

The Breastfeeding Companion – Charity 1195472

Trustee's Annual Report

Year Ending 31/07/2023

Introduction

The following report provides an overview of the activities and achievements of The Breastfeeding Companion during the year ending 31/07/2023 and outlines the financial position of the charity as of that date. The report also includes a statement of the trustee's responsibilities and a review of the charity's activities.

Trustees Responsibilities

The trustees are responsible for ensuring that The Breastfeeding Companion complies with its charitable purposes and operates in accordance with the law. The trustees have also ensured that the financial statements have been properly prepared and have been approved for presentation to the charity's members.

Activities and Achievements

During the year ending 31/07/2023, The Breastfeeding Companion remained in hiatus, with continued family issues with our primary Trustee, Jacqueline Hall and her husband, Gordon Hall. These family issues have stopped any focus on the charity, although there is a desire to get back to the main work. As per the previous year, it wasn't possible to do any significant work until these two trustees were able to give their attention to the project.

Financial Review

A bank account was opened in that period, but there were no other financial transactions.

Conclusion

The Breastfeeding Companion has been on hold and unable to make progress on their objectives. However, there is every intention to build the charity and support those who need our help, and we hope the next year brings us closer to that reality.

Statement

Within a short period of opening the charity, there was significant family sickness within the main Trustee's (Jacqueline Hall) family, affecting her and her husband, Gordon Hall.

That problem continued for the following year, and therefore the work of the charity has been in a hiatus period, until that is resolved. However a small step forward was made, in that a bank account was opened in preparation for the planned work, although no income has been made.

Therefore the account registers as £0.00

It is expected that the charity work, by the trustees will resume in the coming 12 months.
