Charity name: Epistemic

Charity registration number: 1193217

Objectives and Activities

	SORP reference
Summary of the purposes of the charity as set out in its governing document	Para 1.17	To act as a resource for young people living in the United Kingdom by providing advice and assistance and organising programmes of educational and other activities, in particular but not exclusively through workshops and sessions in Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics (STEM) topics and careers as a means of: a) Advancing in life and helping young people by developing their skills, capacities and capabilities to enable them to participate in society as mature and responsible individuals; b) Advancing education; c) Relieving unemployment.
Summary of the main activities in relation to those purposes for the public benefit, in particular, the activities, projects or services identified in the accounts.	Para 1.17 and 1.19	Epistemic aims to ensure that all young people in the UK, regardless of their geographical location, have the opportunity to engage with professionals working in STEM in order to inspire and encourage them to pursue STEM careers. We do this by providing a free service connecting schools and youth groups directly to STEM professionals via a video conferencing platform. These sessions are flexible and allow young people to engage in open dialogue with those working in STEM industries/academia. The Epistemic trustees are focussing on maturing the charity including finalising the required policies, development of a logo and aesthetics, applying for funding and carrying out trials with schools and training providers.

Statement confirming whether the trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit	Para 1.18	The trustees of Epistemic have volunteered their time and energy to the activities of Epistemic so that the charity can fulfil its goal to engage with and inspire young people into STEM. The trustees have taken the commission's public benefit guidance into account when making any decision it is relevant to. Epistemic is in a 'maturation' stage where the activities being carried out and decisions being made by the trustees are to establish the charity and will enable us to conduct our main activities (providing interactive sessions between young people and STEM professionals to educate and advise on potential career pathways) that will directly benefit of all young people across the UK that engage with our services. Unfortunately, our trustees have had personal life changes (e.g. children, going back to university part time, bereavement) in the previous year and activities were paused to allow the trustees to focus their attention on these matters. The trustees anticipate return to activity in the near future.

		Epistemic has been set up and is being

Contribution made by volunteers	Para 1.38	progressed entirely by the voluntary action of its trustees. They commit their personal time and energy to this endeavour and the founding members of Epistemic are extremely grateful for this so would like to use this opportunity to once again express their thanks and deep gratitude to them. The scope for volunteers for Epistemic will grow as it does and policies and strategies have been worked up to help with recruitment and management of said volunteers. As mentioned above, the volunteers have had personal life changes in activities have been paused to allow the volunteers to focus their attention on extenuating personal matters. Epistemic anticipates return to activity in the near future.
Other		Future Activity The trustees of Epistemic previously laid out a detailed action plan, before the formal pausing of activities. This plan is still considered to be valid however it will be reviewed when the trustees are able to resume volunteering activities. When setting out this plan, the trustees of Epistemic specifically considered the Charity Commission's guidance on public benefit to ensure we align our targets. The activities within the plan aim to transition the charity from 'maturing' to full scale delivery for public benefit. These activities include: • More trial sessions with primary schools • More trial sessions with secondary schools • Publicity campaign to promote the service within schools • Recruitment campaign for STEM professionals • Update of all policies and regulations • Review of all policies and regulations by a legal professional

		• Finalisation of logo and general aesthetic to help build the charity's brand (related to publicity campaign) • Application for grants and other funding/donations - this has been a critical issue for the last financial year, so we are making this top priority • Gather more testimonies • Generation of templates for STEM pros to use for their sessions • Engagement with Professional Engineering Institutions and other STEM related organisations • Expand delivery of sessions following feedback from trials

Type of governing document (trust deed, royal charter)	Para 1.25	Constitution, adopted 14/01/2021, updated 14/08/2022

Trustee selection methods including details of any constitutional provisions e.g. election to post or name of any person or body entitled to appoint one or more trustees	Para 1.25	Trustees are appointed for a term of three years and can stand down or stand for re-elected by the remaining trustees at the end of their term, as per the constitution. The three founding trustees have been appointed for 7, 6 and 5 years to ensure continuity. At the end of their terms they may stand down or stand for re-election. Trustees are recruited in one of two ways: ● Skills Gap Analysis: a gap analysis of the skills and experiences of the current trustees to identify where existing trustees skills are not sufficient to progress Epistemic, for example in this financial reporting year we identified a gap for a treasurer with financial knowledge/experience. We then reached out to our networks and asked for applicants. The applicants were then proposed and voted at an Epistemic trustees meeting (in line with the constitution) and an offer made to the right applicant, who accepted and joined the Board of Trustees. ● Expression of interest: an individual approaches one of the existing trustees and is interested in supporting. The trustees then discuss this at the next meeting and vote to determine if the potential trustee is able to provide benefit to the Board of Trustees and/or has the capacity to support on-going activities (in line with the constitution). A decision is then recorded in the minutes and the potential trustees informed of the outcome.
