Achievements and Performance

	SORP reference

Summary of the main achievements of the charity, identifying the difference the charity's work has made to the circumstances of its beneficiaries and any wider benefits to society as a whole.	Para 1.20	Halfway Community Centre Charity continues to deliver services for the benefit of the local community and the wider area. During the reporting period, the charity has continued to develop and enhance both its indoor facilities and outdoor grounds to better support community use. The building and surrounding environment provide a safe, welcoming and calm setting, and the charity offers a range of spaces for hire to a variety of service users to support community engagement and sustainability. The charity's building is rented for the specific purpose of supporting children and families with additional needs. The services delivered from the premises provide alternative provision for children from the local community and the wider areas of Sheffield, Derbyshire and Rotherham. The provision offers children opportunities to participate in activities that promote their physical, cognitive, social and emotional wellbeing. The accessible outdoor space enables children to engage in play, physical activity and exploration, while the indoor environment provides a safe, supportive and stimulating setting for learning and social interaction. The charity's beneficiaries include children, parents, carers, foster carers, adoptive parents, schools, local authorities and social care professionals. The impact of this work extends beyond individual beneficiaries, contributing positively to the wider community. In addition, the building supports professional learning and development for schools and staff working with children and families. The premises are used to facilitate training, reflective practice and skills development linked to the alternative provision, enabling professionals to strengthen their understanding of inclusive practice, neurodiversity and therapeutic approaches. This contributes to improved practice within schools and services, extending the charity's impact beyond those directly accessing the provision. The centre is also used by a community theatre group during the evenings, supporting creativity, confidence and social connection.

		During school holidays, the building is used to provide respite childcare for families within the community, offering safe and supportive care for children who may otherwise struggle to access suitable provision. A seasonal playgroup is delivered from the premises, and the centre is further utilised by a range of independent therapists, enabling additional specialist support for children and families. Through making the premises available for therapeutic alternative provision and a range of complementary community services, the charity supports children who may otherwise be unable to access education, are at risk of exclusion, or experience significant difficulties engaging with mainstream school settings. Overall, the charity's work to develop the building and grounds has made a meaningful difference to children with additional needs and their families, offering a welcoming and inclusive environment where they feel safe, supported and able to flourish.

Summary of the main achievements of the charity, identifying the difference the charity's work has made to the circumstances of its beneficiaries and any wider benefits to society as a whole.	Para 1.20	Halfway Community Centre Charity is continuing to offer services within the community and beyond. The charity has continued to develop the inside and outside spaces for use by the community. The building and grounds provide a calm welcoming and safe environment and provides spaces that it rents out to different service users. The charity building space is rented out for the purpose of supporting children and families with additional needs. The service offered by use of the building is alternative provision for children across the community, Sheffield, Derbyshire, Rotherham. It provides opportunities for children to engage in activities that promote their physical, cognitive, social and emotional well-being. The accessible outdoor space allows children to engage in play, physical activity, and exploration, while the indoor space provides a safe and stimulating environment for learning and socialisation. The beneficiaries include: children, parents, carers, foster carers, adoptive parents, schools, local authorities, social care. The benefits are to the wider community and beyond. The charity allows the children therapeutic alternative provision to children that otherwise would not be in education, at risk of exclusion or finding education in school to difficult. The charity runs a weekly community toddler group for all families from within the community and beyond. The group is established and offers a safe space for families to come and socialise and offer support for mental health and wellbeing and to seek additional support. The group specialises in supporting young children with additional needs. The charity is a hub of information for families who may need onward referrals and information on other local authority and NHS services and voluntary or charity services/groups. The building is also used by an amateur theatre group that rents the space two evenings per week for rehearsals. The charity's efforts in developing the building and grounds and becoming established within the community have helped to address the barriers that children with additional needs often face in accessing appropriate facilities and activities. By creating a space that is tailored to their needs, the charity has made a significant contribution to the health, happiness, and development of these children. The charity has continued to develop its building with support from users to put in a children's toilet block. Outdoor sink and other additions including astroturf and develop the woodland area with planting and forest school activity spaces. Overall, the charity's achievements in developing the building and grounds have

A comprehensive induction process: This covers the charity's vision, mission, values, and strategic goals, as well as its governance structure, legal and regulatory requirements, and policies and procedures. The induction is tailored to the individual needs of each trustee, and should include opportunities for them to meet key staff and stakeholders, and to familiarize themselves with the charity's operations. 2. Ongoing training and development: Trustees will be provided with regular training and development opportunities to ensure that they have the skills and knowledge required to carry out their roles effectively. This includes training on specific issues such as fundraising, risk management, and financial management, as well as broader skills such as leadership, communication, and teamwork. 3. Clear expectations and responsibilities: Trustees are provided with a clear understanding of their roles and responsibilities, and what is expected of them in terms of their time commitment, attendance at meetings, and participation in the charity's activities. This outline is in a written trustee agreement, which is regularly reviewed and updated as necessary. 4. Succession planning: our charity should has a clear plan for the recruitment and succession of trustees. This includes a process for identifying potential new trustees, assessing their suitability for the role, and ensuring that they receive a thorough induction and training.

Statement confirming whether the trustees have had regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit	Para 1.18	It is a legal requirement for trustees of charities in the UK to have regard to the guidance issued by the Charity Commission on public benefit. The guidance outlines the legal requirements and expectations for charities to demonstrate public benefit in their activities and operations. Trustees have a duty to act in the best interests of the charity, and this includes ensuring that the charity is operating in accordance with its charitable purposes and providing public benefit. Therefore, it is expected that trustees have taken the Charity Commission guidance on public benefit into account when making decisions and carrying out their duties. All current trustees of the charity agree to and understand the above in acting in the charities, best interests.

Achievements and Performance

Summary of the main achievements of the charity, identifying the difference the charity's work has made to the circumstances of its beneficiaries and any wider benefits to society as a whole.	Para 1.20	The charity has achieved significant progress in developing the existing building and grounds to create a welcoming and safe environment for children with additional needs. The incorporation of an excellent outside space and indoor space provides a supportive and accessible setting where children can learn, play, and socialize. Through the development of the building and grounds, the charity has provided opportunities for children with additional needs to engage in activities that promote their physical, cognitive, and emotional well-being. The accessible outdoor space allows children to engage in play, physical activity, and exploration, while the indoor space provides a safe and stimulating environment for learning and socialisation. The charity's efforts in developing the building and grounds have helped to address the barriers that children with additional needs often face in accessing appropriate facilities and activities. By creating a space that is tailored to their needs, the charity has made a significant contribution to the health, happiness, and development of these children. Overall, the charity's achievements in developing the building and grounds have had a positive impact on the lives of children with additional needs and their families, providing them with a supportive and inclusive space where they can thrive.
