There must be at least three charity trustees. The maximum number of trustees is 12.

In accordance with the Constitution, trustees are appointed or re-appointed for a term of three years by a resolution passed at a properly convened meeting of the charity trustees.

3 Activities

3.1 Statutory Declaration

The Trustees of My Discombobulated Brain confirm that they have paid due regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit in deciding what activities the charity should undertake.

4 Achievements & Performance

4.1 Outputs and Outcomes for the Charity's Beneficiaries

For the public benefit, the preservation and protection of good mental health through the gathering and sharing of information; the running of drop-in sessions and partnering with like-minded charities and individuals; promoting services offered by local and national organisations by raising awareness via social media platforms to ensure that vulnerable and affected individuals can access services during times of mental distress; providing training and educational literature and workshops to increase awareness and visibility surrounding mental health problems and providing suitable materials, support networks and guidance.

Laura Jane Dernie was prompted to set up the charity following her personal experience watching someone she loved go through mental health issues and the stigma that goes alongside it.

The CEO is furthering the charitable purposes with the following projects:

- A Podcast which discusses mental health issues and interviews people on their approach to mental wellness
- Focussed talks to schools and business to raise mental health awareness and combat stigma of this disability.
- A geo-location App for diversification into other sectors and organisations.
- Official Wellbeing Partner with Found Festival and working with other festivals and events including Pride in Roath and Theatre Café to provide attendees with mental health support.
- Partnerships with New Wave Wrestling to make the events and the sport accessible for all and highlight the charity's purpose.
- Working with high profile ambassadors who support the charity's work and mission.

These are currently delivered by the charity's founder with the support of the trustees, using their own links and networks. As the charity scales up, further volunteer opportunities will be investigated as well as, eventually, employing individuals, in particular the CEO.

4.2 How the Public Have Benefitted

All the activities noted above are for the public benefit with regards to the preservation and protection of good mental health, in line with the Charity's Objects.

- b) to enable the Charity, in the interests of meeting its objectives, to undertake from time to time new and innovative projects on a pilot basis to ascertain the viability and potential benefits of such activities as a precursor to securing the external funding necessary to maintain such projects on an on-going basis.

For these purposes the Charity will endeavour to generate and maintain reserves which are at least 50% of its annual turnover.
