Our Mission and Charity Activities

Our Mission

We are a charity founded and run by people from the Showmen and Fairground community.

We aim to improve access to psychological therapies, build awareness of mental health in our community and break the stigma surrounding it. We do this by providing information, support and funding for private mental health services to all Showmen (of all ages) in the UK & Ireland.

Charity Activities

The Showmen's Mental Health Awareness Charity operates in three areas:

- Mental Health Services: Offering tailored mental health support designed to meet the unique needs of individuals within our community.
- Education: Empower the community through education about mental health, and providing training to service providers to improve engagement and effectiveness.
- Awareness: Breaking down stigma and fostering open conversations to create a safe and inclusive environment where mental health challenges can be addressed without fear or judgment.

We strive to support our community's well-being through all of our activities, by raising awareness and fostering good mental health.

We recognise the importance of tailored mental health services, everything that we offer is grounded in an understanding of Showmen culture and the challenges faced by our members. Every area of our work is designed in collaboration with our community, ensuring it meets their unique needs. The voices of our community have always been central to shaping our services and continue to inspire our charitable initiatives to this day

Mental Health Services

The Showmen's Mental Health Awareness Charity (SMHAC) specialise in providing fast and effective mental health support and funding to the Showmen community for external services when necessary.

Self-Referral

To access the charity's services, people must self-refer through our website, refer through a Mental Health Liaison Officer (MHLO) or contact the SMHAC mental health nurse directly.

Screening Service

The charity currently works with a private mental health nurse and a clinical assessor who screen adults, children and young people seeking support. Every individual who accesses our mental health services undergo a screening process with our clinical team, following submission of a self-referral form, referral from an MHLO or the SMHAC mental health nurse.

The screening process allows the clinical team to assess the service user's current well-being and level of risk, and to discuss any concerns they may have. Through an open and collaborative discussion, the clinician works with the service user to determine the most appropriate mental health pathway, ensuring that tailored support is offered to align with their individual needs.

Once screening is complete, a referral document is produced. Depending on the service user's individual requirements and preferences, they are either signposted to further support services, a therapist or a counsellor.

Therapy & Counselling

The SMHAC provides funding for private therapy and counselling services. Currently, the charity covers up to 12 private therapy or counselling sessions for any Show Person in the UK and Ireland. This support can be extended to 20 sessions through a straightforward extension process, in which the therapist contacts us to confirm that both they and the service user believe an additional 8 sessions would be beneficial. Importantly, this request does not include any sensitive details about the content of the sessions.

The time of initial contact from referral to commencement of private therapy or counselling sessions typically ranges from 2-6 weeks.

Education & Awareness

The SMHAC firmly believes that education is a powerful and effective means of prevention. By prioritising access to knowledge and understanding, the charity works diligently to support our community in various ways. One of the primary methods employed involves developing and distributing comprehensive educational materials designed to inform and engage individuals of all ages. Additionally, the charity hosts a variety of workshops tailored to meet the specific needs of adults and children, providing them with valuable skills and insights that can help mitigate potential issues. Furthermore, the organisation conducts informative lectures, helping to foster a culture of learning and awareness that empowers community members to make positive choices and lead healthier, more informed lives.

The SMAHC is also committed to promoting greater awareness and understanding of mental health issues through various outreach initiatives and comprehensive online campaigns. Our goal is to dismantle the stigma that often surrounds mental health within our community, fostering an environment of support and acceptance.

To achieve this mission, our dedicated Trustees actively generate awareness, collaborating with various stakeholders to enhance our outreach efforts. Furthermore, we are proud to have established an ambassador programme with over 20 ambassadors and 10 Mental health liaison officers from diverse backgrounds across the UK. These ambassadors and MHLOs are pivotal in amplifying our message and engaging with the community to foster open conversations about mental health. Together, we strive to cultivate a more informed society that prioritises mental well-being and supports those who are affected by mental health challenges.

Working with Anglia Ruskin University, building the first pilot study of Showmen Health in the UK- In-Fair Health

Between late June 2022 and early August 2023, the charity collaborated with Anglia Ruskin University to conduct research, producing a preliminary summary report published in October 2023 that highlights the key initial findings from a complex, multi-stage pilot research project. This crucial collaboration, led by charity founder Sheldon Chadwick and a research team that includes Professor Margaret Greenfields, Sophie Coker, and Dr. David Smith, investigates the health status, needs, and perceptions of well-being among Travelling Showmen.

