Objectives and Activities

	SORP reference
Summary of the purposes of the charity as set out in its governing document	Para 1.17	The Innocence Project London (IPL) provides students with the opportunity to review and investigate cases of convicted individuals who have maintained their innocence but have exhausted the criminal appeals process. The aim of our work is to submit an application to the Criminal Cases Review Commission (CCRC) on behalf of our clients. The CCRC is an independent body which reviews possible miscarriages of justice in the United Kingdom. In order for the CCRC to refer a case back to the Court of Appeal they need to identify new evidence, or a new legal argument not identified at the time of the trial, that might have changed the whole outcome of the trial if the jury had been given a chance to consider it. The IPL supports convicted individuals to make these applications pro bono, filling a gap in the criminal legal system where there is limited funding for lawyers to undertake this work
Summary of the main activities in relation to those purposes for the public benefit, in particular, the activities, projects or services identified in the accounts.	Para 1.17 and 1.19	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• By providing administrative and expert support in collaboration with other public bodies to convicted individuals whose convictions may be unsafe• By making submissions to the Criminal Cases Review Commission on behalf of individuals who claim to be wrongfully convicted or who have suffered a miscarriage of justice• By creating awareness about wrongful convictions and miscarriages of justice in England and Wales• By creating awareness of issues concerning the disclosure of evidence post-conviction through conducting research and by publishing useful results

		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> By promoting education and conducting research into areas of criminal law
Statement confirming whether the trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit	Para 1.18	The trustees have complied with the Charity Commission's guidance on public benefit and are fully aware of the charity's objects and purpose. The trustees have fulfilled their duties with the public benefit of IPL in mind at all times

Period end date

Charity name: Innocence Project London

Charity registration number: 1190617

Objectives and Activities

	SORP reference
Summary of the purposes of the charity as set out in its governing document	Para 1.17	The Innocence Project London (IPL) provides students with the opportunity to review and investigate cases of convicted individuals who have maintained their innocence but have exhausted the criminal appeals process. The aim of our work is to submit an application to the Criminal Cases Review Commission (CCRC) on behalf of our clients. The CCRC is an independent body which reviews possible miscarriages of justice in the United Kingdom. In order for the CCRC to refer a case back to the Court of Appeal they need to identify new evidence, or a new legal argument not identified at the time of the trial, that might have changed the whole outcome of the trial if the jury had been given a chance to consider it. The IPL supports convicted individuals to make these applications pro bono, filling a gap in the criminal legal system where there is limited funding for lawyers to undertake this work.
Summary of the main activities in relation to those purposes for the public benefit, in particular, the activities, projects or services identified in the accounts.	Para 1.17 and 1.19	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• By providing administrative and expert support in collaboration with other public bodies to convicted individuals whose convictions may be unsafe;• By making submissions to the Criminal Cases Review Commission on behalf of individuals who claim to be wrongfully convicted or who have suffered a miscarriage of justice;

		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • By creating awareness about wrongful convictions and miscarriages of justice in England and Wales; • By creating awareness of issues concerning the disclosure of evidence post-conviction through conducting research and by publishing useful results; and • By promoting education and conducting research into areas of criminal law.
Statement confirming whether the trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit	Para 1.18	The trustees have complied with the Charity Commission's guidance on public benefit and are fully aware of the charity's objects and purpose. The trustees have fulfilled their duties with the public benefit of IPL in mind at all times.
