CROSSING THE GAIN LINE

Annual Report

2024 - 2025

A UK Registered Charity

Working with communities in Myanmar

A Beacon of Unity and Growth

"Crossing the Gain Line," rooted in the UK but with a vibrant heart in Myanmar, continues to champion the spirit of rugby amidst an evolving landscape of challenges. Our charity has been a beacon of resilience, adapting to meet the needs of the whole child and their community with unwavering commitment.

At the core of our mission are the children from Yangon's most impoverished communities — the orphans and the street children, whose lives are narratives of resilience and hope. Our collaboration with partner charities has fortified a network of support, embracing these children, their families, and their communities in a circle of care.

Executive Summary

Overview

The period from March 2024 to February 2025 has been a year of maintenance and building capability for Crossing the Gain Line. As an established INGO in Myanmar, we have continued to focus on our core mission of providing rugby training and youth development programmes to children in Yangon's most disadvantaged communities.

This year has been characterised by steady development and progress. Our four touch rugby groups have continued to train weekly, providing consistent support and structure for the children who participate in our programmes. The children look forward to each training session, where they not only learn rugby skills but also receive nutritious food after each session.

Achievements and Challenges

In this reporting period, we have maintained our four touch rugby groups, each training weekly with consistent attendance. The programmes continue to provide a safe and supportive environment for children to develop both their rugby skills and their confidence. The addition of food provision after each training session has been particularly valuable in supporting the nutritional needs of these vulnerable children.

The political and economic situation in Myanmar continues to present challenges, but our established presence and strong partnerships have enabled us to maintain operations and continue our vital work with communities in need.

Established INGO Status in Myanmar

Following our official recognition as an International Non-Governmental Organization (INGO) in Myanmar in the previous reporting period, the 2024-2025 year has seen us consolidate our position as an established INGO. This recognition has provided us with enhanced operational capabilities and greater access to resources and partnerships that support our mission.

Our established status has enabled us to maintain and develop our programmes with greater stability and predictability. We have continued to work effectively with local partners and communities, leveraging our INGO status to maximise our impact on the children and families we serve.

The operational efficiencies gained through our INGO status have been particularly valuable during this period of maintenance and development, allowing us to focus our resources on programme delivery rather than administrative processes.

Our Programmes

Touch Rugby Training

Our flagship touch rugby programme continues to be the cornerstone of our work. This year, we have maintained four groups training weekly, providing consistent rugby coaching and youth development activities for children from Yangon's most impoverished communities.

Each training session is eagerly anticipated by the children, who look forward to the opportunity to play, learn and grow in a supportive environment. The weekly structure provides routine and stability, which is particularly important for children who may not have these foundations in their daily lives.

Following each training session, we provide food to all participants. This nutrition support is an essential component of our programme, ensuring that children receive at least one nutritious meal in addition to the physical and educational benefits of participation.

Youth Development

Beyond rugby skills, our programmes focus on the holistic development of each child. Through participation in touch rugby, children develop teamwork, communication, leadership and self-confidence. These life skills are as important as the sporting achievements and provide a foundation for future success.

Our volunteer coaches and staff provide mentorship and positive role modelling, creating a supportive environment where children can thrive. The sense of community and belonging that our programmes foster is evident in the consistent attendance and enthusiastic participation we see each week.

Looking Ahead to 2025-2026

For the upcoming 2025-2026 period, our vision encompasses both the consolidation of our achievements and the exploration of new growth opportunities. Our planned targets are:

- Continue Programme Development: Building on our foundation, we plan to continue developing our touch rugby programme, maintaining our four groups and exploring opportunities to reach more children in need.

- Continue Coach Development: Ongoing coach development remains a priority, ensuring our staff remain at the forefront of rugby coaching excellence and youth development.
- Enhance Equipment and Facilities: We will continue to upgrade our training facilities and equipment, supporting the optimal development of our athletes.
- Expand Donor Engagement: A strategic focus on expanding our donor base will be crucial, aiming to secure the resources needed to sustain and grow our programmes.

These targets are set with an optimistic outlook towards creating lasting positive change in the lives of children and communities through the power of rugby and education.