This groundbreaking study is the first of its kind in the UK. It gathers valuable insights from health professionals who work closely with these communities, reinforcing the relationship between the charity, the university, and its esteemed researchers.

Manchester Care Organisation

In partnership with Manchester Care Organisation, Nice Cat Media, and Anglia Ruskin University, we developed A Showman's Life, a film that explores the Showmen's yard and community in Cheetham Hill. It draws on national research within the Showmen community concerning their health and well-being. Cheetham and Crumpsall's Showmen community boasts a rich history spanning generations. This film encourages people and services in Manchester to learn more about the Showmen community, their way of life, and their access to health and social care.

Partnership with the University of National Fairground and Circus Archive at the University of Sheffield- IT's All A Show Exhibition 2024

In partnership with the National Fairground and Circus Archive at the University of Sheffield, we collaborated on Sheldon Chadwick's PhD research exhibition titled It's All A Show. The exhibition explored the Showmen communities' complex array of identities and the ways in which this relates to mental health. It showcased the first specific nationwide statistics and research on the mental health of this community within the UK and Ireland alongside oral histories, photography, artwork, a live performance and archive material from the NFCA, from the Showmen's voice perspective.

Collaboration with Samaritans Liverpool

We are delighted to announce our new partnership with Samaritans Liverpool, which we officially launched on Monday, September 11, 2023, as part of Suicide Prevention Week. The collaboration has so far entailed reciprocal training for each organisation to learn about the other's services. The SMHAC trained Samaritan listeners on the cultural awareness of the travelling Showmen community. This was followed by the development of a 24-hour call-back service that the Samaritans Liverpool support the Showmen community across the UK.

Working with Glasgow City Health and Social Care Partnership and Epic Assist Charity Scotland

In collaboration with Glasgow City Health and Social Care Partnership and Epic Assist Charity Scotland, we were able to do several projects across Glasgow over four months. Key components of the projects included outreach days promoting access to funded counselling for Glasgow's Showpeople. Special events target young people within the community, aiming to build resilience, promote positive mental health, and foster a supportive environment. Cultural awareness events to promote awareness surrounding access and barriers for organisations and health care professionals. Whilst visiting several yards across Glasgow, ensuring that services, resources, and events reach a broad cross-section of the Showmen community.

We also attended in-community events and social networks, distributing resources. The overarching goal was to foster personal development and community empowerment by enhancing mental health awareness and expanding support initiatives. Collaboration with EPIC Assist Charity Scotland enriched the project & scope and effectiveness, leveraging their expertise in supporting Showpeople to design and build decolonial services. Whilst partners such as Glasgow Association for Mental Health Ltd (GAMH), Scottish Action for Mental Health (SAMH) Koof (online mental health and wellbeing) and Glasgow Health and Social Care brought a range of expertise, materials and information on services available to support Glasgow's Showpeople's mental health.

Partnership with Epic Assist Scotland continued

From April 2023 to March 2024, we are pleased to announce the ongoing provision of comprehensive Mental Health Workshops in collaboration with our esteemed partner, Epic Assist. These workshops aim to address diverse critical topics to promote awareness and support within our community.

The specific topics covered include but are not limited to:

14. Suicide Prevention: Focusing on identifying signs of distress, understanding risk factors, and implementing effective prevention strategies to support individuals in crisis.

2. Mental Health in the Fairground Industry: Exploring the unique challenges faced by professionals in the Fairground Industry, including stress management, work-life balance, and creating a supportive work environment for mental well-being.

Our dedicated sessions are tailored to equip participants with the knowledge and skills necessary to foster mental health awareness and resilience in both their personal and professional lives.

Throughout the year, the SMHAC has engaged in various outreach projects across the United Kingdom. These initiatives have covered several significant locations, including, but not limited to, Manchester, Hull, Nottingham, Essex, and Thurrock. In addition to these geographical efforts, we have had the privilege of delivering presentations to various organisations, universities, and public health services. Our presentations aim to foster understanding and collaboration in addressing key public health issues relating to our community whilst committed to making a meaningful impact in each community we connect with. Sharing knowledge and resources can collectively enhance public health outcomes and promote awareness of vital topics. We believe that collaboration and learning from other communities and services are key to building a healthy society. These outreach efforts exemplify our dedication to serving the community and ensuring that essential information reaches those who most need it.
