Para 1.20	Work is ongoing in relation to the lifeboat. She is currently housed in a marquee where work by a skilled shipwright takes place. Over the next two years we hope to complete the restoration at which time the lifeboat will be made seaworthy and will be publicly displayed. The restoration process will involve local volunteers, apprentices and enhance the retention of traditional skills. Ultimately the restored lifeboat will generate local interest in the maritime heritage and drive economic benefit through tourist interest.