Crossing the Gain Line: A Beacon of Unity and Growth

"Crossing the Gain Line," rooted in the UK but with a vibrant heart in Myanmar, continues to champion the spirit of rugby amidst an evolving landscape of challenges. As the world emerges from the shadows of a global pandemic, our charity has been a beacon of resilience, adapting to meet the needs of the whole child and their community with unwavering commitment.

Our Children: Pillars of the Future

At the core of our mission are the children from Yangon's most impoverished communities — the orphans and the street children, whose lives are narratives of resilience and hope. Our expanded collaboration with partner charities has fortified a network of support, embracing these children, their families, and their communities in a circle of care. Together, we are building pillars of a brighter future, rooted in the values of rugby and the strength of communal support, steering them towards a horizon of unlimited potential.

Executive Summary

Overview

As we moved into March 2023, the world began to emerge from the shadows of the pandemic, prompting a strategic shift in our operations. With the conclusion of our food assistance program, "Crossing the Gain Line" refocused its energies on our foundational activity: rugby. This period was characterized by a vigorous recommitment to our sport and education initiatives, despite facing unprecedented challenges in the wake of the political turmoil in Myanmar.

Achievements and Challenges

In a year of resilience and adaptation, we hosted four touch rugby tournaments, a testament to our athletes' perseverance and skill. These events not only provided a platform for showcasing talent but also reinforced the sense of community and belonging among our participants.

However, the year was not without its trials. The educational support programs, notably our flagship online English program, were temporarily halted due to the escalating political situation in Myanmar. This setback has been a difficult pill to swallow, yet it strengthens our resolve to revive these vital educational initiatives as soon as circumstances permit.

In reflection, the period from March 2023 to February 2024 was a time of focused adaptation, where we celebrated the undiminished spirit of our young athletes while navigating the challenges presented by a changing world. Our commitment to the educational and athletic development of underprivileged communities remains unwavering, and we look forward with optimism to reinstating our full suite of programs, building on the lessons of resilience and adaptability we've learned.

Evolving Presence: CTGL's Recognition as an INGO in Myanmar

In the year following the appointment of our first full-time Operations Manager in Myanmar, "Crossing the Gain Line" (CTGL) has seen remarkable growth and development in its mission and operations. This pivotal period has not only solidified our commitment to the communities we serve but has also culminated in CTGL being officially recognized as an International Non-Governmental Organization (INGO) in Myanmar. This recognition is a monumental milestone in our journey, marking a new chapter of enhanced capabilities and expanded reach.

Building on a Strong Foundation

The groundwork laid by our Operations Manager in the previous year has been instrumental in achieving this status. Through their dedicated efforts, CTGL has significantly improved program delivery, operational efficiency, and community engagement. These advancements have showcased our organization's commitment to transparency, accountability, and impactful work, aligning with the stringent criteria required for INGO recognition in Myanmar.

Enhanced Operational Capabilities

With INGO status, CTGL has gained access to a wider array of resources, networks, and partnerships, further amplifying our impact. This enhanced operational capacity has enabled us to extend our programs to more communities, reaching an even greater number of children and families in need. The official recognition has also bolstered our credibility, attracting additional support from international donors, partners, and volunteers keen to contribute to our mission.

Deepening Impact Through Local and International Collaboration

As a recognized INGO, CTGL has fostered stronger collaborations with both local and international entities, leveraging these partnerships to enrich our programs. From advanced training for our rugby coaches to expanded educational initiatives, these collaborations have been pivotal in providing holistic support to the communities we serve. Our Operations Manager has played a crucial role in facilitating these partnerships, ensuring that they align with our goals and values and that they effectively address the needs of the communities we work with.

Looking to the Future

The recognition of CTGL as an INGO in Myanmar is not just a testament to our past achievements but also a beacon for our future endeavors. It empowers us to dream bigger, reach further, and impact more lives through our comprehensive support for underprivileged communities. With a firm foundation and a clear vision, we are set to expand our rugby and educational programs, alongside initiating new projects that address the multifaceted challenges faced by those we aim to support.

As we move forward, the role of our Operations Manager and the CTGL team in Myanmar will continue to be central to our strategy. Their on-the-ground insights, expertise, and dedication are pivotal in navigating the complexities of our work, ensuring that every effort is made towards a future where every child and community we touch is empowered to cross their gain line.

