Objectives and Activities

	SORP reference
Summary of the purposes of the charity as set out in its governing document	Para 1.17	To promote social inclusion for the public benefit by preventing people from becoming socially excluded, relieving the needs of those people who are socially excluded and assisting them to integrate into society. For the purpose of this clause 'socially excluded' means being excluded from society, or parts of society, as a result of having your child removed (or who is at risk of becoming pregnant and their child/ren removed from their care). Mothers and fathers who have a child removed from their care are socially excluded due to the impact this process has on their mental health, health, the stigma they experience, substance use, involvement with the criminal justice system, poor educational attainment/unemployment and disadvantage that can follow from the above. This particular group of parents are also socially excluded as a result of a number of factors that precede their involvement in care proceedings, including: having been a young person in care, mental health difficulties, learning disabilities, substance use, poor educational attainment, and disadvantage arising from contextual issues (e.g. financial hardship, poverty, family breakdown, poor housing, being a victim of crime, socio-economic status and discrimination on the grounds of youth, class, sex, race, ethnic origin, sexual orientation).

We aim to do this by:

1. Supporting this group of parents to participate in the wider community by providing opportunities for connection with others with whom they have shared experiences, providing opportunities for co-produced activities, while providing holistic support to assist their participation.
2. Alleviating the distress caused by parent's previous experiences of social exclusion, and providing on-going support for parents who are managing the trauma and loss of having a child removed from their care, and the further social exclusion that this brings.
3. Raising awareness among professionals who work with this particular group of parents as well as the wider health network by highlighting their experiences of social exclusion and the challenges that result from this.
4. Raising public awareness of the needs and experiences of this particular group of parents in relation to their social exclusion and experiences by highlighting the context of their experience, stigma and discrimination they experiences which impacts on their ability to integrate into society.
5. Contributing to and furthering the knowledge base in relation to this area by conducting research projects to inform 'the development of preventative and early intervention projects to support this particular group of parents, and to inform and support the awareness-raising activities in 3 and 4.

Summary of the main activities in relation to those purposes for the public benefit, in particular, the activities, projects or services identified in the accounts.	Para 1.17 and 1.19	It has been a very disappointing year with a range of endeavours not resulting in meaningful activity. We were involved in a range of research bids and grants that were unsuccessful and are reviewing our current operations and activities as it has been a very difficult climate.
Statement confirming whether the trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit	Para 1.18	The Trustees have considered that specific guidance and despite disappointing outcomes of the previous years endeavours, the activities of Reframe provides a public benefit.

Objectives and Activities

	SORP reference
Summary of the purposes of the charity as set out in its governing document	Para 1.17	To promote social inclusion for the public benefit by preventing people from becoming socially excluded, relieving the needs of those people who are socially excluded and assisting them to integrate into society. For the purpose of this clause 'socially excluded' means being excluded from society, or parts of society, as a result of having your child removed (or who is at risk of becoming pregnant and their child/ren removed from their care). Mothers and fathers who have a child removed from their care are socially excluded due to the impact this process has on their mental health, health, the stigma they experience, substance use, involvement with the criminal justice system, poor educational attainment/unemployment and disadvantage that can follow from the above. This particular group of parents are also socially excluded as a result of a number of factors that precede their involvement in care proceedings, including: having been a young person in care, mental health difficulties, learning disabilities, substance use, poor educational attainment, and disadvantage arising from contextual issues (e.g. financial hardship, poverty, family breakdown, poor housing, being a victim of crime, socio-economic status and discrimination on the grounds of youth, class, sex, race, ethnic origin, sexual orientation).

We aim to do this by:

1. Supporting this group of parents to participate in the wider community by providing opportunities for connection with others with whom they have shared experiences, providing opportunities for co-produced activities, while providing holistic support to assist their participation.
2. Alleviating the distress caused by parent's previous experiences of social exclusion, and providing on-going support for parents who are managing the trauma and loss of having a child removed from their care, and the further social exclusion that this brings.
3. Raising awareness among professionals who work with this particular group of parents as well as the wider health network by highlighting their experiences of social exclusion and the challenges that result from this.
4. Raising public awareness of the needs and experiences of this particular group of parents in relation to their social exclusion and experiences by highlighting the context of their experience, stigma and discrimination they experiences which impacts on their ability to integrate into society.
5. Contributing to and furthering the knowledge base in relation to this area by conducting research projects to inform 'the development of preventative and early intervention projects to support this particular group of parents, and to inform and support the awareness-raising activities in 3 and 4.

