Section C Objectives and activities

Summary of the objects of the charity set out in its governing document

The Owl Centre charity's aim is to provide educational resources, training, and support for individuals with additional needs (such as neurodiversity, communication difficulties, or mental health challenges), their families, and the professionals who work with them. It achieves this through creating bespoke psycho-education packages, running workshops, and offering specialist information, with both UK and international reach. The charity works with various partners to provide guidance, support, and community resources, including training for professionals in developing countries.

- Support for individuals and families:

The charity provides resources, information, and support for people with neurodiverse needs, mental health challenges, and communication difficulties.

- Professional training:

It delivers training programs, workshops, and conferences for parents and professionals to build their skills in supporting individuals with additional needs.

- Bespoke intervention packages:

The Owl Centre Charity creates tailored packages focusing on British best practices for a wide range of needs, including autism and ADHD.

- International collaboration:

Summary of the main activities undertaken for the public benefit in relation to these objects (include within this section the statutory declaration that trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit)

The charity works with international partners to provide training and support in developing countries, with a focus on empowering local professionals.

- Specialist expertise:
It draws on a multi-disciplinary team of specialists, including speech and language therapists, occupational therapists, psychotherapists, and medical experts, to deliver its services in the UK and abroad, and to create psycho-education packages.
- Community and partnership work:
The charity engages with community initiatives and partners with other charities, such as the Saigon Children’s Charity, to support specific groups.

We had a quiet year mainly due to our CEO’s personal circumstances but our main activity 2024 centred around a successful National Lottery bid for £20k to create a website – waitingwell.co.uk to support people waiting for autism and ADHD assessments.

During Q4, we prepared the activities for Waiting Well so that they could begin in Q1 2025. These activities were organising content, filming, scripts, web design and launch.

The CEO and a trustee attended a NCVO training course on charity governance and trustee responsibilities. The information was filtered down through the team and consequently a trustee pack was created.

We continue to try to establish partnerships with organisations in Kyrgyzstan and India.

Section D Achievements and performance

Summary of the main achievements of the charity during the year

The charity remains small with only one UK based project (Waiting Well) and one main overseas project in Vietnam (Saigon Children’s Charity) to focus on. Next year, we plan to re-train the trustees and relaunch the charity. We will then apply for a wider range of grants closer to home as well as overseas.

Section E Financial review

Brief statement of the charity's policy on reserves

The charity did not require reserves during this year.

Details of any funds materially in deficit

None

Further financial review details

You may choose to include additional information, where relevant about:

- the charity's principal sources of funds (including any fundraising);
- how expenditure has supported the key objectives of the charity;
- investment policy and objectives including any ethical investment policy adopted.

You will note an erroneous payment on the charity accounts for 2024. The details of this have been identified and reported to the Board. This was a short-term error, and the matter was formally minuted with the full amount being repaid to the charity in the subsequent financial year.

Our main event was a training programme in Vietnam in June 2023. A team of 6 clinicians; 2 x Speech Therapists, 1 x OT, 1 x Play Therapist, 1 x paediatrician, 1 x autism advisory teacher, trained 30 Special School teachers in British evidence-based practices for children with a diagnosis of autism. We devised the programme and delivered it over a period of three weeks.

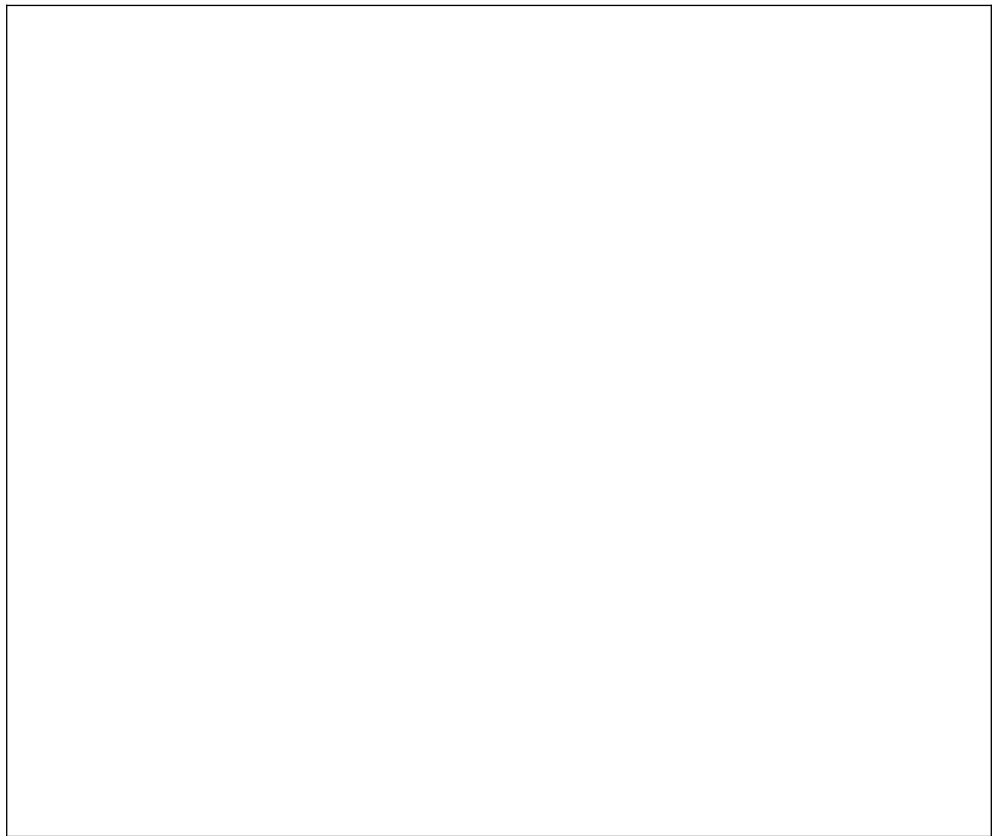

We continue to try to establish partnerships with organisations in Kirgizstan and Nepal.

Nothing to report. The Owl Centre was only established during this time period and all the trustees were familiarising themselves with the charity's aim and settling into their roles and responsibilities.

Section C Objectives and activities

Summary of the objects of the charity set out in its governing document

The Owl Centre Charity provides bespoke therapy training programmes in UK and overseas.

In our first year of operation, we aimed to focus our activities on developing our programmes and networks, raising funds to support their successful delivery, and launching our new parent and therapist services – in the UK and overseas.

Summary of the main activities undertaken for the public benefit in relation to these objects (include within this section the statutory declaration that trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit)

During this period, very little activity took place due to covid 19. Our trustees had 4 meetings across this year with an external consultant to try to establish a regular form of revenue for the charity. We created a package called Communication Matters and distributed it to two large companies. Nothing came to fruition from this.

We connected with Saigon Children's Charity and delivered 4 online training courses to special needs teachers. This was well received.

We met with and tried to establish links with an organisation in Turkmenistan and Nepal.

Additional details of objectives and activities (Optional information)

You may choose to include further statements, where relevant, about:

- policy on grantmaking;
- policy programme related investment;

Summary of the main achievements of the charity during the year

Sadly, the charity achieved very little this year. Our main aim was to provide training courses overseas and this was a 'no hoper' due to Covid.
