Conclusions relating to going concern

We have nothing to report in respect of the following matters in relation to which ISAs require us to report to where:

- The members use of the going concern basis of accounting in the preparation of the financial statements is not appropriate or
- The members have not disclosed in the financial statements any identified material uncertainties that may cast significant doubt about the Organization's ability to continue to adopt the going concern basis of accounting for a period at least twelve months from the date when the financial statements are authorized for issue.

Key Audit Matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgement, were of most significance in our audit of the financial statements of the current period. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the financial statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

Key audit matter in audit	How our audit addressed the key audit matter
New revenue accounting standard The application of new revenue accounting standard involves certain key judgements relating to identification of distinct performance obligations, determination of transaction price of the identified performance obligations, the appropriateness of the basis used to measure revenue recognized over a period. Additionally, new revenue accounting standard contains disclosures which involves collation of information in respect disaggregated revenue and periods over which the remaining performance obligations will be satisfied subsequent to the balance sheet date. Refer to note 3.1.5 of the financial statements on the revenue determination.	We assessed the Organization process to identify the impact of adoption of the new revenue accounting standard. Our approach consisted testing of the design and operating effectiveness of the internal controls and substantive testing as follows: Evaluated the design of internal controls relating to implantation of new revenue accounting standard. Selected a sample of continuing and new contracts, and tested the operating effectiveness of internal control, relating to identification of the distinct performance obligations and determination of transaction price. We carried out a combination of procedures involving enquiry and observation, reperformance and inspection of evidence in respect of operation of these control. Tested the relevant information technology systems' access and change management controls relating to contracts and related information used in recording and disclosing revenue in accordance with the new revenue accounting standard. Other Information

The members are responsible for the other information and report of members.

Our opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information and we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

In connection with our audit of the financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information and in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. If based on the work we have performed on the other information that we obtained prior to the date of this auditor's report, we conclude there is material misstatement of this other information, and we are required to report that fact. We have nothing to report in this regard.

Responsibilities of management and those charged with Governance for the financial statements

The Directors of Organization are responsible for the preparation presentation of these financial statements that give a true and fair view of in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards and the requirements of the companies ACT, 2002, and for such internal controls as members determine are necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the Organization's financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with ISAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

FINANCIAL STATEMENTS FOR THE YEAR ENDED 31ST DECEMBER 2021

As part of an audit in accordance with ISAs, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the Organization financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Organization's internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by the directors.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of the members' use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Organization's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Organization to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
- Obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of the entities or business activities to express an opinion on financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision and performance of the Organization audit. We remain responsible for our audit opinion.

We communicate with members regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

The preparation of Financial Statements in conformity with general accepted accounting practices requires the use of estimates and assumptions that affects the reported amounts of assets and liabilities at the date the Financial Statements and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the reporting period. Although these estimates are based on management's best knowledge of current events and actions, actual results ultimately may differ from those estimates.

2.2 Basis of measurement

The accounting principles recognized as appropriate for the measurement and reporting of the Statement of financial performance, statement of financial position and cash flows on the accrual basis using historical cost are followed in the preparation of the Financial Statements.

2.3 Functional and Presentation currency

These Financial Statements are prepared in Tanzanian Shillings.

2.4 Use of Estimates and Judgments

The preparation of Financial Statements requires management to make judgments, estimates and assumptions that affect the application of assets, liabilities, income and expenses. Actual results may differ from these estimates. The estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on a going concern basis. Revisions to accounting estimates are recognized in the period in which the estimate is revised and in any future periods affected.

In particular, information about significant areas of estimation uncertainty and critical judgments in applying accounting policies that have the most significant effect on the amounts recognized in the Financial Statements are:

- a) Taxation
- b) Provisions
- c) Contingent Liabilities
- d) Property, Plant and Equipment
- e) Financial Assets / Liabilities

FINANCIAL STATEMENTS FOR THE YEAR ENDED 31ST DECEMBER 2021

support from key funder. Furthermore, management is working hard at international level to secure necessary resources in order to mitigate the uncertainties that may cast significant doubt upon the Organization's ability to continue as a going concern. 3.1.4 Impairment

Financial Assets

A financial asset is assessed at each reporting date to determine whether there is any objective evidence that it is impaired. A financial asset is considered to be impaired if objective evidence indicates that one or more events have had a negative effect on the estimated future cash flows of that asset.