Summary of the main activities in relation to those purposes for the public benefit, in particular, the activities, projects or services identified in the accounts.	Para 1.17 and 1.19	During this time frame we had a charity consultant provide support to the team of trustees. We developed and co-produced a peer mentor programme and working with several local authorities to support their involvement of birth parents. We provided training on co-production and involvement.

Objectives and Activities

	SORP reference
Summary of the purposes of the charity as set out in its governing document	Para 1.17	To promote social inclusion for the public benefit by preventing people from becoming socially excluded, relieving the needs of those people who are socially excluded and assisting them to integrate into society. For the purpose of this clause 'socially excluded' means being excluded from society, or parts of society, as a result of having your child removed (or who is at risk of becoming pregnant and their child/ren removed from their care). Mothers and fathers who have a child removed from their care are socially excluded due to the impact this process has on their mental health, health, the stigma they experience, substance use, involvement with the criminal justice system, poor educational attainment/unemployment and disadvantage that can follow from the above. This particular group of parents are also socially excluded as a result of a number of factors that precede their involvement in care proceedings, including: having been a young person in care, mental health difficulties, learning disabilities, substance use, poor educational attainment, and disadvantage arising from contextual issues (e.g. financial hardship, poverty, family breakdown, poor housing, being a victim of crime, socio-economic status and discrimination on the grounds of youth, class, sex, race, ethnic origin, sexual orientation).

We aim to do this by:

1. Supporting this group of parents to participate in the wider community by providing opportunities for connection with others with whom they have shared experiences, providing opportunities for co-produced activities, while providing holistic support to assist their participation.
2. Alleviating the distress caused by parent's previous experiences of social exclusion, and providing on-going support for parents who are managing the trauma and loss of having a child removed from their care, and the further social exclusion that this brings.
3. Raising awareness among professionals who work with this particular group of parents as well as the wider health network by highlighting their experiences of social exclusion and the challenges that result from this.
4. Raising public awareness of the needs and experiences of this particular group of parents in relation to their social exclusion and experiences by highlighting the context of their experience, stigma and discrimination they experiences which impacts on their ability to integrate into society.
5. Contributing to and furthering the knowledge base in relation to this area by conducting research

		projects to inform 'the development of preventative and early intervention projects to support this particular group of parents, and to inform and support the awareness-raising activities in 3 and 4.
Summary of the main activities in relation to those purposes for the public benefit, in particular, the activities, projects or services identified in the accounts.	Para 1.17 and 1.19	During this time frame we had a charity consultant provide support to the team of trustees. We also had a charity consult support us in reviewing our governance processes. We continued with additional online focus groups out of which several different avenues of support started being explored (e.g. peer mentoring). We were able to attend events to raise awareness regarding the birth parent experience.
Statement confirming whether the trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit	Para 1.18	The Trustees have considered that specific guidance and that they are satisfied that the activities of Reframe provides a public benefit.

Achievements and Performance

	SORP reference
Summary of the main achievements of the charity, identifying the difference the charity's work has made to the circumstances of its beneficiaries and any wider benefits to society as a whole.	Para 1.20	Covid continued to have an impact this financial year both in terms of impact on various members of the volunteer group but also in terms of accessing online versus face to face opportunities. Some pieces of work and projects had to be delayed due to Covid (e.g. presenting at a legal conference). Attending the mentoring training became difficult for some of the birth parents involved and therefore we considered alternative ways we could support their development. Ongoing development projects looking to develop ideas with birth parents around support packages.

Summary of the main activities in relation to those purposes for the public benefit, in particular, the activities, projects or services identified in the accounts.	Para 1.17 and 1.19	During this time frame we funded a parent to access support via Open Nest following the removal of their child. In addition to this we planned to fund a mentoring course for two birth parents that had been involved with the steering group and paid for their time in planning awareness raising sessions through training social and psychological professionals. We also held a focus group to gather the priorities of this cohort of parents.
Statement confirming whether the trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit	Para 1.18	The Trustees have considered that specific guidance and that they are satisfied that the activities of Reframe provides a public benefit.

Summary of the main achievements of the charity, identifying the difference the charity's work has made to the circumstances of its beneficiaries and any wider benefits to society as a whole.	Para 1.20	Covid had a significant impact on the objectives set for the year and required a move from face-to-face meetings and events to online. Additionally, the impact of Covid on individual members of the team resulted in challenges throughout the time period. During the first submission period the working group and trustees consolidated their aims and objectives for the year. We took up opportunities to present the perspectives of birth parents at various events. We were able to provide online support groups for birth parents online facilitated by a birth parent and solution focused therapist. We also began work to prioritise hearing from birth parents about what they feel is most important for them through online focus groups.
