Review of the activities and future development

British Ophthalmic Anaesthesia Society (BOAS) held its annual scientific meeting in London on 5-6 July 2022. This was the first 'in-person' scientific meeting/conference since the lifting of Covid-19 pandemic restrictions. The meeting was well received, though attendance was a little lower than at previous London meetings- presumably because of ongoing concerns regarding Covid. In addition to lectures on issues of topical interest, doctors in training did presentations and posters pertaining to their audit and research activities. Prizes were awarded to the best presentations. BOAS also published two editions of academic journal titled 'Ophthalmic Anaesthesia' during the year. These contained clinical reports and review articles pertaining to the specialist field. It was hoped that continuing recovery from the Covid pandemic will allow resumption of 'normal' face to face meetings in 2023-4.

Reserves policy and risk management

We currently hold cash at the bank amounting to £44,368, none of which is restricted. The unrestricted funds are held in order to meet the demands of the charity in respect to the advancement of health. The trustees consider this level of reserves to be appropriate.

The trustees monitor the financial position of the association at each trustee meeting and examine other operational and business risks. The trustees are satisfied that systems are in place to mitigate the exposure to the major risks.