All impairment losses are recognized in statement of Comprehensive income. Any cumulative loss in respect of an available-for-sale financial asset recognized previously in equity is transferred to statement Comprehensive income.

An impairment loss is reversed if the reversal can be related objectively to an event occurring after the impairment loss was recognized. For financial assets measured at amortised cost and available-for-sale financial assets that are debt securities, the reversal is recognised in statement of financial performance. For available-for-sale financial assets that are equity securities, the reversal is recognised directly in equity.

3.1.9 Accounts Payables and Others

Accounts Payables are recognised initially at fair value and subsequently measured at amortised cost using the effective interest method.

Deferred income tax is provided in full, using the liability method, for all temporary differences arising between the tax bases of assets and liabilities and their carrying values for financial reporting purposes. However, if the deferred income tax arises from the initial recognition of an asset or liability in a transaction other than a business combination that at the time of the transaction affects neither accounting nor taxable profit nor loss, it is not accounted for. Deferred income tax is determined using tax rates and laws that have been enacted or substantively enacted at the statement of financial position date and are expected to apply when the related deferred income tax asset is realised or the deferred income tax liability is settled. Deferred income tax assets are recognised only to the extent that it is probable that future taxable profits will be available against which temporary differences can be utilised.

Following initial recognition, intangible assets are carried at cost less any accumulated amortization and accumulated impairment losses. Internally generated intangible assets, excluding capitalized development costs, are not capitalized and expenditure is reflected in profit and loss in the period in which the expenditure is incurred. The useful lives of intangible assets are assessed as either finite or indefinite. Intangible assets with finite useful life economic life and assessed for impairment whenever there is an indication that the intangible asset may be impaired. The amortization period and the amortization method for an intangible asset with a finite useful life reviewed at least at the end of each reporting period. Changes in the expected useful life or the expected pattern of consumption of future economic benefits embodied in the assets are considered to modify the amortization period or method, as appropriate, and are treated as changes in accounting estimates.

REFOREST AFRICA

The amortisation expense on intangible assets with finite lives is recognized in the income statement as the expense category that is consistent with the function of the intangible assets, but is tested for impairment annually, either individually or at the cash-generating unit level. The assessment of indefinite life continues to be supportable, if not, the change in useful life from indefinite to finite is made on a prospective basis.

As at 31st December 2021, the Organization did not have any indefinite intangible assets.

8 FINANCIAL RISK MANAGEMENT

The Organization's activities expose it to a variety of financial risks including credit risk, liquidity risk, foreign currency risk and operational risks. The Organization's overall risk management programme focuses on the unpredictability of financial markets and seeks to minimize potential adverse effects on the Organization 's financial performance.

Management is accountable to the members for ensuring effective risk management activities and adherence to the risk appetite limits set by the members.

Primary responsibility for management of these risks lies with the individual departments or business units in which they arise. It is the responsibility of the respective department to ensure appropriate assessment and management of the individual risks within the Organization and to report the same to the management who report to the Board.

The Organization's risk management policies are established to identify and analyzed the risks faced by the Organization , to set appropriate risk limits and controls, and to monitor risks and adherence to limits. Risk management policies and systems are reviewed regularly to reflect changes in market conditions, products and services offered.

Credit risk

The Organization takes on exposure to credit risk, which is the risk that counterparty will cause a financial loss to the financial institution by failing to discharge an obligation. Credit risk is the most important risk for the Organization's business; management therefore carefully manages its exposure to credit risk. Credit exposures arise principally in short-term cash surpluses only with banks of high credit standing

Accordingly, the Organization has no significant concentration of credit risk that has not been adequately provided for.

Foreign exchange risk

The Organization takes on exposure to the effects of fluctuations in the prevailing foreign currency exchange rates on its financial position and cash flows.

Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that the Organization is unable to meet its payment obligations associated with its financial liabilities when they fall due and to replace funds when they are withdrawn. Management monitors the maturity gap of the Organization's assets against maturing liabilities.

The Organization's financial liabilities and net settled derivative financial liabilities into relevant maturity groupings based on the remaining period at the statement of financial position to the contractual maturity date.

9 EVENTS AFTER THE REPORTING DATE

There were no significant events after the statement of financial position date.
