats to our fragile ecosystem are also threats to peace.

In planning these activities the trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit.

Additional details of objectives and activities (Optional information)

You may choose to include further statements, where relevant, about:

- policy on grantmaking;
- policy programme related investment;
- contribution made by volunteers.

Conferences

5th March 2021: we participated in the East meets West conference organised by the University of Surrey on 'Collaboration Between East And West In The Post-COVID Era: Economics, Business, Innovation and Politics'
The conference was held online with participants from China, the UK and other European countries.

2nd December 2021: we participated in the First International Forum on World Peace and Sustainability, organized by Magna Carta World Peace and Sustainability Foundation and the Open Business Council in association with World Future Foundation.

'This conference showed how effectively we can work together,' said Dr Prem Sharma, OBE, Chair of the Magna Carta Foundation. 'It brought together policy makers, academics, innovators and business people from different cultural backgrounds. We must continue to strengthen these partnerships, as we work together for tackling climate change and empowering women, which are both so important for peace. Our vision is for a tolerant world of hope; a democratic world of freedom; a truthful world of love; a joyful world of peace.'

Research

12th October 2021: we published a Report of the Magna Carta World Peace Index - Using Behaviour and Intention to Measure Internal Peace Based on Structural Causal Model

This report was based on the current research project which is in collaboration between Magna Carta World Peace and Sustainability Foundation and Henley Business School, University of Reading.