Looking Ahead to 2024-2025

For the upcoming 2024-2025 period, our vision encompasses both the consolidation of our achievements and the exploration of new growth opportunities. Our planned targets are:

Further Develop the Rugby Program: Building on our foundation, we plan to introduce new training methodologies and reach more communities through our rugby program.

Continue Upskilling Coaches: Ongoing coach development remains a priority, ensuring our staff remain at the forefront of rugby coaching excellence.

Enhance Equipment and Facilities: We will continue to upgrade our training facilities and equipment, supporting the optimal development of our athletes.

Expand Donor Engagement: A strategic focus on expanding our donor base will be crucial, aiming to secure the resources needed to sustain and grow our programs.

These targets are set with an optimistic outlook towards creating lasting positive change in the lives of children and communities through the power of rugby and education.

Crossing the Gain Line: Nurturing Hope and Resilience

Based in the UK and extending its hands across borders to Myanmar, "Crossing the Gain Line" has steadfastly upheld its mission as a rugby-centric charity amidst the multifaceted challenges of the pandemic and the continuing crisis in Myanmar. This period has seen us evolve beyond our foundational focus, adopting a holistic approach to support not only the children in our program but also the communities that nurture them.

Our Children: Faces of Hope

The children who find a haven in our program are the heartbeats of the poorest quarters of Yangon and its outskirts. They are the orphans, the street wanderers, and the embodiments of resilience, emerging from backgrounds marked by profound vulnerability. In collaboration with allied charities, we've woven a tapestry of activities and services aimed at uplifting these young lives, providing solace and support to their families and fostering the well-being of their communities. Through the unity of sport and service, we strive to create a haven of hope and opportunity.

Executive Summary

Purpose

"Crossing the Gain Line" stands as a beacon of hope and transformation, leveraging the profound power and values inherent in rugby to uplift individuals from underprivileged communities. Our mission transcends mere sport; it's about inspiring, motivating, and supporting these individuals, offering them unparalleled opportunities for personal growth, education, and social inclusion. Throughout the 2022-2023 period, we were driven by ambitious objectives to broaden our impact: extending our reach into more communities, enriching our educational initiatives, and fortifying our support network for young athletes. Our goal was twofold: to nurture their sporting prowess and to arm them with essential life skills for a thriving future.

Highlights

The year 2022-2023 marked an era of extraordinary accomplishments and expansion for "Crossing the Gain Line." A notable surge in donor contributions fueled our ongoing food program and propelled our online English program to new heights of success. After a hiatus due to the political climate, we joyfully resumed rugby training, introducing the sport to three new communities. This expansion increased our engagement to four communities overall, and our participant roster swelled by 40%, reaching over 200 young athletes. The online English program, too, continued to flourish, testament to the resilience and dedication of our participants.

A pivotal moment of the year was organizing our first tournament, a celebration of unity and skill, where all the children we coach showcased their rugby talents. This event symbolized the spirit of community and the strides we've made in nurturing young athletes.

A Milestone Achievement: The Impact of Our First Full-Time Operations Manager in Myanmar

2022 was a landmark year for "Crossing the Gain Line," marked by a pivotal enhancement to our operational capabilities in Myanmar. In a strategic move to amplify our impact and streamline program delivery, we appointed our first full-time Operations Manager on the ground. This decision has not only represented a significant step forward in our organizational growth but has also underscored our commitment to the communities we serve.

The introduction of a dedicated Operations Manager has brought about transformative changes to the way we conduct our programs through the CTGL, our operating organization in Myanmar. With an on-the-ground presence, we've managed to bridge the gap between our strategic visions in the UK and the tangible realities of implementing our programs in Myanmar. This alignment has been crucial in navigating the complexities of the local landscape, particularly given the challenges posed by the political situation and the aftermath of the pandemic.

Operational Efficiency and Local Insight

One of the most immediate benefits has been the enhancement of operational efficiency. Our Operations Manager, being deeply ingrained in the local context, has facilitated smoother coordination of activities, quicker decision-making, and more effective communication with both local partners and the communities we support.

This has enabled us to be more responsive to the needs on the ground, adapting our programs in real-time to ensure they deliver the maximum impact.

Strengthening Community Ties

Furthermore, having a full-time representative has significantly strengthened our ties with the local communities. Our Operations Manager serves not just as an administrator but as a bridge, fostering trust and understanding between CTGL and the children, families, and local entities we work with. This enhanced relationship has led to deeper community engagement and participation in our programs, amplifying their effectiveness and reach.

