Structure, Governance and Management

The charity was founded in Oxford by students. The original trustees jointly established the charity. The charity does not currently operate an active management structure and does not recruit or appoint new trustees.

Objectives and Activities

The charity's objectives are:

1. To advance education for the public benefit in the field of public affairs and international relations, with a particular focus on UK–China relations and cultural diversity.
2. To promote diversity and inclusion within UK society by encouraging dialogue, understanding, and cooperation between different cultural and social groups.
3. To increase public understanding of international relations through lectures, seminars, research, publications, and accessible educational resources.
4. To provide opportunities for young people and students to develop skills, experience, and engagement in diplomacy, cultural exchange, and public affairs.
5. To foster cross-cultural collaboration through partnerships with universities, schools, charities, and community groups, creating platforms for cultural exchange and reducing prejudice.

During the reporting period, no activities were carried out.
