Summary of the main achievements of the charity during the year

This year we had another successful fundraising event. It was a raffle, selling tickets for a signed football shirt. We sold nearly all of the tickets we wanted to and were also able to gain many new supporters for the charity.

We also spent some time in Jamaica volunteering and allowing us to spend time with members of a local community that shared with us their passion for playing sport but highlighted the necessity for equipment and better facilities, which we experienced first-hand. This laid the foundations for a new campaign to begin next financial year for The HummingBirds to help supply communities with the needed equipment that will help to enable them to deliver more support for sport and education.

This year we also started a new campaign to allow volunteers to spend at least a term helping in schools in St. James, Jamaica. We successfully introduced two volunteers who gave their time to teach in Jamaica. This was a very successful campaign that we aim to continue.

Support continues to grow, including messages of support from a current and ex-international squash player, along with being in communication with a potential patron for the charity who also shares an interest in our objectives and wants to join us on this journey.

Subscription to our mailing list and social media following has continued to grow.

Summary of the main achievements of the charity during the year

This year, we met with the Jamaican Western Regional Health Authority in Jamaica, with the ambition of donating medical equipment. We had hospital beds donated to us, with plans in place for them to be received and distributed to the facilities that needed them most. The shipping company seem to have lost those beds. A claim is ongoing. We published a recorded message of support from AFTV, a football club fan group. They were publicly supporting our work and intentions to develop sport in the Caribbean. We received help from Digital Boost, owned by the charity Founders4Schools, who help small businesses and charities, in reviewing and updating our website and potential marketing strategies. Subscription to our mailing list and social media following has continued to grow. Fundraising and donations have been minimal this year. We have laid the foundations for a new campaign, to allow volunteers to spend at least a term helping in schools in St. James, Jamaica.

Achievements and performance

Summary of the main achievements of the charity during the year

This year, we had our first fundraising event. It was a raffle, selling tickets for a signed football shirt. We sold nearly all of the tickets we wanted to, being about 30 tickets short. The raffle was a success.

We were able to meet with the Jamaican High Commissioner and record an interview with him. In the interview, he made his support and belief in the charity clear to all.

During this year, we have started raising funds and having people subscribe to our mailing list.

Section D

Achievements and performance

Section D

Achievements and performance

Summary of the main achievements of the charity during the year

During the year, we have managed to create and develop our brand. Most of the year was spent completing essential tasks and filling in forms to make sure that the charity was established, with a recognisable identity and solid presence. We sorted an address, a website and mailing list, bank account, Gift Aid and gentle marketing, which included contact cards, posters and pin badges. We also sorted a promotional video, telling the story of the first project the charity aims to complete. The charity obtained a space on four social media sites and has begun posting and developing a following. There was very little fundraising done, by being in public places and asking people to donate. More time was spent speaking to people who know about and have experience with charity work, learning what we could and getting as much help, for the short and long term, as possible. By doing so, the charity has increased its network and will look to capitalise on this moving forward.