Enhancing Program Delivery

Under the stewardship of our Operations Manager, we've seen notable improvements in the delivery of our flagship programs. From the expansion of the rugby training sessions to include more children and communities, to the streamlined distribution of resources for our food assistance program, every aspect of our operations has benefited from on-site management. This role has been instrumental in ensuring that our educational and vocational training initiatives are tailored to meet the evolving needs of the participants, thereby maximizing their benefits.

Looking Ahead

The positive changes wrought by appointing a full-time Operations Manager are a testament to the value of having dedicated personnel within our operating regions. As CTGL continues to grow and evolve, this role will undoubtedly remain central to our mission of transforming lives through rugby, education, and community support in Myanmar.

As we move forward, the lessons learned and successes achieved through this appointment will guide our approach to expanding our team and enhancing our operations further. The difference made by having our first employee on the Myanmar side of operations has not only exceeded our expectations but has also set a new benchmark for what we can achieve together.

Targets for 2023-2024

Strengthening Foundations and Building for the Future

As we move into the 2023-2024 year, "Crossing the Gain Line" focuses on strengthening the core components of our mission and building a sustainable future for our programs. Our targets for this year are:

Revitalize the Rugby Program: Our aim is to fully rebuild and expand the rugby program, reaching more children and introducing them to the sport's transformative potential.

Upskill Rugby Coaches: A key goal is to provide our rugby coaches with advanced training and upskilling opportunities, enhancing the quality of coaching and mentorship available to our young athletes.

Upgrade Equipment: We plan to significantly improve the rugby training equipment in Myanmar, ensuring our athletes have the best resources for their development.

Increase Participation in Tournaments: We aim to enable our athletes to compete in more rugby tournaments, providing them with valuable competitive experience and exposure.

Crossing the Gain Line is 100% reliant on donations from the public. Our overheads are extremely low since we rely mostly on volunteers. Your donations directly towards our projects in Myanmar. Therefore, your money is directly creating a better life and future for many young people

Annual Report 2021 - 2022

Introduction

Crossing the Gain Line is a UK charity with operations in Myanmar. Primarily a rugby charity, throughout the pandemic and ongoing crisis in Myanmar, we have developed into a charity that supports the whole child and the communities they live in.

Who are our children

The children in our program come from the poorest communities in Yangon and the surrounding areas, some are orphans, others are street children from desperately vulnerable backgrounds. We collaborate with other charities to provide a range of activities and services for these children, their families and the wider community.

Our programs

Rugby

This is the core of our charity. Early in the year the political situation made it very difficult to coach rugby. As we got to August 2021, things started to settle down and we were able to start coaching. By the end of February 2022 we have grown to having two training sessions per week with our partners Sonne and VCH children's home. This meant about 100 children were receiving rugby coaching per week.

Food Assistance

With the onset of the pandemic, our players' families became in desperate need of food. This was coupled with the political unrest meaning food insecurity has been a major concern. Our monthly food donations to our families and their villages has continued. This food assistance primarily takes the form of rice, tinned fish, eggs & cleaning products. It has allowed the families to buy extras such as fresh fruits and vegetables in the local markets

Online English

The pandemic in Myanmar led us to develop our extra curricula program into an online English program. We have provided a tablet to the orphanage and each week link them up with an English teacher in the UK.

This has been an incredible experience for the children and our English teacher. The plan is to expand this to the other children that we work with.

Vocational Training Support

Crossing the Gain Line has links with companies that are looking for young people to join their training programs. For our older children accessing these opportunities is usually impossible, as they lack the funds to attend the interview or clothes to wear. CtGL supports them by providing the onboarding costs, such as transport, lunch money etc. We also help them find sponsorship for the training.

This is a picture of Dee Aung graduating from the Shwe Sa Bwe restaurant hospitality 11 month course that CtGL helped with his onboarding.

Looking forward

In 2023 we hope to maintain and expand our programs with even larger numbers.

Below are just a few of our targets

- 500 children taking part in weekly rugby
- Food assistance program expanding to accommodate these 500 children's families and communities
- The Online English program expanded to cover 50% of the children that we coach.
- The vocation training program to place 30 young people.
