

Foreword on behalf of the Chair of Trustees

In its first year, the Fathom Trust has established a direction of travel which, for those of us advocating for prudent and sustainable healthcare, is very exciting. As trustees, we were attracted by the vision for Fathom that was presented to us at the start, and it has been exciting to see that vision being realised with such vigour and imagination. Indeed, our colleague Prof Dame Clare Gerada, President of the Royal College of General Practitioners, has described The Fathom Trust as an organisation to watch saying, "Fathom is offering creative and thoughtful approaches to personal development and organisational growth that appeal to the whole person. This is what so many of us need after the trials of the last eighteen months."

The full vision for health and wellbeing in Wales has been set out in the Welsh Government's 'A Healthier Wales' (2018) and in the much-acclaimed 'Wellbeing of Future Generations Act' (2015) which seek to unite civil society with the public sector in a commitment to create a more sustainable future by creating the conditions for social, cultural, environmental and economic wellbeing. In addition, The Social Care and Wellbeing Act (2014) explicitly calls for social enterprises as a means of bringing health boards and local authorities together in partnership with communities to improve health and wellbeing. The Fathom Trust has been conceived as a practical expression of this vision for a 'whole system approach to health and social care, which is focused on health and wellbeing and on preventing illness.' It serves as a bridge between the public sector and civil society enabling each sector to be more than the sum of its parts by creating opportunities to make a long-term impact on poverty, health inequalities and climate change.

The Fathom Trust is a bold and innovative response to the challenges we face and an exciting expression of the kind of community-based healthcare that is being called for at all levels of society. A strong expression of this has been the Social Prescribing movement which has been shown to reduce the use of hospitals and GP practises by 20%. There is, it seems to me, an emphasis on the relational aspects of care that lies at the heart of Fathom and its objective to create personal value. This will be seen in improved patient experience and practitioner job satisfaction, but also in improved health behaviours and outcomes, and more effective use of resources. With the additional dimension of conservation and green care, Fathom is one of several exciting green prescribing initiatives in Wales, which seem destined to become a mainstay in our approach to creating health, preventing illness, reducing health inequity, and protecting our planet from harm.

Here in Wales, the Covid-19 pandemic has highlighted the extraordinary resourcefulness and dedication amongst our colleagues and our communities. It has also served as a stark reminder of the pressures on the system; pressures which are being felt particularly acutely by our colleagues, and their consequences by our communities. The Fathom Trust has demonstrated in its first year, that it can provide a powerful and potentially transformative service to our exhausted health workers and to those in our communities enduring chronic illness. The potential in its methodology – based on craft, conservation, and contemplation – is also beginning to be seen in its work with young people. This will be a vital aspect of Fathom's work and a valuable contribution to the therapeutic communities that Fathom aspires to create. As trustees, we'd like to thank Dr Beharrell and his team for all they have accomplished this year.

The Fathom Trust

Dr Iain McGilchrist MA (Oxon), BM, FRCPsych, FRSA.

An Introduction from the CEO

The Fathom Trust was registered as a Charitable Incorporated Organisation in July 2020 just four months after the Covid-19 pandemic was announced as a public health emergency. The measures introduced to control the pandemic have imposed some obvious constraints on the charity's ability to deliver its planned activities. Nonetheless, the charity has taken this opportunity to build a strong foundation by assembling a strong board of trustees, by drawing together a regional network of artisans, and by engaging a wide range of stakeholders in the local community. It has also spent time developing a distinct visual identity by creating a website and a promotional film. It has started to test and develop its different programmes, including a craft-based away day for NHS staff, and craft-based therapy with young people.

The pandemic has affected the nation's mental health and wellbeing. The impact has been felt particularly by people with pre-existing mental illness, young people, those from socio-economically deprived backgrounds and those people awaiting planned procedures or those unable to access to healthcare. This has highlighted the need for integrated and community-based approaches to healthcare and for opportunities for rest and recuperation for exhausted workers, not least in the NHS. It seems timely therefore that The Fathom Trust should be developing charitable programmes that will have a benefit both to local communities but also to the public bodies serving them, such as the NHS. We are grateful to the Hogg family for welcoming us so warmly to Penpont House, where we have been able to hold meetings and events.

Objectives

- To assist in the treatment and care of persons suffering from mental or physical illness of any description or in need of rehabilitation as a result of such illness, by provision of facilities for work, therapy, and recreation.
- To promote and protect the physical and mental health of sufferers of mental illness in Wales through provision of therapy, support, education, and practical advice.

The Fathom Trust

MAKING WELL

- To advance the education of the general public in all areas relating to mental illness

Activities

In February we gathered a number of healthcare leaders, including the Chair of the Bevan Commission for a presentation of the Fathom Trust. This group provided expert opinion on the charity's objectives and offered their full support for the charity.

