Achievements and Performance

	SORP reference
Summary of the main achievements of the charity, identifying the difference the charity's work has made to the circumstances of its beneficiaries and any wider benefits to society as a whole.	Para 1.20	Main achievements: The charity began this period having secured an award from the Network for Social Change. This award has enabled the charity to offer and deliver workshops to asylum seekers residing in hotels in Oxfordshire. The charity also received a grant to deliver a series of summer workshops to a local charity that supports youngsters with a parent in prison. The charity continued its workshops for a wide range of recipients. Art workshops beneficiaries included: 1. Children and young people supported by Children Heard and Seen (A charity that supports young people with a parent in prison) 2. Children from Be Free Young Carers (A charity that supports young people who care for a relative), 3. Disadvantaged children at The Oxford Academy. 4. Parents who have a former partner in prison for sex offences. 5. Asylum seekers. The grant from The Network for Social Change was specifically granted for workshops with asylum seekers in Oxfordshire supported by Care for Calais. These workshops are now well established and take place on a fortnightly basis. They offer asylum seekers important respite from the stresses they face every day as a result of their situation. Written and verbal evaluation from the charity's workshops indicate that the workshops: 1. Provide an opportunity for people to engage in creative activity that they are otherwise unable to access in their lives. 2. Are extremely enjoyable and have a positive effect on the mental health of recipients. 3. Have proved to be a chance for marginalised and people in difficult and isolated circumstances to come together and offer mutual support by spending time engaging in creative activity. 4. Bring improvements in the mental wellbeing of such people. These improvements will also have a knock on effect in their everyday lives and those that they associate with, thereby benefiting society as a whole. Feedback: James Ottley, Project manager for Children Heard and Seen says of the workshops for parents whose former partners have committed sexual offences. "The group can be very emotional, and the parents are all dealing with hugely complex issues due to the nature of the other parent's offending, so it's brilliant we are able to offer sessions like this where they can all focus on something different and enjoy a peaceful couple of hours with other parents who understand them." And: "We often talk about very heavy topics in the group, so we are really thankful that Sarah joins us once a term to provide a therapeutic space." Tina Wallace, volunteer for Care for Calais: "This has been and continues to be a much-enjoyed space. The focus is on creating colours, form and content, far removed from the daily drudge of forms, appeals, and bureaucracy. Participants sometimes paint pictures from home, flags of their country, or imaginary scenes, while many follow the prompt from one of the two talented art teachers who bring new ideas to every session. It is a place where people smile and shoulders relax. Over time a really large and impressive array of art work using different materials and covering multiple subjects have been produced. Several pieces have been exhibited in the hotel for an Art Week exhibition in Oxford, and some will soon be shown at a venue in town.” Many workshop participants report that they continue with creative activity outside of the workshops as they find it a calming and therapeutic activity to engage in.

Para 1.20	Main achievements: The charity began this period having secured an award from the National Lottery and the Network for Social Change. Feedback from James Ottley, Project manager for Children Heard and Seen: “The workshops were a brilliant opportunity for parents and their children to engage in a joint project. Also gave the children and parents the opportunity to connect with others supported by CHAS in a relaxed and creative atmosphere. All group participants were able to explore their creativity, and there was lots of room to learn new skills and try different forms of artwork” Feedback from Tina Wallace, volunteer for Care for Calais: “This class allows the men time to leave their asylum status aside and just be themselves, however briefly, and focus on looking, experimenting and achieving some great results. Sarah is a gentle and very supportive and encouraging teacher and so many participants have done things they never imagined they could.” Many workshop participants report that they continue with creative activity outside of the workshops as they find it a calming and therapeutic activity to engage in.

Objectives and Activities

	SORP reference
Summary of the purposes of the charity as set out in its governing document	Para 1.17	The advancement of the arts for the public benefit by providing creative workshops that are accessible and affordable for the general public and, without limitation, the following groups of people (and, in each case, any dependents): persons in institutions, persons incarcerated, young offenders, persons awaiting refugee status, underprivileged children (including but not limited to children in low income families, children in care, homeless / street children), persons with a lack of funds and any other person who is otherwise denied access to creative activity in their ordinary lives.
Summary of the main activities in relation to those purposes for the public benefit, in particular, the activities, projects or services identified in the accounts.	Para 1.17 and 1.19	Provision of Art workshops to people falling within the groups as defined in the Charity's purposes, fundraising for the same and administration of the charity.
Statement confirming whether the trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit	Para 1.18	The trustees have received, acknowledged receipt of and confirmed they have read the guidance issued by The Charity Commission on Public Benefit

Policy on grant making	Para 1.38	N/A
Policy on social investment including program related investment	Para 1.38	N/A

Contribution made by volunteers	Para 1.38	Elements of administration of the charity are done on a voluntary basis. Frequent discussions are held between the charity's chair and other officers of the charity to help organise meetings, organise and consider fund raising opportunities, and the development and growth of the charity. All trustees give their time for trustee duties on a voluntary basis. The art workshops are supported by volunteers from the recipient organisation (for example; workshops given to asylum seekers are attended and supported by volunteers from Care for Calais)

Achievements and Performance

	SORP reference
Summary of the main achievements of the charity, identifying the difference the charity's work has made to the circumstances of its beneficiaries and any wider benefits to society as a whole.	Para 1.20	Main achievements: The charity began this period having secured an award from the National Lottery. Following the award, beneficiaries for the workshops were identified and workshops allocated and delivered. Art workshops beneficiaries included: 1. Children and young people supported by: Children Heard and Seen (A charity that supports young people with a parent in prison) and Be Free Young Carers (A charity that supports young people who care for a relative), 2. Asylum seekers supported by Oxford Asylum Welcome and Care for Calais, 3. Members of mental health wellbeing group Kintsugi Hope, 4. Disadvantaged children at St Mary's primary school, Chipping Norton 5. Ukrainian families hosted by families in West Oxfordshire Written and verbal feedback from the charity's workshops so far indicate that the workshops: 1. Provide an opportunity for people to engage in creative activity that is otherwise lacking in their lives 2. Are extremely enjoyable and have a positive effect on the mental health of recipients. 3. Have proved to be a chance for marginalised and people in difficult and isolated circumstances to come together and offer mutual support by spending time engaging in creative activity. 4. Bring improvements in the mental well being of such people. These improvements will also have a knock on effect in their everyday lives and those that they associate with, thereby benefiting society as a whole. Many participants have reported continuing with creative activity outside of the workshops as they have found it a calming and therapeutic activity to engage in.

Other		Investigation and research into funding opportunities has been an essential focus of the charity during this period. This culminated in a successful application to the National Lottery enabling future projects to be planned and executed throughout 2022.

Achievements and Performance

	SORP reference
Summary of the main achievements of the charity, identifying the difference the charity's work has made to the circumstances of its beneficiaries and any wider benefits to society as a whole.	Para 1.20	Main achievements: The charity began this period with a limited programme of art workshops to be delivered to recipients in the groups identified in our purposes. Much concentration and effort was put into fundraising and this period saw a successful application by the charity to the National Lottery. A full plan of art workshops and associated administration was put to the National lottery. Following the award, beneficiaries for the workshops will be identified and workshops allocated and booked in. Written and verbal feedback from the charity's workshops so far indicate that the workshops: 1. provide an opportunity for people that is otherwise lacking in their lives 2. are extremely enjoyable and have a positive effect on the mental health of recipients. 3.
