Section two: Structure, governance and management

Type of governing document:

Charity 1192489 – Charitable Incorporated Organisation - Foundation

The charity received registration from Charities Commission (England) on 23rd November 2020

Trustees were appointed based on: familial and non-familial links to Christopher Richard James Tromans, who died on 5th April 2016. He had endured life limiting health conditions which although they affected him during his short life of 28 years, his determination, courage and effort ensured that he lived life to the full. He was and continues to be an inspiration to others, which is why the decision to establish a foundation in his name was the next step.

Trustees have been drawn from within his family of origin and life-long friends. Passion and commitment was important during the selection process but also abilities, skills and knowledge not only of the condition and health issues experienced by Christopher during his short life, but also the skills and knowledge that would be necessary to establish the foundation, including governance aspects.

Policies

The policy framework that is being established, and growing, includes:

- ❖ Complaints handling
- ❖ Risk management
- ❖ Safeguarding vulnerable beneficiaries
- ❖ Fund raising
- ❖ Disbursement of funding to beneficiaries via recognised 3rd party specialist services
- ❖ Reserve's policy – Currently in development
- ❖ Scheme of delegation

Conflict of Interest

A Conflict of Interest Register was initiated at the Trustee meeting on 31st January 2021 and is now a formal part of each meeting. The Trustees confirmed that they had no conflicts of interest.

Risk management statement

The trustees take responsibility for management of risk with CRJTromans Foundation. Major risks are reviewed by the Trustees at their regular meetings and control systems have been established to manage those risks. Ongoing risks relate to securing sustainable funding.

Public benefit statement

All trustees have complied with their duty to have due regard to guidance on public benefit when exercising their duties.

Financial review

All accounts have been prepared on receipts and payments basis.

Section three: Objectives and activities

Summary of the objects of the charity set out in its governing document – Registration 1192489	The Trustees shall hold the trust fund and its income upon trust to apply them for the following objects (“the objects”): Preserve and protect the good health of children and adolescents who have a liver condition by: a. Raising awareness of the existence of and impact of liver conditions in children and adolescents; and b. Providing restricted donations through a nominated specialist centre to those directly affected by such a condition, where the child/adolescent is receiving medical treatment in order to provide some level of emotional respite for a nominate child/adolescent and/or family by facilitating or provision of a specialist treat or opportunity, such as a birthday party, or equipment to help maintain contact with friends and family.
Summary of the main activities in relation to these objects	a. To create links/partnerships with specialist professional clinical centres who are currently treating children/adolescents with existing liver conditions. Centres such as the Childrens Liver Disease Foundation (CDLF) b. To raise funds, in the name of Christopher Richard James Tromans Foundation CRJTF, to make restricted donations to specialist centres, such as CDLF – which are restricted donations to be used within parameters set by CRJTF that they be updated on how the funds have been used to benefit children/adolescents/families within the ethos of the gift i.e. create and uplift in emotional well-being c. From a lived experience perspective, family and friends of Christopher Richard James Tromans will seek opportunities to raise awareness of the impact of liver disease on children/adolescents/families; and the need for funds to help increase their emotional resilience.