We received our registration as a CIO from the Charity Commission on July 10th 2020.

In September 2020, The Fathom Trust organised an away day for the Chronic Pain and Fatigue Management Service, which is part of the NHS Powys Teaching Health Board in Wales. At that time, we were still allowed to gather up to thirty people outside and so we did exactly that: fifteen local craftsmen and women from the Usk valley and fifteen NHS colleagues, including psychologists, occupational therapists, GPs, physiotherapists, managers and administrative staff spent the day trying a range of different crafts including spoon carving, leatherwork, felting, willow weaving, green woodwork, wood carving, and antique embroidery. It was striking how many of the makers had found their peace through their chosen crafts. This was not lost on the participants who work with chronic pain patients across Powys and who themselves have had to deal with a range of mental illness in the course of their work. There was a wonderful sense of two very different perspectives – professional and creative - coming together to create a new approach to managing chronic pain and fatigue. Both groups expressed a commitment to working together to create further opportunities such as this for the people they serve across the county.

Here are some comments from the day:

“I found the connection with nature beneficial. It created a relaxed, thoughtful environment. The afternoon was wonderful with the opportunity to extend my usual boundaries. I found the Makers thoughtful, caring and full of joy. They were easy to engage with and I found myself having some in depth meaningful conversations.

“Being so engrossed in the task meant I didn't think of anything else.”

“I feel that I benefitted in many ways. I learnt a new skill that I always wanted to try with facilitators who were patient and friendly. My highlight was the mindfulness practice in the morning. I thoroughly enjoyed moving my body and having the time to just notice how I am feeling and take in the beautiful environment. I returned home feeling valued, relaxed and inspired.”

“Fantastic to be out in the sun in such lovely surroundings. Felt really relaxed with the mindful walk and in the mini maze with my shoes off! I enjoyed how Will made me think about using all my senses during the morning session, which seemed to open up a bit more of a creative side in me, which I wasn't aware of.”

“Improved self-esteem, reduced anxiety and was good rapport building.”

“I believe that this event may have inspired many people in the team to think how we can make our interventions more nature based”

“Concentrating upon the activities takes your mind away from your own personal issues and focuses it on the activity. You come aware refreshed and relaxed.”

Gentle activity-based learning is great to breakdown some of the barriers around ‘I can’t do it’, ‘it’s too difficult’ etc. Concentrating on the physical activity allows the brain to meander and forget, also, provides a great trigger for useful conversation. Although, some of the activities may need to be toned down a little (and, I really think this should just be, a little) there should be huge benefits in using activity to trigger positive change. Most experienced a great sense of achievement from their chosen activity, in addition removing people from their usual surroundings usually provide benefits.”

“Being absorbed in the task allowed for more free and comfortable discussions. “

“I have applied the activity of stepping outside for 10/15 mins and just noticing. I applied this in one of my sessions and there was excellent feedback from the users.”

“I liked the idea of undertaking a task whilst engaging in a conversation in a more comfortable setting. This may help to reduce anxiety by concentrating on physical activity and increase self-esteem by coming out with an end product.”

The time and financial investment in our branding, website, and community engagement enabled us to successfully apply for a grant from the Sustainability Development Fund, which is administered by the Brecon Beacons National Park Authority.

Plans for the Future

The situation with regard to the Covid-19 pandemic remains uncertain for 2021-22. We have the advantage that much of our work is spent outdoors, so we are confident that we can continue to test and refine our approach with small groups throughout the year.

Our objective is to evaluate these activities in order to create a theory of change and a number of case studies. This will help us secure funding to develop the charity and to run our programmes more effectively for a wider number of beneficiaries.

We will continue to expand the number of local artisans in the Fathom network and seek to diversify and strengthen our Board.

(remember to include the page numbers of additional sheets)

I report to the trustees on my examination of the accounts of the above charity ("the Trust") for the year ended 31/03/2021.

Responsibilities and basis of report

As the charity's trustees, you are responsible for the preparation of the accounts in accordance with the requirements of the Charities Act 2011 ("the Act").

I report in respect of my examination of the Trust's accounts carried out under section 145 of the 2011 Act and in carrying out my examination, I have followed all the applicable Directions given by the Charity Commission under section 145(5)(b) of the Act.

examiner's statement

I have completed my examination. I confirm that no material matters have come to my attention in connection with the examination gives me cause to believe that in, any material respect:

- the accounting records were not kept in accordance with section 130 of the Charities Act; or
- the accounts did not accord with the accounting records; or
- the accounts did not comply with the applicable requirements concerning the form and content of accounts set out in the Charities (Accounts and Reports) Regulations 2008 other than any requirement that the accounts give a 'true and fair' view which is not a matter considered as part of an independent examination.

I have no concerns and have come across no other matters in connection with the examination to which attention should be drawn in this report in order to enable a proper understanding of the accounts to be reached.
